Police Halt March on Palace.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 27.—Nearly 4,000 rioters, with red flags waving, charged through the streets of Madrid tonight in a monster republican demonstration that only savage efforts of the police kept from reaching the royal palace.

After a struggle of four hours, during which scores were arrested and many heads were broken, the rioting republicans paused in their march to tell King Alfonso all about it at the Puerta del Sol, the heart of Madrid, less than a quarter of a mile from the palace.

The mob's attempts to reach the palace were failed finally in the Plaza de Cibeles, right in front of the royal residence. There, a line of police, with clubs in hand, stood firm. But the rioters showed what they thought of the Bourbons by demolishing with cobblestones, picked from the street, a pole that bears the name of Queen Christina—the mother of King Alfonso, who died a year ago.

First "Free Speech" Since 1923.

It was the first authorized and unmuzzled speech by a politician to be made in Spain since the fall of 1923 to put the republican tinder box ablaze tonight. The speaker was Alejandro Guerra, former premier, republican chief of the old Conservative party and a courageous and incorrigible conspirator against the regime of former Dictator Primo de Rivera. His appearance at the Carsuela theater before a crowd of 3,000, was also the first political mass meeting allowed to Don Damaso Berenguer, new dictator, as a part of the policy of relaxing, by degrees, to normalcy.

Senor Guerra, long servitor of the monarchy, did not declare himself a republican, and yet his declarations set the republicans rioting through the streets. Neither did he come out openly against the continuance of the Bourbon rule in Spain.

What he did say was that the monarchy had lost ground because of the dictatorship, which had disgusted almost everybody in Spain who was young, intelligent and republican, including himself.

Accuses King of Coup d'Etat.

"I am still not a republican," said the old statesman. "But I must confess that I have lost confidence in the crown and king. It was the king, and not Primo who willed the coup d' etat of 1923."

The packed house sat in awed silence to hear a man say publicly, what had been said behind closed doors, namely, that Alfonso brought on the dictatorship because he feared what would happen if the parliamentary committee probing the responsibility of the Annual disaster at Mount Arruit were reported.

He declared that the only thing to save the situation was to appoint an honest and impartial commission to look into the responsibilities of the dictatorship of 1923 to 1930, and assess the blame responsible, whether they are high or low.

Speech Goes Uncensored.

The audience numbered among them deputies and senators fired by Primo, as well as leaders of all parties from the Monarchical to the Liberals and Conservatives.

Outside of the theater milled a mob of at least 5,000. Whatever Guerra's sentiments were, his utterances brought cheers from the republicans, while those still loyal to the king, like the chief of Romanones, the Liberal leader, sat in worried silence.

When the meeting broke up, three huge banners bearing the slogan, "Long Live the Republic," mysteriously appeared. Cries were raised, and the united republicans were on the march. They headed first for the broad new Avenida Conde Penalver, where fashionable shops and tourist agencies hurriedly rolled down their iron shutters.

Police Save Monarchists.

From the Grand Pena, an exclusive club, there issued forth a dozen or more courageous adherents of the crown, ready to do battle when they saw the red flag and heard the strains of the Internationale. The quick intervention of the flying police squad was all that saved them from annihilation.

Many young aristocrats, hawking a special edition of the royalist newspaper which, called on loyal Spaniards to defend the monarch from the machinations of the politicians who are a menace to the country," were mishandled by the mob.

TROUBLE AHEAD

SUES PARTNER, CHARGING THEFT OF WIFE'S LOVE

J. Clyde Stanford, 815 Lake street, Oak Park, yesterday filed the praecipe of a $25,000 suit against his business partner, Charles W. Urch, charging that the latter alienated the affections of his estranged wife, Mrs. Gertrude Stanford. The members of the triangle work side by side in the Windsor Tea Room, Inc., at 717 South Boulevard, Oak Park.

The Stanfords were married on Oct. 23, 1906, and have three children. In 1928 the tea room was incorporated with Urch as president, holding 200 shares, Stanford as secretary-treasurer with 200 shares, and Mrs. Stanford as vice president with 100 shares. The Stanfords separated on Dec. 9, 1929, when the wife filed a bill for separate maintenance, charging habitual drunkenness.

In his answer to her bill Stanford charges that Urch and his wife outvoted him at all directors' meetings. He asked for an injunction to restrain them from ousting him from the corporation.

DR. SNOOK WILL DIE TODAY FOR CO-ED SLAYING

Columbus, O., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Dr. James H. Snook, slayer of Theora K. Hix, must die in the electric chair some time tomorrow.

That was decided today when the last hope of the former Ohio State university professor, a stay of execution or a commutation of sentence, was denied by Gov. Cooper.

During the morning Mrs. Snook appealed in vain to the governor to save her husband's life. The interview lasted more than an hour.

Dr. Snook, still in the death row, maintains the same stoical front with which he armed himself at the trial. He appeared in fine spirits tonight.

Only once was there an indication of his breaking down. Shortly after his wife had left the death row for the last time, Dr. Snook appeared to have been weeping. Both seemed emotionally shaken.

Window Washer Is Killed in Fall at Own Apartment

Woman, 62, Walks 11 Mi.; Dies of Heart Attack

Mrs. M. G. Keintz, 62 years old, of Wauconda, Lake county, died yesterday of heart disease following an attack on Wednesday. Mrs. Keintz walked to her home from Barrington, a distance of eleven miles, on Wednesday afternoon after she had lost her purse and had no money to pay her bus fare. She collapsed on her arrival home.

A Legislator's Wife Tells How He Gets Along

State Representative Charles H. Weber of the Sixth district was sued for divorce yesterday in the Superior court by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Weber. The bill, drawn by Attorney Sarsfield Collins, charges misconduct with other women, particularly a Miss Emma Sprague, and alleges liquor and gambling activities, which are said to net Weber $100,000 a year.

1 speakeasy at 2924 Southport avenue.
1 roadhouse in Irving Park boulevard.
1 real estate office at 2922 Southport avenue.
1 800 acre estate at Mercer, Wis.
1 yacht valued at $65,000.
1 speedboat valued at $25,000.
1 speedboat valued at $16,000.
1 Rolls-Royce automobile.
1 Minerva automobile.
5 Lincoln automobiles.
Divers other automobiles.

The Webers were married on April 4, 1925, at Waukegan and separated on Dec. 21, 1928, when Mrs. Weber learned of her husband's indiscretions, according to the bill. Weber was coauthor of the Weber-O'Grady bill for a referendum on repeal of the state prohibition law which passed the house of representatives but was killed in the senate. He is a Democratic candidate for county commissioner and for committeeman of the 45th ward.

Other Woman Named.

The bill charges that beginning on July 1, 1925, less than three months after their marriage, Weber began to support and maintain Miss Sprague in a home at Glen View. He is alleged to have taken her on yacht trips frequently and it is charged that in May, 1926, he took her on a tour of Germany, France and Italy.

Mrs. Weber avers that her husband entertained lavishly and extravagantly and gave many valuable gifts to women whose company he sought. But he was niggardly in making an allowance for her and the upkeep of their home, she charges. He is said to employ a captain, engineer, deckhand and cook for his boats.

Wife Asks Injunction.

Mrs. Weber asks an injunction to restrain her husband from disposing of his various interests in an effort to avoid alimony payments. In this action she names his partners as his father, Joseph A. Weber, John Roberts, Max Huebner and Harold Waters. She asks that they also be restrained from disposing of property in which her husband has an interest.

In the bill Mrs. Weber sets up a list of fifteen interrogatories, which she demands that Weber be called upon to answer. All are aimed at uncovering further assets.

AUDIENCE BOOS GALLI CURCI IN BUDAPEST OPERA

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUDAPEST, Feb. 27.—Amelita Galli-Curci, famous Metropolitan opera star, failed to please an audience at the Budapest city opera house so far last night that they whistled and catcalled during the later stages of her performances in Traviata and only the presence of the regent, Admiral Horthy, prevented an open scandal.

The cream of Budapest society had crowded the house to hear the singer, whose $4,000 salary is considered here to be enormous. They were bitterly disillusioned. The excellence of Galli-Curci's acting was admitted, but of her famous coloratura voice only the ruins remain, according to local critics.

The situation was aggravated by the fact that an Italian tenor, Enso Lomanto, was attacked by nose bleed and had to be replaced by a local substitute. The diva's manager explained today she caught cold while traveling from Bucharest.

Policemen Find Bomb with Fuse Lighted; Extinguish It

As Policemen George Higgins and John Bowen were on their way to work at the Maxwell street station they found and extinguished a bomb, with fuse lighted, which had been placed in the doorway of a butcher shop at 849 Maxwell street. The bomb was wrapped in paper, and only the lighted fuse showed. The police started a search for the owner of the shop, where an explosion occurred a few days ago.

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28 (1 a. m.)—(AP)—Indications that William Howard Taft was spending a restless night were seen in the fact that twice within two hours after 11 o'clock, when his physicians departed, the light in his bedroom was turned on for brief periods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Prayers for the recovery of William Howard Taft were broadcast throughout the nation tonight as death closed in on the former President and chief justice.

From the Washington cathedral, high on the slopes of Mount St. Albans, the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, sounded the nation-wide appeal for divine mercy, and urged his listeners to pray for "one who is universally held the most beloved of the nation's outstanding public servants."

At midnight Mr. Taft still was alive, with prospects he would live until morning. Drs. Thomas A. Clayton and Francis R. Hagner stated frankly that they held out no hope, but said it was impossible to tell how soon death would come.

Stimulants Are Used.

At 10:45 p. m. the physicians held their last consultation of the night and later stated their distinguished patient probably would live throughout the night. Mr. Taft, it was learned, is being kept alive by stimulants.

"Is Mr. Taft conscious?" reporters asked the physicians as they emerged from the big red house on Wyoming avenue.

"He is asleep," one of the physicians answered. "Otherwise he appears to be about the same as he was at 7 o'clock."

The physicians announced no more visits would be made to the Taft home tonight unless a change for the worse occurred.

Son Is on Way.

It is expected Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, a son, and brother of Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, will arrive tomorrow.

During most of today the former President lay unconscious in his bed on the second floor of his home, oblivious of the deep concern manifested throughout the nation over his critical condition. At times, however, Mr. Taft experienced lucid moments and showed by some slight movement he recognized Mrs. Taft or his daughter.

Mrs. Hoover and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes called at the Taft home at dusk this evening and spent a few moments with Mrs. Taft. They were not allowed to see the patient and they left after expressing their sympathy.

The visit of the first lady of the land was symbolic of the personal sympathy felt throughout the whole country for the former President, whose cheerful philosophy and unfailing good humor kept his popularity at a high level throughout his two decades of service as a public official.

Social Events Halted.

All major social events in the national capital were called off this morning after the first bulletin of the day told of the critical condition of Mr. Taft.

The President and Mrs. Hoover announced at once that the formal congressional reception to have been given tonight at the White House had been called off.

Shortly afterward the Congressional club announced that a reception to be given tomorrow night in honor of Speaker and Mrs. Longworth had been canceled because of the illness of the former President.

Taft's Son on Way.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Robert A. Taft, son of former President and Chief Justice Taft, left here at 10 o'clock tonight for the bedside of his father, William Howard Taft, critically ill at Washington, D. C. Charles P. Taft, the former President's other son, probably will leave tomorrow, he said tonight.

Szczepaniekiewicz Will Be 4 Letter Word—Shep

The Szczepaniekiewicz, father, mother, son, and daughter, yesterday filed a bill in the Superior court to change their names. The family have lived in Chicago for 16 years. Father Wladyslaw, 50 years old, fancies the sound of Walter Shep, and his wife, son, and daughter will also adopt the name Shep.

Police Wreck Reds' Office; Hunt Leaders

Seeking out the few genuine radicals whom the police believe to be the leaders of the radical movement in Chicago, detective bureau squads under Chief of Detectives Stege last night raided three meeting places of the Reds and arrested ten men and two women. At the communists' headquarters at 2021 Division street, the raiders wrecked the office furniture and destroyed books, papers and records, including a number of pamphlets containing extracts from the writings of Lenine and Marx.

All of the prisoners were taken to the detective bureau for questioning to determine whether they are actual agents of the communist party or merely "parlor Reds." Those who are found to be aliens are to be turned over to immigration authorities for possible deportation.

One Admits She's Alien.

One of those seized at headquarters, who gave her name as Julia Kjar, 39 years old, 2313 North Mozart street, said that she had come to America from Denmark ten years ago, but had never been naturalized. She said she had taken the name of Kjar when she started living with Nels Kjar, one of the radical leaders. The others seized in the headquarters are Lydia Bennett, 28 years old, 19 South Lincoln street; Swan Ruthstrom, 822 North Lockwood avenue, and Eugene Bechtold, 3421 North Ashland avenue.

At the People's hall at 2457 Chicago avenue, the police prevented the showing of a moving picture, "Czar Ivan the Terrible," depicting the oppression of the reign of Czar Ivan IV. in Russia. Stege had caused the revocation of the license to show the picture, but when the police arrived William Cernik, 37 years old, 5050 South Hermitage avenue, attempted to prevent their entering. One of the policemen knocked him down and placed him under arrest with Macel Scherr, 30 years old, 3352 Polk street, and William Kapuler, 20 years old, 2601 Division street.

"Movie Fans" Released.

A few movie fans who had been attracted to the hall by the prospect of a free motion picture were released after they had been questioned.

The third raid was made on a meeting at 3133 South Halsted street, where only a dozen men were found waiting for leaders to start speaking. Here the police arrested John Idnawic, 37 years old, 6837 South Talman avenue; John Dallett, 23 years old, 1014 East 61st street; Miles Norton, 25 years old, 6114 South Carpenter street; Ralph Hurley, 37 years old, 4317 Emerald avenue, and Charles Farren, 32 years old, 359 West 22d street. Several of the men started to fight when the police entered, and one of them struck at Stege with a cane. He escaped, but the others were rounded up without trouble.

REVEAL SIX LEADERS

Chicago's handful of varied radicals, Reds, and parlor pinks were revealed last night to be directed by exactly six men, who claim titles as leaders in the so-called communist party of the United States of America and purport to have affiliations with the soviet third international of Russia.

It was these leaders who staged the recent "demonstrations of the unemployed," during which the body of the movement was made up of hoboes taken from Madison street and Canal street to lend them moral and numerical support.

At that their demonstrations proved to be failures—worse than the failures from which many of the demonstrators arose to take part. In the "march on the city hall" that ended at the county building some of the hoboes started singing "Hallelujah,

BARE MILLIONS OF PROFIT IN WHEAT BATTLE

Public and Private Interests Clash.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Events of the hour in the federal government's first efforts to put its farm relief measures to practical use indicate the precipitation of a grim fight between private and publicly controlled interests in the wheat trade. The first effects of the battle have already been felt in the commodity markets and stock exchanges of the world. The senate, cabinet, and White House have all been stirred by the conflict.

WM. G. KELLOGG.

Another wild day of trading in the wheat pits ended with advances of about 3 cents a bushel over the previous day's closing quotations. Further influence of buying in both cash and futures markets by cooperatives was seen, resulting in gains that returned markets to within a cent of last Friday's closing. In the interval, dips as great as 15 cents a bushel have occurred.

Conference Here Tomorrow.

Last night in Washington it was announced that a conference will be held in Chicago tomorrow between Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, and Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the board. Broadening of the board's policy to extend its operations beyond the grain actually held by member cooperatives was reported to be one of the topics that may be discussed at the conference.

While Chairman Legge yesterday was following his earlier appeals to the grain trade to cooperate in obtaining higher market values with veiled accusations of unfair practices on its part, grain interests of the nation were becoming alarmed further by reports of enormous profits made by elevator and brokerage houses selected by farm leaders to handle their immense trading interests.

Situation Like Canada's.

The United States yesterday found itself just six years behind the situation that accompanied Canada's entry into grain farmer relief, with every ear tuned to catch the slightest word or movement of governmental operations. During these six years, Canadian grain traders have become accustomed to a policy of anxious watching for signs of movements by the wheat pool, which controls more than half of the dominion's grain.

With a similar situation now existing in this country, the volume of trading on the Chicago Board of Trade in the last two days has nearly touched the records established during hectic wartime movements of the federally operated United States Grain corporation, directed by Julius Barnes.

Sight War for Grain Control.

On the eve of completion of the Chicago Board of Trade's new skyscraper, the statements of Chairman Legge, himself a governmental employé under Mr. Barnes during world war grain activities, and of McKelvie, indicate the opening of hostilities for control of the grain marketing business of the nation. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska, has indicated that he will withdraw from the board in June to run for the United States senate. Meanwhile he is stating in public addresses in several western sections that if the farm board's policies and actions "step on the toes of the grain trade, it will be just too bad."

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde is expected to inform the senate of his recommendations for handling the situation at an early date, as requested by the senate in a resolution adopted on Wednesday. His statement that the grain stabilization corporation created by the farm board had saved the crucial drop in wheat prices by purchasing futures was strengthened yesterday by word from Chairman Legge that the farm board operations had resulted in purchase or contracting for 25,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Mr. Legge also decried the heavy movements of grain into terminals already glutted, due to liquidation of western grain men. He said it was his understanding that virtual embargoes existed in Omaha and Kansas City because of lack of storage space. He was answered by E. B. Wooten, secretary of the Grain and Cotton exchange of Fort Worth, Tex., who reported available public storage space in Fort Worth for 3,500,000 bushels, and for approximately 2,500,000 bushels more in other Texas terminals.

Just who is running the governmental show was becoming more of a problem yesterday, as reports were current that William G. Kellogg, president of the stabilization corporation and general manager of the $20,000,000 Farmers National Grain corporation, was doing the buying for his concern through use of the name of the Stratton Grain corporation, managed by his brother, John Kellogg.

Purchases Are Traced.

The story, confirmed in several quarters in Chicago yesterday, is that two brokers on the Chicago Board of Trade handled the buying of futures during the recent wild breaks. When their transactions were reported, the name of the Stratton company was given on the orders. It is estimated that about 3,000,000 bushels of futures were bought through this source, the average price for that day being about $1.06. The brokers' commission rate of the exchange for such future sales is $10 per 5,000 bushels.

John and William G. Kellogg were both previously employed by the Armour Grain company, the former as its president. He was suspended for two years by the Board of Trade for his connections with the Armour company's deals that involved the Grain Marketing company failure in 1927. This latter company represented an effort, sponsored by farm leaders, to set up a terminal sales agency in Chicago by taking over facilities of the Armour Grain company and Rosenbaum Grain corporation. John Kellogg's apparent direction of heavy buying in the Chicago pit has been a center of attention the last few days, coincident with the stabilization corporation's entrance in the futures buying.

Credit Rally with Aiding Farmers.

He was seen talking with William Springer and Fred S. Lewis, also connected with the Armour deals a few years back, as the market reached its lowest on Monday. The buying for the Stratton Grain corporation of more than 3,000,000 bushels in the closing ten minutes is the rally which Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge credit with having saved farmers thousands of dollars.

William Kellogg, who appeared before the membership committee of the Chicago Board of Trade on Monday afternoon to answer questions pertaining to his application for membership, was not voted into the exchange this week, but, according to President Bunnell of the Board of Trade, his membership will undoubtedly be considered on Tuesday at the directors' meeting. It is understood the directors want to know whose money would be used to pay for the membership, which costs about $15,000.

Buy at Eastern Markets.

Millions in paper profits are said to be credited to the activities of the government stabilization corporation's buying in the last few days. Reported purchases of six or eight million bushels of grain at eastern markets, including Buffalo and Baltimore, are said to have been made at prices fully 1½ cents under the Chicago May futures of the same date, with the margin of transportation costs between Chicago and the east as additional profits.

How the federal farm board's funds, loaned at treasury rates of about 3½ per cent, are believed to have been used during the wheat uproar to corner millions of dollars profit during the stabilization activities may be explained in this manner:

The agricultural marketing act was drafted and passed last June, to lend credit and able leadership to the nation's commodity producers until such time as they had become organized into coöperatives and were operating by themselves. The law further provided that a separate, federally controlled stabilization corporation could be set up for any commodity, using government funds to relieve periods of surpluses. The stabilization profits or losses would be charged solely to the farm board's revolving fund.

Since the Farmers' National Grain corporation was empowered to act only for its membership, when American wheat prices continued throughout the last few months to seek lower levels the farm board created a grain stabilization corporation. The president of this corporation is the general manager of the farmers' coöperative sales agency.

Purchases by the coöperative agency, through its subsidiary coöperatives in each terminal market, were restricted to "country run" grain, that is, grain coming from small country elevators, and presumably farmer owned. Only in the last few days have sales and purchases been made, presumably for the farm board agencies, in the open markets, at prevailing low prices.

Can Buy 25,000,000 Bushels.

Upon purchasing grain for cash, credit is extended with which to purchase additional amounts, thus enabling the farm board agencies to purchase or contract for about 25,000,000 bushels of grain. While continuing to buy cash wheat in limited amounts, however, the farm board agencies by taking large blocks of future delivery contracts have forced prices higher, and with other buyers following this lead have realized paper profits said to be in the millions at the expense of holders who had sold out during the break.

Since the national grain coöperative had no authority to assume this risk, observers have assumed that the governmental agency has at least so far been financially successful in its speculations.

At the same time the fear or uncertainty of the governmental agencies' moves has removed much of the trading element. As in the recent stock crash, the "public" has liquidated and stepped out. This leaves the entire grain trade in the position of "standoffish" concern, except for those few concerns selected by the leading buyers to act as commission houses.

Protests Federal Policy.

A protest against this discrimination, as well as the policy taken by the Farmers' National Grain corporation to limit its business to coöperative memberships since Tuesday, was added yesterday to many issued previously. Frank J. Taylor, chairman of publicity for the Omaha Grain exchange, charged that "the government has entered the field of wheat speculation by action of the federal wheat stabilization corporation in buying options in the futures market."

Stating that the "laugh is now on the government," Taylor called attention to "years of time and barrels of printers' ink" used by the government in criticism of grain exchanges and futures trading, ending in its own funds being used for that purpose.

Hits Coöps' "Speculation."

"Since about Jan. 20 the government agencies have purchased in the terminal markets somewhere around ten million bushels of cash wheat at a price about 15 cents above its present value in the world's market. With a dead loss of about one and a half million dollars haunting their dreams, they have recourse to the speculator's method for recouping the loss. They bought more wheat, this time in the futures market, but with the hope that later rising prices will enable them to recover past losses."

Meanwhile, according to President Bunnell of the Chicago Board of Trade, "we are keeping our mouths shut and going about our business making the best of it. We're business men, not politicians."

PLAN NATIONAL DRIVE TO CUT $500,000,000 WASTE IN INDUSTRY

A national campaign to reduce waste in American industry, estimated at $500,000,000 annually, will be launched next week.

Plans will be drafted at the joint meeting of the National Management congress, National Materials Handling conference, and National Industrial Equipment exposition at the Stevens hotel.

Participating will be representatives of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Management association, National Association of Cost Accountants, and the Taylor society. Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who is an engineer, will preside at the opening session. A special message to the conference is expected from President Hoover.

RESCUERS RAISE CASH NEEDED FOR PUBLIC PAY ROLLS

Total $54,857,900; Goal Is $74,000,000.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The "rescue" drive headed by Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company, to obtain $74,000,000 for the purpose of keeping the local governments operating until July 1, has reached a total of $54,857,900. This is above the $50,000,000 set as the minimum requirement to permit the taxpayers' trust to become operative.

Thirty million dollars' worth of the "trust certificates" of the Taxpayers' Trust were admitted to the securities market of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, following a special meeting of the directors of the board. The listing will be increased to $75,000,000 within a few days. It is believed this action will make the certificates more attractive to investors, as they will now be able to sell the paper at any time.

The Strawn citizens' committee will meet at noon today to request the subscribers to make the first payment of $15,000,000. It is expected that the money will be available so that the 43,000 public employés will get their overdue salaries Monday. A legal technicality prevented the Strawn committee from borrowing the money to pay the employés tomorrow.

$10,877,500 Raised in Day.

The subscriptions yesterday totaled $10,877,500. This is comparable with $23,630,400 raised on Wednesday, when the utility committee, headed by Britton I. Budd, turned in subscriptions totaling $14,475,000. A total of $5,955,000 was raised on Tuesday, and $12,735,000 on Monday.

"From now on the going will be difficult," commented Chairman Clarke last night. "It will be as hard to get the $19,142,100 remaining to be obtained as it has been to get the $54,857,900 already subscribed. There are many inequalities in the subscriptions when viewed from the viewpoint of ability to subscribe. There is too much of a tendency by large business to reduce subscriptions to approximate tax bills, and we have very few large subscriptions from individuals."

Among the prominent persons who subscribed as individuals yesterday were Mrs. Bertha Baur, $58,000; Walter H. Wilson, $100,000; E. V. R. Thayer, $50,000; Judge Thomas Taylor Jr., $25,000; Joseph E. Otis, $50,000, and Silas H. Strawn, $50,000.

Insull Pleads for Aid.

Samuel Insull, in a speech before the South Chicago Chamber of Commerce last night on the industrial development of the Calumet region, made a plea for support for the Clarke drive. He said:

"For the salvation of this city and county, it is a plan (the taxpayers' trust) which should be wholeheartedly put into operation now. For the insurance of health, for the protection of property, for the functioning of the schools, cold blooded self-interest demands that the taxpayers of Chicago and Cook county shall make up the fund required to meet the necessities of the city and county.

"Big business and small business, the little taxpayer and the large one, the railroads, the utilities, and the banks ought to come forward and help raise that fund—in their own interests.

"Expansion to Continue."

"The stringent financial conditions of today will pass, notwithstanding croakers or our present circumstances. Chicago will continue to grow, its enterprises will continue to expand, and new enterprises will be undertaken."

At another point in his address Mr. Insull said:

"To paraphrase an old saying, we are up against a condition which demands relief, and are not merely engaged in the spring pastime of discussing various defections of government. Whether a government is good or bad, it must have funds if it is to function. Governmental funds come from taxes. Because of circumstances, Chicago and Cook county are two years behind in the collection of taxes. There is no profit in debating the why and wherefore of these circumstances. For two years our citizens have not functioned as taxpayers. Now is the time when something must be done about it."

Subscriptions of Day.

Contractors, G. W. Griffith, chairman	$ 50,000
Mail order, Geo. B. Everitt	100,000
Furniture, Alex. Revell Jr.	61,000
Groceries, Ezra J. Warner	97,000
Hardware, Frank R. Warren	353,000
Steel, E. E. Buffington	850,000
Chemicals, Otimar M. Kemba	5,500,000
Banks, Melvin A. Traylor	5,500,000
Stock yards, Henry B. Veeder	50,000
Plumbing, W. E. Clow	100,000
Printers, Robert M. Eastman	25,000
Utilities, Britton I. Budd	25,000
Railroads, Fred W. Sargent	900,000
Railway supplies, Champ Carry	91,000
Real estate	800,000
Securities	1,345,000
Machinery, George A. Ranney	100,500
Department stores	150,000
Total	$10,877,500

The committee on insurance and finance companies has not yet made a report of any subscriptions. While the total collected to date is 74 per cent of the $74,000,000 sought to keep the governmental wheels operating until July, certain committees have obtained small percentages of their quotas, while four of them have secured larger subscriptions than were asked of them.

Investment Group Leads.

The best showing of yesterday was from the investment committee. Among the subscriptions it turned in were the following:

S. B. Chapin & Co	$100,000
Shearson, Hamill & Co	100,000
E. H. Rollins & Sons	100,000
Lawrence Stern & Co	100,000
Clement, Curtis & Co	50,000
Russell, Brewster & Co	50,000
Winthrop, Mitchell & Co	50,000
James E. Bennett & Co	50,000
Bonbright & Co	50,000
Emery, Peck & Rockwood	25,000
Hickey, Doyle & Co	25,000
Babcock, Rushton & Co	25,000
Scott, Burrows & Christie	25,000
Wm. L. Ross & Co., Inc.	25,000
Bancamerica-Blair corporation	25,000
Bacon, Whipple & Co	20,000
Nichols, Terry & Co	15,000
Charles Sincere & Co	10,000
Lee, Higginson & Co	250,000

Mr. Clarke said last night that the largest potential field yet uncanvassed consists of wealthy individuals who have not subscribed to the Taxpayers' trust.

Committee to Decide.

The Strawn citizens' committee at its meeting this noon will decide what it desires the city, county and school board to do. It is understood that the county and school tax warrants are ready for sale to the Taxpayers' Trust, of which the Strawn committee is the manager. The city, however, is having new coupons printed for its warrants, after the change in interest rate from 2½ and 4 per cent to 6 per cent. The school board will meet today, the county board today or tomorrow.

The Illinois revenue investigation committee, headed by Senator Arthur A. Huebsch, will meet at the Hotel La Salle this morning to seek means of relieving Chicago's financial difficulties. The city's taxation evils will be discussed and the committee will formulate recommendations to the legislature revision of revenue laws to prevent future financial troubles. The city is to be represented at the meeting by Controller Schmidt, Corporation Counsel Ettelson, Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, and Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, administration leader.

SAVES DOG'S LIFE ALTHOUGH A DOG KILLED HIS CHILD

August C. Hennig, assistant floor manager of the Chicago Board of Trade, risked his life yesterday to save a small dog from being killed by a train.

Mr. Hennig left his home at 1004 North 6th avenue, Maywood, a bit early yesterday and reached the 5th avenue station at 7:45, just as the bell clanged and the gates dropped to clear the track for the Omaha express, traveling 50 miles an hour.

The commuter saw the white dog with black spots and floppy ears crouching on the rails and whimpering.

Hennig, who served with the American forces overseas, strode swiftly to the track when the train was 100 feet away, grabbed the dog, and jumped to safety. He then carried the dog across the street to a butcher shop, bought a half pound of ground meat, and then caught his train. Hennig might perhaps have taken the mongrel home had it not been for the fact that his 4 year old daughter, Gwendolyn, stroking a stray dog two years ago, was bitten on the hand and died. Hennig's wife, who had no other children, has since been fearful of homeless dogs.

Winter D. Hess, Iron Company Official, Dies

Winter D. Hess, 64 years old, 1238 Oak avenue, Evanston, died last night at his home following a heart attack. He had been ill for three months. Mr. Hess was western representative of the Builders Iron Foundry company and the Glamorgan Pipe and Foundry company, with offices at 122 South Michigan avenue. He was a member of the Evanston Golf, Lake Shore Athletic, and Big Foot Country clubs. He is survived by his widow, three sons, Chase N., Richard D., and Frederick W., and one daughter, Romeyn.

GUNMAN SLAIN, 2 POLICE SHOT IN GUN BATTLES

Walter Collins, 38 year old Negro and the keeper of a rooming house at 4834 Calumet avenue, was shot to death last night in a battle with the detective bureau squad led by Sergt. Frank Reynolds, thrice winner of THE TRIBUNE'S hero's award. One of the squadmen, Orin Ross, also a TRIBUNE hero, was wounded in the wrist.

Sergt. Reynolds called on Collins to surrender after tenants had complained he was brandishing a pistol at Isaac Smith, a Negro of Gary, Ind., who had called at the rooming house to see his divorced wife, Sarah. As Sergt. Reynolds announced himself Collins fired twice through the front door.

Two detectives remained at the front door as the sergeant, Detective Ross and Detective John Enright went to the rear. Collins resumed firing from an upper rear window, hitting Ross, who was taken to Mercy hospital. Reynolds and Enright then forced the door, advanced up the stairs under Collins' sniping, and shot him.

Dave McClain, 40 years old, 3515 Franklin boulevard, a police operator at the Austin station, was shot twice in the right wrist by two men in an automobile who attempted to rob him at Central Park avenue and Huron street as he was walking home from the police station. The car pulled up beside McClain and when one of the men ordered him to throw up his hands he drew his own gun. As he did so the bandits fired on him and fled.

December Voucher List Completes Total.

The city hall's high priced experts, who demand thousands of dollars monthly for their services, put in bills against the city totaling $940,500 in 1929, according to figures compiled yesterday after the December voucher list was completed. Because of the financial stringency of the city not all the experts have received payment in full.

The experts' fees for December totaled $22,497, according to the list, which ranked that month as fifth highest in such payments. November was the best month for the high priced help with payments of $142,029 and second and third places went to October and April with $131,257 and $107,703, respectively.

Many of the experts are employed by Corporation Counsel Ettelson and Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, as legal advisers and real estate and building valuators. Each month a number of physicians, judges, nurses, and stenographers appear on the voucher lists for minor payments, but, the records show, most of the $940,500 went to the experts.

On the December Pay Roll.

In the December roll appeared the names of twenty-eight persons, many of them friends, relatives, or political cronies of the present city hall administration leaders. All of them except four sent the city bills for $1,000 or more. Their names, the services for which the bills were presented, and the amounts are as follows:

LEGAL SERVICES.

S. L. Fisher	$6,500	E. C. Higgins	1,800
Ingman & Cut-		Lewis F. Mason	$1,800
ler	4,800	Samuel L. Golan	1,500
Jas. J. Sullivan	2,400	J. F. Tyrrell	1,000
A. R. Veeder	2,100	Jos. R. Roach	1,000
Martin Walsh	1,875	C. N. Goodnow	833
Abner Gorham	1,815	Harry Klatzco	800

REAL ESTATE VALUATORS.

Ralph C. Harris	$8,150	Eli Goldstine	$1,350
Harry Goldstine	5,000	G. M. Kunstman	1,050
G. C. Crawford	4,000	John J. Ready	1,050

A. J. O'Donovan	1,400

ENGINEERS.

F. H. Crumb	$2,600	Max Blatt	$1,200
E. A. Wallace	2,400

The case of John F. Tyrrell, who received $1,000 a month for twenty days' work in September, October, November and December, caused some comment among members of the city council.

Ehrhorn Case Recalled.

The aldermen recalled that Attorney Tyrrell represented Edward H. Ehrhorn, who resigned from his position of deputy city clerk in 1905 just as charges of falsifying the city records were being pressed against him. Although out of the service for twenty-five years, Ehrhorn now is trying by court action to obtain reinstatement to get a pension.

The spectacle presented to the aldermen was that of Tyrrell and Ehrhorn fighting the city in one case, and, in other cases, Ehrhorn as a valuator and Tyrrell as an attorney, appearing in behalf of the city. Furthermore, some aldermen pointed out, Corporation Counsel Ettelson appears as the employer of both Tyrrell and Ehrhorn, against whom he is defending the city in the reinstatement case. Tyrrell put in his bill on Dec. 19, 1929, and received his money two days later. Others have not been paid.

Payments by Months.

Payments to the experts by months ran as follows:

January	$ 8,114	July	$ 70,683
February	46,392	August	93,047
March	76,500	September	31,152
April	107,703	October	131,257
May	72,588	November	142,029
June	68,232	December	92,497

"It looked in January as though the experts had lost a client," commented one alderman after he read the list, "but the subsequent months apparently show that they made up what they forgot to bill the city for in the first month."

Mrs. Caroline Hale, 550 Surf street, yesterday won a divorce from her husband, John C. Hale, western manager of the Hercules Powder company, before Circuit Judge Lynch. She charged cruelty. The Hales were married in August, 1918, and separated last Nov. 3. Mrs. Hale's daughter by a former marriage, Miss Harriet Smith, a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company's ballet, testified for her mother.

WEST PARKS SAVE $80,160 MORE IN PAY ROLL SLASH

Take Action to Meet Revenue Cut.

The west park board yesterday continued its economy program by lopping 31 more employés off the pay roll to effect an annual saving of $80,160. A month ago 49 jobs came under the axe, with a resultant saving of $132,979.

Seven of the jobs were abolished and in the other cases employés were laid off. President W. R. James of the board announced still further economies will be adopted to meet the prospective reduction in tax revenues due to the reassessment.

The employés dropped by the board's action and the monthly pay roll saving are:

4 assistant superintendents	$1,000
1 secretary	225
1 chief inspector	400
1 assistant cashier	225
1 chief engineer	500
1 stenographer	210
22 miscellaneous employés	3,520
Total	$6,080

The reductions will become effective tomorrow. The commissioners announced they would not appoint a new chief engineer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. A. Carpenter.

President James also recommended the abolishment of the board's safety commission created in 1924, declaring he believed it inadequate. The board hopes to devise a more efficient system. A representative of the Chicago Motor club urged the board to retain the driver's training features in any system that may be devised.

Commissioner John A. Pelka, treasurer, said the board's corporate funds are sufficient only to meet the March pay rolls. The board will seek a market for tax anticipation warrants.

KUNZ AND SON FREED BY JURY IN BRIBE CASE

Acquitted After 2 Hours of Deliberation.

Congressman Stanley H. Kunz of the Eighth district and his son, Stanley Jr., were acquitted by a jury last evening in Judge Harry Fisher's Criminal court on charges of confidence game brought by State's Attorney Swanson on complaint of Walter Trochowski, who claimed to have paid $400 as a bribe to the defendants.

The jury reached a verdict after about two hours' deliberation, during which time three ballots were taken on the congressman and four on his son. The jury at all times showed a majority for acquittal.

Defense Waives Argument.

The closing day of the trial was marked by heated complaints of Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin. He was obviously angry because he had been shut off from making a closing argument to the jury by a last minute move on the part of Attorney Eugene McGarry, representing the defendants. Attorney McGarry waived argument after Assistant State's Attorney Grenville Beardsley had made his short speech summing up the evidence. This move prevented Prosecutor Lavin from arguing.

Lavin, however, contended that he had a right to take up the argument where his associate had left off. The judge ruled otherwise and during a session in chambers Lavin is reported to have shown his anger in statements made to the judge. He was told, it is reported, that "he ought to know his place."

"I have come to the conclusion that it is useless to indict and try public officials in this city," said the prosecutor after the acquittal verdict was read. "It is a waste of the public money because it seems impossible to get convictions."

Shakes Hands with Jurors.

Congressman Kunz thanked the jury for his acquittal and shook hands with as many jurors as he could reach. He was quickly surrounded by constituents and hurried from the court building.

"All I have to say is that this was a put-up job candled by my enemies," he said. "Time will tell who they are. I do not care to say any more at this time."

Kunz was indicted during the civil service investigation conducted by the state's attorney's office late last year. Walter Trochowski, a plumber, charged that he had paid the congressman $400 to get a police department job for his brother, Roman Trochowski. When he failed to get his money back or the promised job he went to the prosecutor's office and the indictment followed.

Calls It a Loan.

The congressman denied the charge. He admitted getting the money in question, but said it was a loan transaction, which he repaid and produced a receipt to prove it.

This was the second time Kunz has been acquitted in the Criminal courts on charges of taking money for promised political favors.

VALUE COUNTY PERSONALTY AT 799 MILLIONS

Decrease $91,480,873 from 1928 Total.

Assessed valuations of personal property in Cook county are $91,480,873 less for 1929 than the assessors' total for 1928. The final figures, released yesterday by Chief Clerk Charles H. Kessler, give the 1929 total at $799,687,936, as against $891,168,809 in 1928. The personal property rolls were turned over to the board of review.

The decrease is attributed by Assessor Charles Ringer to the fact that personal property was assessed on a basis of 45 per cent in 1929 instead of 60 per cent as in 1928. The percentage was reduced because of the adoption of the 37 per cent equalization factor against real estate valuations, which was also a reduction.

Figures Are Compared.

The comparison of personal property valuations by townships for the two years is as follows:

Town—	1928.	1929.
Barrington	$ 553,230	$ 692,120
Berwyn	986,140	1,175,202

Judge Claire C. Edwards of the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday entered a judgment of $776,876 against the estate of the late Richard W. Sears, founder of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in favor of Cook county for back personal property taxes from 1907 to 1912, inclusive.

Sears' Widow Appeals.

The judgment is the largest of its kind in legal history. An appeal was taken by attorneys for the widow and executrix of the estate, Mrs. Anna L. Sears, which will prolong the 12 year legal struggle over the tax for another year.

Mr. Sears died at Grays Lake in Lake county in September of 1914. After his death an action was begun by Lake county to collect a personal property tax on his estate, which consisted of $16,000,000 in personal property and $20,000,000 in real estate. After this action was settled for $92,000 on the claim that Mr. Sears had lived in Lake county for only two years, Cook county and Oak Park taxing bodies began a fight for $1,703,621, back taxes due as estimated by the board of review.

Judge Edwards reduced this figure to $776,876, holding the balance to be excessive.

BOARDS BLAME EACH OTHER FOR VALUATION DELAY

Assessors and Reviewers Deny Responsibility.

Responsibility for delay in completion of the reassessment was bandied back and forth by the board of assessors and board of review yesterday. In defense of the board of assessors John O. Rees, director of the joint commission on real estate valuation, saddled the blame directly on the shoulders of the members of the board of review. In turn Edward R. Litsinger, speaking for the reviewers, blamed the assessors and those behind the reassessment movement.

Debate on this subject has been heated since the assessors turned over the first assessment rolls to the reviewers four months ago. Each day's delay takes $50,000 in interest out of the pockets of Cook county's taxpayers.

Rees Blames Reviewers.

Definite records of the progress of the reassessment place the blame for the present delay on the board of review, Mr. Rees said, despite protests from the reviewers that the failure of the assessors to turn over books is the cause. All of the records for Chicago towns and for 21 country towns are in the hands of the board of review.

"Books for west town have been in the board's hands for three months and five days," Mr. Rees said. "Other towns followed closely. Yet they have turned over only four towns to the tax commission. Assessments for the eight city towns fill 301 assessment books.

"Of this number 206 are yet to be completed, even though hearings have been held on all towns, with the exception of the loop, which is still under discussion. There are 278 country town books, most of which are in the hands of the reviewers."

Reply From Litsinger.

Mr. Litsinger pointed out that Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment, promised delivery of all books by Feb. 20 at the recent conference of tax officials with Gov. Emerson. The date has passed and the books for Evanston, Calumet, Lyons, Niles, Palos, Thornton, Worth, and New Trier are not finished and may not be for two weeks, or more.

"When the reassessment was undertaken it was represented that the entire work would be done in four months at a cost of $800,000," Mr. Litsinger said. "I questioned the accuracy of that representation and stated that in my opinion it would not be finished within a year and that the cost would exceed $2,000,000.

"The work has now taken 18 months. We have made demand after demand on the assessors for books."

A vote of confidence was given last night to Nathan I. Noach, Evanston assessor, by a committee of the Evanston real estate board. On Wednesday Mr. Cutmore charged that many of Noach's valuations showed partisanship.

DRY LAW DOOM PREDICTED BY PIERRE DU PONT

Declares People Will Demand, Get Repeal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Led by Pierre S. du Pont, millionaire chemical and munitions manufacturer, another company of notable witnesses appeared before the house judiciary committee today demanding relief for the country from the yoke of Volsteadism.

PIERRE S. DU PONT. [A. P. Photo.]

Labeling as false the dry theory that prohibition has aided the workingman and stimulated prosperity, the chairman of the vast Du Pont interests pleaded for restoration of liquor control to the states as the only remedy for "conditions which are steadily growing worse."

The public is in no mood for compromise, he asserted. It demands and will bring about repeal of the 18th amendment.

Prohibition Farcical Failure.

In different words, but with equal earnestness, a half dozen other witnesses, including another manufacturer, a broker, a clergyman, a lawyer, a university professor, and several spokesmen for anti-prohibition organizations, echoed the opinions and warning of Mr. du Pont. They denounced prohibition as a farcical failure thrust upon a nation of freemen who refuse to tolerate it and already are in a state of open rebellion.

It was another triumphant day for the wets—probably the most impressive of the six during which they have presented a long list of distinguished spokesmen in support of the modification and repeal measures which the house committee is considering.

Here's Array of Witnesses.

Among the witnesses were:

Pierre S. du Pont, Wilmington, Del., chairman of the board of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., and of the General Motors corporation.

Dr. Fabian Franklin, New York City, author, mathematician, professor at Johns Hopkins university.

Alexander Lincoln, Boston; secretary of the Constitutional Liberty League of Massachusetts.

Record Breaking Crowd.

One after another the witnesses told their stories to the committee before another record breaking crowd. At previous hearings standing room for the audience has been at a premium.

At the close of today's hearing, Representative J. C. Linthicum [Dem., Md.], explaining that he has been overwhelmed with requests by additional wets who seek to testify, asked for and received a further extension of time. It had been thought that the wets would close today, but Chairman George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.] announced that they would be given one more day.

"Do you know, Mr. du Pont, that Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, is a prohibitionist, and that his views differ diametrically from yours?" Representative E. C. Michener [Rep., Mich.], queried.

Mr. du Pont answered tha he did and that Sloan had a right to his opinion.

"And do you know," Michener persisted, "that Henry Ford and some other automobile magnates also disagree with you?"

Again the witness assented.

"Well, then," the Michigan representative remarked, "you must agree that this is a big question on which industrial leaders honestly disagree."

Puts It Up to Ardent Drys.

Mr. Du Pont answered, with slow deliberation: "May I attack that word 'honestly.' I know a good many industrial leaders who think prohibition is a good thing for the working men, but violate it themselves. Only recently I argued the subject with an ardent dry at the dinner table. After dinner, he had a drink. I didn't."

Still not content to let the matter rest, Michener asked the witness if he placed Sloan and Ford in the "dishonest" category. In reply to this, Du Pont smiled that "they will have to answer for th mselves."

Didn't Vote on Amendment.

"Before 1920," he said, "nine states had absolute prohibition in their constitutions, but 90 per cent of the population lived in the 39 which did not have it. There were 131 liquor laws in effect and 100 of these had referenda clauses. For eighty years, under state and local option, people had voted on dry laws. But they did not vote on the 18th amendment.

"We must go beyond the Volstead act and attack the 18th amendment itself. The federal law, in my opinion, can be general enough to fit all states and all localities. Give the states a year after repeal of the 18th amendment to adjust their laws, and the problem will work out itself.

"Now, what should the states do? Fundamentally, I should say, the thing that must be done is to put the liquor business into good hands. In the past it has been in the worst hands. Before 1920 the saloonkeeper handled it, and since we have turned it over to the criminal classes. This was the last step. We can't degrade it further. The way to elevate it, I believe, is to put it in the hands of respectable state commissions."

Several members of the committee in one voice fired questions at Mr. Du Pont as he completed his statement. Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] asked him, as "a big business man," if he considered prohibition a benefit to employés or a boon to prosperity.

"I never have found a serious liquor problem among my employés, nor among those of any other large company with which I am familiar," he replied promptly. "The great majority of working men were sober before prohibition.

"As for prosperity, I cannot see that prohibition had any effect on it. There have been other factors, however, that have affected it strongly. The automobile industry, for example, has brought a tremendous change. It has put millions of men to work and consumed vast quantities of materials. Certainly prohibition is not responsible for the automobile."

Calls Dry Law Rotten Failure.

Both Mr. Pitcairn and Mr. Harris, speaking as business men, restated the view of Mr. Du Pont, that prohibition has harmed, rather than aided business generally.

"Prohibition is a rotten failure," was the blunt charge of Mr. Pitcairn, glass manufacturer. "The Wickersham commission knows it, the President knows it, congress knows it and everybody else knows it but the fanatical drys. Its sole accomplishment has been to scrap 100 years of self-imposed temperance."

Aside from Mr. Du Pont, the most striking witness of the day proved to be the Rev. Mr. Malick, Cincinnati minister, who was the second clergyman to advocate dry law repeal before the committee.

"As I see it," he told the committee, "there are two reasons why the prohibition law is not and can never be enforced, which have not yet been fully grasped. Both are psychological. One is that we have raised liquor to the dignity of a forbidden thing—given it a lure and charm which makes it attractive. The other is that human nature demands something that will let it down from the strain, something that will tide over the period of fatigue. Mild liquors fill that demand.

Nature Hates a Peeper.

"Further, our legislators do not seem to understand the code among men which forbids them to give evidence against one another concerning personal acts. Nature hates a peeper. Honest men will never help enforce prohibition. The only way to enforce it would be to turn the whole procedure over to its fanatical friends and then we would have a state of terror."

The minister added that he would "lose confidence in the Anglo-Saxon stock if they permitted this law to be enforced" Resistance to it, he said, is "a most hopeful sign."

Dr. Franklin, a venerable man in the seventies, declared that the people are "in flaming revolt," just as they were before the revolution when Edmund Burke said: "Nowhere on earth does the fire of liberty burn so fiercely as in America."

"In the face of indisputable facts," he continued, "it is impossible for any honest and intelligent person to longer deny that a huge minority, if not a majority of the people, are in favor of the repeal of the 18th amendment. And it can no longer be denied that this group includes the finest, most high minded and most patriotic of our citizens."

Seeks to Define Felonies.

While the committee hearing was in progress two new bills were introduced in the house as substitutes for those recommended by the Wickersham commission for relieving congestion in the courts.

Under one of the bills introduced today "felonies" were defined as "all offenses which may be punished by death or imprisonment for a term exceeding one year," and "misdemeanors," all offenses "not involving moral turpitude," the penalty for which does not exceed a jail sentence or a maximum fine of $500." The second bill prescribes the procedure of trial of petty cases before the commissioners. It provides that when arraigned the accused may plead to the complaint or information or may elect to be tried before the District court.

Mitchell Warns "Model" Dry Law Plan Is Unwise

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Proponents of the pending Howell "model" dry law for the District of Columbia were warned by Attorney General W. D. Mitchell today that its unusually drastic provisions, including one to facilitate searches of private dwellings, would undoubtedly hamper, rather than improve, Volstead enforcement.

In a letter to Senator Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], chairman of the senate district committee before which the bill is pending, the attorney general suggested that efforts to make enforcement more effective might better be directed in other ways than in methods which, if not unconstitutional, are certain to provoke new controversies.

The Howell bill, fathered by Senator R. B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], in its present form would authorize the issuance of warrants to search private dwellings suspected of housing a still or into which, according to information, illicit liquor has been taken.

Calls It Unwise.

Early in December the Nebraska senator asked the attorney general's opinion of a tentative draft of the bill, and at that time Mr. Mitchell asserted his belief that its major provisions were unwise.

The bill was introduced, however, today, is the result of Senator Capper's formal request for the attorney general's recommendation.

"The national prohibition act," declared Mr. Mitchell in his letter, "now allows searching of dwellings only if there be proof liquor is being sold therein. The effect of the Howell bill would be to subject the dwellings of persons residing in the District of Columbia to more drastic searches than congress has authorized in the United States, Alaska and some of the insular possessions.

Sees Controversy.

"Furthermore, in my judgment, effort to improve enforcement of the national prohibition act may better be expended, at least for the present, in other directions than in an attempt to make more drastic the provisions for searching private dwellings—an attempt which would arouse controversy with doubtful results."

Other sections of the Howell bill to which the attorney general took no exception propose to authorize the entire metropolitan police force to enforce prohibition—only thirty-eight policemen in the capital are now so authorized—and would reenact portions of the Sheppard law covering intoxication, drinking in public, sales to minors and other violations not included in the Volstead act.

PUTS OFF TERM IN JAIL 3 YEARS BY HELPING DRYS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—At liberty for almost three years, although he was a convicted and sentenced United States prisoner, Edward "Heinie" Edwards, 36, of Monessen, was required to give himself up today to a United States marshal.

Until today mystery surrounded the reason why Edwards remained a free man while under sentence since May 2, 1927. He said today he wasn't sent to jail because the prohibition department was using him as an informer.

"Since I was sentenced," Edwards said, "I have been coming to the prohibition office and giving them information.

"They never promised me anything, but I didn't have to go to jail and didn't think I would have to, because I was giving them the information they wanted about bootleggers."

The case in which Edwards was involved and which resulted in his conviction and jail sentence, was a liquor conspiracy.

Discovery of the fact that Edwards had never gone to jail was made by United States District Attorney Evans.

Commons Gets Bill to Make Insanity Basis for Divorce

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Parliament has given first reading to a bill introduced by Hulford Knight, Labor, South Nottingham, making insanity a ground for divorce where it is incurable or of five years' standing. The bill is based on a recommendation of the royal commission on divorce laws.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

'POKER ALICE' OF MINE CAMP FAME LOSES TO DEATH

Smoked, Fought, Swore Like a Man.

Rapid City, S. D., Feb. 27.—(AP)—"Poker Alice" Tubbs, 77, picturesque character of the old west, where she was a fixture in the mining camps of the gold rush era, died here today.

From the Pecos to the Colorado, through Goldfield, Tonopah, and Butte, "Poker Alice" in the '80s dealt her cards. Associate of the "big shots" of border days, Alice numbered among her acquaintances Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane, Deadwood Dick, Tex Rickard, and others.

As she was deft at dealing cards, so was she equally agile at handling the reins. Born in Devonshire, England, Alice came to America and went into the gold and copper mining country. There she married a mining engineer while she was in her early twenties. It was from him she learned the relative values of a straight flush in competition with aces in full.

Bearded miners, "fresh from the creek, dog dirty and loaded for bear," swarmed around the table when Alice dealt the cards. It is a tradition in the country that disputed bets were settled by a glare from Alice where nothing less than pistols would have settled had a man dealt.

Follows Gaming Trail.

Hidden back with the frontier as the Santa Fé and other roads pushed westward, Alice followed the trails to the north, then back to the east.

In Silver City, N. M., she was a novelty at dealing, and her claim of having made $6,000 in one sitting, as her share of the house game, went undisputed.

The romance with the mining engineer ran out as did the veins of gold mined out of the western creeks and Alice married W. G. Tubbs, known as a "big time" gambler, a sort of "Nick the Greek" of his day.

Years later she married George Eckert of Sturgis, S. D., but after his death she resumed the name of Tubbs.

Between her engagements as a dealer for others, or chances she took at operating her own games, Alice found time to take part in the rush for "free lands" when Oklahoma was finally tamed and thrown open to settlers.

In the rush for land Alice again was thrown into contact with the lawless of the white and red races.

Death Sits in Game.

Then nature, whose needs had long been denied in the long nights under kerosene lamps over card tables—and the smoking pistol—started tolling off the lives of Alice's playmates.

One after another they died, some in their boots, others in a lone prospector's camp under Colorado skies or a crawling, choking death on the sunline Nevada desert.

Alice went, east, back to Sturgis and her cabin on the sunny side of Bear Butte creek.

A brush with the prohibition law started her on her way to jail, but she was pardoned by Gov. Bulow, who said:

"I can't send a white haired old woman to jail on a liquor charge."

Complications followed her recent operation.

Counterfeit Bill Passer Sentenced to 10 Years

A story of winning large sums of counterfeit money from New York gamblers failed to impress Federal Judge Lindley yesterday, and he sentenced Joseph W. Miller to serve ten years at Leavenworth penitentiary and fined him $5,000 when Miller admitted passing spurious currency. Secret service agents found a large number of counterfeited $100 and $50 notes in Miller's possession.

Canada Moves to Stop Liquor Exports Over Heads of Liberals

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27.—The Mackenzie King government of Canada made its first move today toward prohibiting the export of liquor from Canada to the United States. The government called a caucus of all Liberal members of the house of commons and senate and called for expressions of opinions for or against such legislation as has been asked of Canada by the United States.

Spirited opposition to Canadian prohibition of liquor export to America was voiced by half a dozen members of the commons, who argued against it on two points: first, that it would cost Canada nine or ten millions of dollars annual revenue and, second, that Canada should not take the responsibility of assisting the American government to keep the United States dry.

Caucus Held in Secrecy.

Caucus attendants are sworn to secrecy and nothing official is ever given out as to what takes place behind the closed doors, but it is understood that Wellington Hay, former Ontario Liberal leader and now director of Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville distillery, was one of the opponents of the government's proposed measure.

Premier Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, however, declared that Canada is morally obligated to prevent its citizens of criminal tendencies from conspiring to defeat the laws of a friendly nation.

The understanding here is that presentation of a government bill to prohibit such liquor exports is assured, and that the caucus was called mainly to give some opponents of the measure opportunity of blowing off steam. It is said Premier Mackenzie King himself will introduce the bill within a fortnight.

Predict Bill's Passage.

The bill is not likely to mention either liquor or the United States, but it will be a measure to prohibit the export of any commodity to any country where the importation of such goods is prohibited.

The bill, however, may merely give the cabinet of Canada authority to put into effect such prohibitive legislation when its enactment is desirable. Such a provision would give Canada a trading position from which she could solicit tariff concessions from America in return for helping to keep America dry. Parliamentary sentiment here is that the bill will certainly carry through both houses of parliament if Premier King himself fathers it.

PACKER BUYERS VIOLATE CODE, U. S. IS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Dr. J. R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal husbandry of the department of agriculture, said today the department had been informed agents and packer buyers had been violating a trade practice agreement that public markets be kept open and competitive.

He added in a statement there also had been violations of the trade agreement that prohibited bargaining prior to the opening of the market.

Actress Will Face Auto Killing Charge in West

Mrs. Marian Wex, 36 years old, a motion picture actress, who was arrested at the Clarendon Beach hotel on Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter, agreed yesterday to return to Los Angeles for trial and was being held at the detective bureau last night awaiting the arrival of Los Angeles police. Mrs. Wex, who said she acted under the name of Marian Warring, is charged with having struck and killed a man with an automobile in Los Angeles several weeks ago.

START HUNT FOR SPEAKEASIES IN SCHOOL AREAS

Council Group Acts to Learn Conditions.

Investigation of school neighborhoods to ascertain if pupils are buying drinks in speakeasies was ordered yesterday by the council committee on schools, fire, and civil service at the suggestion of Ald. J. C. Ross. Ald. Ross was appointed chairman of a subcommittee to direct the investigation.

The subcommittee conferred with Police Commissioner Russell, who issued orders to his force to investigate conditions. Ald. Ross also obtained a statement from Frederick J. Lane, special assistant to William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, that orders would be given today to district superintenrents to ask all principals to conduct a survey of their neighborhoods.

Student's Case Starts Quiz.

The movement was instigated by the case of Russell Rodgers, 7933 South Hermitage avenue, a student in the Tilden High school, who was arraigned before Judge John J. Lupe in the Stockyards court Wednesday on a charge of drunkenness.

Other members of the council subcommittee: Ald. Frank H. Landmesser, B. J. Zintak, John J. Hoellen, and Frank A. Sloan.

"When I read a newspaper story about the boy, Russell Rodgers, I decided that the council committee should do something to ascertain if such conditions were common in school neighborhoods," Ald. Ross said. "I doubt if the conditions exist all over the city, but we want to find out."

Asked how the committee members would learn about such conditions if they did exist, Ald. Ross said that school principals would determine just how the surveys would be made. He said it was undecided whether the aldermen would make personal investigations.

Police to Coöperate.

"We will do all in our power to coöperate with the board of education and the council, but, of course, it is impossible to make speakeasies nonexistent. All we can do is to scatter them," Commissioner Russell said.

Savino Morizzo, owner of a candy store at 518 South Western avenue, was fined $100 by Judge George B. Holmes in the Fillmore street court after three boys testified they had spent their pennies in slot machines in his store.

Morizzo's store is near two grammar schools, the King school and the Precious Blood parochial school. The boys are Toto Zizzo, 14 years old, 510 South Claremont avenue; John Heier, 13 years old, 520 South Claremont avenue, and Albert Bartolomi, 15 years old, 513 South Claremont avenue.

KILLED "HITCHING" RIDE.

"Hitching" a ride on a Chicago Junction freight train at the Archer avenue viaduct yesterday, Edward Reynolds, 32 years old, of 2842 West 39th street, a repair man employed by the board of education, slipped between the cars and was crushed to death.

CALIFORNIA QUAKES IRRIGATE CANTALOUPE FIELD WITH GEYSERS

Brawley, Cal., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Irrigation of cantaloupes by the natural phenomenon of earthquakes was recorded today in Imperial valley. Underground disturbances which shook the valley Tuesday night and Wednesday morning caused small geysers of water to spout five inches high in a 160 acre cantaloupe field of the S. A. Gerrard company ranch. The water was found to have irrigated the entire field and flooded adjoining ones.

Scores of small sand piles resembling ant hills were left by the earthquake water fountains on another nearby ranch.

JEWELERS DENY PLOTTING HOLDUP WITH MRS. PRICE

Maurice A. Barnett, 5454 South Shore drive, a jeweler, and Max Krakow, a manufacturing jeweler, took the witness stand yesterday in Judge Harry B. Miller's court to deny that they were involved in an alleged conspiracy with Mrs. Laura P. Price, wife of a wealthy woodenware manufacturer, to have a fake robbery committed in order to collect insurance.

Mrs. Price through her attorney, Leonard Reid of the firm of Litsinger and Reid, issued a statement giving her reasons for refusing to testify for the state as had been promised at the outset of the trial when she was granted a separate trial from Barnett and Krakow.

"At the time Mrs. Price was questioned in the state's attorney's office last October she was told that the case against her would be nolle prossed if she testified for the state," said Attorney Reid.

"When we sought assurances to this effect from Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller he said that he could do nothing about it. He said the insurance company wanted satisfaction because they had paid out $18,000 on the policies. If the state will not keep its agreement I cannot allow Mrs. Price to testify."

Mrs. Price is to be tried alone at the conclusion of the present trial.

YANKS DEMAND JAPANESE SLASH BIG SHIP SCHEME

British Join in Fight on Tokio's Proposal.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Efforts to induce the Japanese to modify their demands for an allowance of greatly increased naval strength in any limitation treaty negotiated at the London conference was begun in earnest today by the American delegation. Although the Japanese are understood to have successfully withstood the onslaught as to the principal items of their demands, the opinion was expressed by the American spokesman that promising progress was being made toward an agreement.

The Japanese, who accepted the Washington conference limitation of their capital ship tonnage to 60 per cent of that of America and Great Britain, are now demanding 70 per cent of big cruiser tonnage and a parity in submarines. If this were allowed, Japan, which now has 12 big cruisers built or building, would have 14 compared to America's 18 and Great Britain's 15.

Britain to Oppose Demand.

The American delegation realizes that a treaty containing such a concession to Japan would have little chance of ratification in the United States senate. Great Britain, because of the attitude of Australia and New Zealand, is even more strenuously opposed to the big cruiser concession than America.

The only concession Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has made so far to the Japanese is in submarines, in which class he would allow them two-thirds of our tonnage instead of 60 per cent. The question of compromise was discussed by Senator David A. Reed and Tsueno Matsudaira. Following this Mr. Stimson, Senator Reed and J. Theodore Marriner, American naval attaché, called on Prime Minister MacDonald with reference to the negotiations with the Japanese. The negotiations will continue tomorrow.

ITALY STANDS PAT

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The deadlock between France and Italy became more critical today when Prime Minister MacDonald, in a conversation in the house of commons, sought to induce Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, to modify Italy's figures on naval strength as compared with France.

The Italian figures, produced in their recent memorandum on auxiliary surface ships, call for 227,000 tons for Italy and 232,000 tons for France, which the Italians claim should be taken as a basis for establishing a parity.

Mr. MacDonald failed signally. Sig. Grandi stood pat on his figures, refusing to accede his claims to the high French figures submitted by Andre Tardieu, based on ships already sunk or useless. The resultant position is that Italo-French relations are much worse than two months ago, and despair practically reigns as to effecting any Franco-Italian accord which can be fitted into a five power agreement.

Secret Diplomacy Fails.

The chickens of secret diplomacy and the "hush hush" meetings are also beginning to come home to roost. Revolt is rife in some delegations against the divergence of views expressed publicly and those advanced in private conversations between the heads of delegations. Assurances are given at one set of private conversations which do not jibe at all with assurances given by the same power at another, adding to the background of doubt and suspicion.

One delegation, it is learned, was so irritated over this as to be at the point of demanding that the outcome of these secret talks be published daily.

YANKEE NAVAL PARTY SPENDS $20,000 FOR LONDON MADE CLOTHES

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The American naval delegation in London is rapidly reaching the zenith of its great buying festival.

From the time the delegation arrived the swanky clothiers of men and women reaped a rich harvest. Now most of the men are wearing suits bought in London's best shops, but cut in the American fashion, while the women have stocked up on dresses for official functions and shoes to match.

Some of the men had ill luck in English shoe stores. They forgot that English shoes are cut or lasts entirely different from those of the United States, and most of them, after weak complaints, stored their shoes for later trials. Estimates of money spent by the some sixty persons attached to the delegation vary between $15,000 and $20,000.

NELSON MORRIS WINS IN PARIS DIVORCE BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Nelson Morris of Chicago today won a signal victory in his battle to keep Jane Aubert, French music hall star, from divorcing him in the French courts during a hearing of his petition to have her separation allowance of $1,000 a month reduced. The state solicitor, who in France acts in an advisory capacity to the court, spoke eloquently in favor of Mr. Morris, accusing his wife of base ingratitude.

He gave his opinion that under the Franco-American convention of 1902 the French courts are incompetent to give a judgment on divorce of a French woman married in America to an American who maintains a domicile in his native land. Mr. Morris claims that Chicago is his legal residence.

The solicitor also said that the $1,000 allowance was far too high. "Jean Aubert has treated her American husband with a woeful lack of gratitude and the existence she leads is scandalous," he said. "Just because Jane Aubert dances, or rather marches, is no reason for her to spend $1,000 a month on shoes."

SEIZE SOLDIERS IN STOLEN CAR; CONFESS THEFTS

Five enlisted men, on overnight leave from the army post at Fort Sheridan, were arrested by Sergt. John Froelich of the Lake Forest police early yesterday while riding through Lake Forest in a stolen car.

In the car, which was identified as the property of Howell Murray, 31 North Linden avenue, Highland Park, Sergt. Froelich found a sawed off shotgun, three service pistols, and a suitcase containing a bundle of clothing. The clothing, the prisoners admitted, had been stolen by them Wednesday night in a holdup of John Allum at his home, 1006 North Clark street, Chicago.

The prisoners, who confessed several other Chicago robberies, identified themselves as George Barry, 21 years old, Western Springs, Ill.; Melvin Prell, 19, Madison, Wis.; Anthony Kane, 27, Sloan, N. Y.; Floyd Hiles, 18, Los Angeles, and Edward Sharp, 20, of 2414 Congress street, Chicago. They are to be brought to the detective bureau today for further investigation and for a police showup.

WIVES OF NAVAL ENVOYS ATTEND ROYAL TEA PARTY

Houseproud Queen Shows Glories of Palace.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Forty women of the five delegations to the naval conference arrived at the early hour of 2:45 p. m. at Buckingham palace to take tea with Queen Mary today. Seventeen American women were present. The reason for the early hour was that the queen, who is as proud of her London home as any housewife in the land, wanted to show the glories of it to her guests before tea.

The guests assembled in a small drawing room on the first floor of the palace and at 3 o'clock the queen, attended by the Duchess of Devonshire, mistress of the robes, and the Dowager Countess of Airlie and Lady Joan Verney, ladies in waiting, appeared in the doorway of an adjoining drawing room.

Displays Royal Jewels.

The queen wore a sweeping gown of powder blue printed velvet, and ropes of pearls and sapphires. Her beautifully waved gray hair was piled high on her head, revealing big sapphire and pearl earrings. Her rings were diamonds, pearls, and sapphires.

Then the queen formed a little procession, with herself at the head, and toured the royal apartments for an hour.

Shows Secret Door.

The wives of the delegates passed through the picture gallery, where the queen explained each picture. She then showed the hidden door in the throne room, which is concealed by a mirror, and exactly what happens at the summer courts when the debutantes make their court curtsies to King George and Queen Mary.

Then the queen, having chatted a few minutes with each guest in turn, took leave and returned to her private apartments for tea, while the guests were entertained in the household dining room, adjoining the state dining room, where the ladies and gentlemen in waiting take their meals.

POINCARE ASKS NAVAL PARLEY COME TO AN END

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Raymond Poincare comes out in this morning's Excelsior and denounces the London naval conference.

"It is time to finish up this interminable London conference, where we have made known our point of view straight out, and where our prolonged absence can't help but favor all sorts of cabals," he declares.

This statement is significant in view of the fact that he is the patron saint of the new ministry of Andre Tardieu.

U. S. Marines Lose London Rifle Match to British

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The crack shots among the marines attached to the American delegation to the naval conference went down to defeat today in a match with British riflemen. They lost by 75 points to a team from the "Queen Victoria Rifles." The Americans explained they were severely handicapped by lack of practice and felt they were under a disadvantage in being obliged to use British made rifles.

Tardieu Woos His Radical Foes with Offers of Cabinet Plums

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Feeling his way because of the extreme delicacy of the situation, André Tardieu today nevertheless made progress toward forming his government, and still expects to submit it to President Gaston Doumergue on Saturday and go before the chamber of deputies on Tuesday, so as to show up in London on Wednesday for a resumption of the five power naval conference.

The radical animosity over his defeat of the Chautemps cabinet last Tuesday is subsiding. The lure of portfolios is proving too much for some of the ambitious members of the left parties. The radicals in the chamber are standing pat, but four of them in the senate were offered places in the new government and undoubtedly will come in, bringing with them enough support among the deputies to give M. Tardieu 35 or 30 votes majority.

Bound by Budget Demands.

The only condition through which the energetic M. Tardieu can get to London, where he feels he has got to be, is acceptance of the finance commission's budgetary proposals for reducing taxation and increasing the pensions of veterans, instead of the strict economy measures evolved by Henri Chéron on which M. Tardieu's last cabinet fell.

The left parties would be delighted to vote for such a budget, and M. Tardieu could do his battling in London instead of on the floor of the chamber. Afterwards what? All signs point to Raymond Poincaré, whose influence, pledged yesterday, at this moment is working wonders for M. Tardieu.

Feeling that he would be likely to lose all by trying to rush things, M. Tardieu went about his job in leisurely fashion today, and, to the horror of the hundreds of French journalists following him about, he did not begin his real consultation until 4 o'clock, after a copious lunch in a big restaurant near the Madeleine with friends.

A serious obstacle in his path was removed when Henry Franklin-Bouillon's Unionist left group told the main social and radical left group, which has been holding out for a concentration government grouping the radicals, that it would support any government M. Tardieu would get together.

Herriot Declines Bait.

The Radical Socialist group, however, has so far successfully resisted the siren voice of M. Tardieu's wooing of the left parties. Their new head, former Premier Edouard Herriot, refused the offer of a post in the new cabinet.

The only portfolio definitely accepted is that of the ministry of foreign affairs. M. Briand will again take this.

Although the French refuse to subscribe to certain gloomy forecasts that the London conference is doomed, they are growing daily more pessimistic and nobody seems to care whether it breaks up or not. At the moment they are worried lest the Italians steal a march on them in their absence.

It is thought here that the chances of a three power accord being reached are slight, chiefly because of Japan's demands.

BELGIAN CHAMBER BANS FRENCH FOR GHENT STUDENTS

BRUSSELS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Flemish extremists in the Belgian parliament won a victory today when the chamber decided to transform the University of Ghent into an exclusively Flemish institution, eliminating the French language entirely. The vote was 154 to 10.

The Jaspar cabinet was overthrown on this issue last fall, the liberal and socialist members of the chamber opposing the change.

The linguistic problem in Belgium threatened to bring about a serious situation between the Flemish provinces and the Walloon, or French, provinces.

33 ROBBERIES IN 2 DAYS; RUSSELL PRAISES POLICE

McErlane Granted Delay at Court Hearing.

Chief of Detectives Stege reported last night to Commissioner Russell that only eighteen robberies had been committed in the twenty-four hours ended at 4 p. m. and fifteen during the day previous.

"That's the best record of many years," Russell said. "In a city of more than 3,000,000 people and 210 square miles of territory we are doing remarkably well with our undermanned police department. I was fearful at the beginning of winter of an outbreak of crime, but we've headed it off. And we're doing now what hasn't been done before in my time on the force, and that's reporting every complaint of a robbery or burglary."

Gun Toter Sentenced.

Judge Philip Finnegan sentenced Herman Tinson, colored, to one year in the House of Correction, upon his conviction for carrying a concealed weapon. The policy of indicting gunmen, instead of bringing them to trial in the police courts, has produced the best results, Russell said.

Rymie Levine, 34 years old, supposed to be an agent of Al Capone and Jack Gusick of vice resort notoriety, was arrested by Sergt. Patrick McShane after an automobile chase of several blocks. He was charged with disorderly conduct and vagrancy.

McErlane Granted Delay.

Frank McErlane, who was shot three times Monday night as he lay wounded in the German Deaconess hospital, was granted a continuance until April 9 in Judge John J. Lupe's court when Dr. G. A. Drolson testified that McErlane would be confined to bed for at least a month. Miss Marion Miller, who shared an apartment with McErlane, and Bernadine Rigna, who was arrested with Miss Miller, were charged with vagrancy and disorderly conduct.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and head of the committee on prevention and punishment of crime, said drastic results are expected when the actual cleanup machinery gets going. The expenditures of the committee are considered an investment that will pay dividends in stopping extortion, removing the element of fear, and permitting business to function normally, he said.

Bundesen Defends City.

Coroner Bundesen yesterday defended the name of Chicago in an address before the General Agents' association at the Hotel La Salle. He declared that crime is less rampant in Chicago than in a dozen other American cities.

"The general belief that Chicago is a happy hunting ground for crooks is a base slander," he said. "No one can prove that Chicago is as corrupt as a dozen or more other cities in the United States. An examination of statistics would cause the majority of the defamers to hide their heads in shame of their own cities. The reputation of this city is due to the fact that it makes no effort to conceal its crimes, as other cities do."

State's Attorney Swanson was investigating complaints that three candidates opposing State Representative John Durso had been forced to withdraw through intimidation.

Carcassonne is one of the most interesting cities of France, retaining unchanged to a great extent, the aspects of a walled stronghold of the Middle Ages. It is the capital of the department of Aude. The old part (the cité), from which the above letter was mailed, stands on elevated ground and is enclosed by walls of great solidity, portions of which date back to the time of the Visigoths. It contains the medieval castle and the cathedral, Church of St. Nazaire. The new city built without the walls is an up to date French provincial city and contains many modern structures. It dates back close to five centuries and manufactures woolen and cotton cloth, leather, ironware, and pottery.

DOCTORS ASSAIL SWANSON DELAY IN MURDER CASE

Demand Trial of Trio for Killing of Dr. Thilo.

That State's Attorney Swanson and his assistants are not as interested as they should be in the prosecution of the alleged murderers of Dr. George W. Thilo was the charge made yesterday by the Chicago Medical society in a letter to the prosecutor protesting against the latest continuance of the case to March 11.

Alan Goldstein, Lawrence Ogden, and Raymond Scott are the youths charged with the killing of Dr. Thilo in December, 1928. They have been in the county jail for several months waiting disposition of the murder charges.

Sentenced for Robberies.

The youths were arrested for a series of robberies last spring. They were brought into court and allowed to plead guilty to the robbery charges and were sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory. They were not indicted at the time for the murder, although Dr. Thilo's widow identified them as the robbers who held up her husband and caused him to fall to the sidewalk and suffer injuries which later caused his death.

Mrs. Charlotte Thilo, the widow, started an investigation when she found that the men were sentenced on the robbery charges and were not indicted for the murder of her husband. At that time it was said that a lost mittimus was responsible for the mistake and that the situation would be remedied at once. Indictments finally were voted last July and since then the case has been continued whenever it was called in court. At one time the indictments were dismissed, but it was said that this also was a result of a mistake, and the indictments were reinstated.

Protest to Swanson.

Dr. N. S. Davis, secretary of the medical society, signed the letter sent to Prosecutor Swanson. Dr. Davis reviews the history of the case and points out that Dr. Thilo was killed while returning home from an errand of mercy.

"Our information would lead us to believe that your office is not as interested as it should be in the prosecution of this case," the letter reads.

"The Chicago Medical society requests that the state's attorney of Cook county do all in his power to obtain the conviction of the murderers of a physician, an honored member of this society, whose members have always cared for the sick poor without remuneration."

CRIMINAL COURT.

Leroy Jarcox, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John J. Sullivan.

George Roberts, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Joseph Robertson, murder, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary; Herman Tinson, carrying concealed weapons, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Walter Keating, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Alfonso McGaughey, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; George Inany and Joe Adams, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

Richard Reed, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Curtis Dixon and James Fountain, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Steffen.

Bonifacio Salario, rape, sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge E. I. Frankhauser.

William Hesse, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Edward Brown, bigamy, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary; Russell Grant, Vernon Norbett, Lawrence Johnson and Frank Price, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge William N. Gemmill.

TAILORS FIGHT CLEANERS' PLAN TO RAISE PRICES

Chicago's cleaning and dyeing industry became a degree more muddled last night when members of the Retail Tailors' union met in the Union Park temple and instructed a committee to protest to the Chicago Master Cleaners and Dyers' association against any contemplated price increases.

James Gorman, head of the tailors' union, stated it was reported that the master cleaners intended raising the prices approximately 60 per cent on March 3. This increase would automatically restore the old $1.75 price for cleaning men's suits and $2.50 for women's dresses. Several months ago the master cleaners opened conflict with Ben Abrams of the Cleaners and Pressers' union and the price for cleaning men's suits dropped to $1.

RUTH McCORMICK INDORSED BY TWO BIG WARD GROUPS

37th and 41st Line Up Against Deneen.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's candidacy for the United States senate was indorsed last night by the regular Republican organizations of the two Chicago wards that cast the biggest party votes in the primary two years ago, the Thirty-seventh and the Forty-first.

In the former, at a meeting in headquarters at 1647 North Cicero avenue, the ward committeeman, Eden T. Brekke, presented a formal resolution which was adopted. In the Forty-first, the committeeman, Le Roy Milliner, urged the indorsement, pointing out that this was the first ward to indorse the late Medill McCormick when he was starting his first race for the senate in 1918.

Wins Jenkins' Home Ward

The action of the Milliner organization also was considered significant since this is the home ward of Newton Jenkins, a Farmer-Labor candidate for senator six years ago, who again is in the field. Jenkins formerly belonged to the organization. Milliner is an old Brundage leader now affiliated with the Thompson-Snow faction. Brekke lines up in the same way, but is considered primarily a follower of Charles V. Barrett.

In the 1928 primary the total Republican vote in the Thirty-seventh was approximately 26,000. In the Forty-first there were about 25,000 Republican ballots cast.

The substance of the Brekke resolutions follows:

"Ruth Hanna McCormick has taken a definite stand against the United States entering the world court or any other foreign alliances or entanglements.

Devotes Time to Duty.

"As congressman at large she has devoted all of her time and attention to the duties of that office and has not mingled in local, city, county or state politics and has not attempted to become a political dictator."

This second paragraph was considered aimed at Senator Deneen as the head of a county organization of his own and was taken to mean that other factional units battling the Deneenites, including the Brundage, Barrett, Snow and even some of the Thompson detachments, may line up behind Mrs. McCormick.

The Deneen headquarters announced that on Monday a separate campaign organization for its five candidates for the sanitary district will be started under the leadership of Col. Noble Brandon Judah, former ambassador to Cuba. The quintet will have their own headquarters in the same building with the general headquarters, but it is expected that special efforts on their behalf will more or less lead the local battle of the Deneenites.

Report Crowe in Deal.

Former State's Attorney Crowe's name came into political chatter again with the circulation of a report that in consideration of his delivering the votes of two Circuit judges to the Democrats in the election of a south park commissioner tomorrow morning his former first assistant, George E. Gorman, will be made attorney for the board.

Several weeks ago it became known that Crowe had promised to have two of the eleven Republican judges vote with the nine Democrats and insure the election of a Democrat, Benjamin F. Lindheimer, to succeed Commissioner Louis J. Behan, whose term expires this year. The two judges mentioned were Michael Feinberg and Stanley H. Klarkowski, with whose nemination and election in coalition or "setup" years Crowe is credited.

Mention Delay in Election.

More recently the reports have been that there would be an effort to have the judges postpone the selection of a commissioner until after the primaries because of possible public criticism of the deal and the chance that it would react against Crowe and against William R. Swissler, candidate for the board of review, whom Crowe describes as the only candidate in whom he is interested. He is quoted as declaring publicly that he will "trade and shop for votes" for Swissler wherever he can get them.

Attorney Gorman was a Democrat prior to his being Crowe's first assistant.

DENEEN STARTS HIS RE-ELECTION FIGHT MONDAY

Plans to Speak in 80 Counties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.] will commence his speaking campaign for renomination next Monday. He will start at Marshall, Clark county, and plans to cover 40 counties in southern Illinois next week by automobile.

The following week he is to start at Rock Island and also will visit 40 counties. He plans to complete his downstate tour in two and one-half weeks, which will leave about an equal amount of time for his campaign in Cook county. Senator Deneen will remain continuously on the stump during the five weeks before the primaries on April 8.

Plans 8 Speeches a Day.

In his speeches, Senator Deneen plans to deal with the tariff, farm relief, the world court, waterways and other pending questions. He will make from six to eight speeches a day. Senator Deneen's schedule for the first two days follows:

Monday—Marshall, Clark county, 9 a. m.; Greenup, Cumberland county, 10 a. m.; Effingham, Effingham county, 11 a. m.; Newton, Jasper county, 1:30 p. m.; Robinson, Crawford county, 3 p. m.; Lawrenceville, Lawrence county, 4:30 p. m.; Olney, Richland county, 8 p. m.

Tuesday—Flora, Clay county, 9 a. m.; Salem, Marion county, 10 a. m.; Centralia, Marion county, 11 a. m.; Mount Vernon, Jefferson county, 2 p. m.; Fairfield, Wayne county, 3:30 p. m.; Albion, Edwards county, 5 p. m.; Mount Carmel, Wabash county, 8 p. m.

Second Week's Schedule.

His tentative schedule for the following days of next week follows:

Wednesday—Carmi, White county; Harrisburg, Saline county; Shawneetown, Gallatin county; Elizabethtown, Hardin county; Goloonda, Pope county; Metropolis, Massac county.

Thursday—Vienna, Johnson county; Anna, Union county; Mount City, Pulaski county; Cairo, Alexander county; Carbondale and Murphysboro, Jackson county; Marion, Williamson county.

Friday—Herrin, Williamson county; West Frankfort, Franklin county; McLeansboro, Hamilton county; Duquoin and Pinckneyville, Perry county; Nashville, Washington county.

Saturday—Carlyle, Clinton county; Greenville, Bond county; Vandalia, Fayette county; Shelbyville, Shelby county; Pana, Montgomery county; Hillsboro, Montgomery county.

Senator Deneen has arranged to be paired with Senator Lee S. Overman [Dem., N. C.], during his absence from Washington. For 20 years Senator Overman, who is 76 years of age, had a standing pair with Senator F. E. Warren [Rep., Wyo.], who died recently.

WRECK INQUIRY JURORS RETURN AN OPEN VERDICT

Fail to Fix Blame for Crash; Another Dies.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury of six men brought in an open verdict tonight after it had deliberated an hour on evidence in the wreck of a North Shore train on the Washington road crossing north of Kenosha Sunday night.

The jury found that Norman Shinners and Frank Tomcyak, occupants of the car that was hit by the train, "met their death when they were struck by a North Shore passanger train."

In the case of nine other wreck victims, the jury found "they met their deaths while riding on a passenger train that was derailed and wrecked at the Washington road crossing."

Harold Carey, 42, 962 Mound street, Milwaukee, a passenger on the train, died tonight, the twelfth wreck victim. He was a machinist.

Courtroom Crowded.

Two hours before the inquest was scheduled to start the courtroom was filled with spectators. Officials from the North Shore line, representatives of the state railroad commission, and the legislative interim traffic committee were present.

The story of the wreck was told by three eye-witnesses.

Algot Linquist, 43, factory worker, and Miss Irene Sand, 37, a friend, said they had halted in an automobile near the crossing waiting to let the train go by when a car driven by Norman E. Shinners, 19, Milwaukee, passed them, drove on the tracks and was struck by a southbound North Shore passenger train. They said they saw the auto hurled into the air, saw a flash of fire when the gas tank exploded, and then saw the automobile fall in the path of a northbound freight train on the adjoining track.

Motorman is Witness.

The third eye-witness was Harry Norris, Chicago, motorman on the freight train. Norris said he applied the emergency brakes on his train when he saw that the Shinners car would not stop. He was 400 feet from the crossing at the time. His train was derailed and the locomotive was stopped 200 yards beyond the crossing.

IDENTIFIES TWO AS BANDITS.

Gus Hagreon, 300 East 24th street, a grocer, yesterday identified William Nelson and James Finnerty as the bandits who robbed him of $19 on Jan. 26. Nelson and Finnerty were arrested when a pistol was found in the taxicab in which they were riding.

ENTRY LISTS SHORT FOR MUNICIPAL COURT BAILIFF AND CLERK

When City Clerk Patrick Sheridan Smith last night declared 9 o'clock the deadline for filing primary petitions for chief clerk and bailiff of the Municipal court and locked up his office, it was found that the entry lists were short. In the tabulation below the abbreviations indicate the following: [D] Deneen, [S] Snow-city hall, [R] Regular:

REPUBLICAN.

CHIEF CLERK—James A. Kearns [D], Carl A. Johanson [S], William F. Biesterfeldt, Edward O. Phister, Sverre Johanson.

DEMOCRATIC.

CHIEF CLERK—Joseph L. Gill [R], Frank T. Baranowski.

BAILIFF—A. J. Horan [R], Otto F. Jahousek.

Chief Clerk Kearns is the only candidate for renomination, Bailiff Snow having decided not to run again in order to be free to manage his organization's campaign.

TWO YOUTHS SENTENCED.

Vandalia, Ill., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Chester Harris, 24, and Arthur Hamblen, 17, both of Vandalia, were sentenced to one year in the state penal farm for the theft of aluminum patterns from a furnace company here. Both youths pleaded guilty.

JUDGE ASSAILS BOOK SNOOPER; FREES SELLER

P. A. Stevens, owner of a book store at 500 North Michigan avenue, who was arrested on the complaint of the Illinois Vigilance association on a charge of selling obscene literature, was discharged by Judge Joseph Schulman in the Morals court yesterday, after the judge had censured the association's investigator and his tactics.

Attorney William B. Henry, who represented Stevens, explained that the case was one of entrapment, claiming that the investigator, Charles Brown, had asked the bookseller to order the book for him. Henry said Brown declared that he wanted the book to give to a physician friend as a Christmas present.

"I have heard evidence in a number of these cases, and I know Brown's unfair tactics," Judge Schulman said. "If he was here I would not believe him on oath."

Neither Brown nor the Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Vigilance association, was in court. Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Nagle said Brown was no longer employed by the association.

FIRE VICTIM SUCCUMBS.

Michael Lubera, 50 years old, died yesterday in the county hospital of burns suffered on Feb. 9 in a fire which destroyed a dwelling at 4344 Honore street. His landlady, Mrs. Bernie Parks, 53 years old, was suffocated in the fire.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

WARNING to Local Women:

Water here is too hard for best washing results

10c PACKAGES 12 oz. 32-oz. pkg. 25c

CLIMALENE
Water Softener and Soap Saver

IN spite of the hard water in this city you can get the finest results in any type of washing by following the example of other local housewives.

They are using a new discovery that turns hard water into soft—thus increasing cleansing power of soap 4 times over! It eliminates dingy gray and faded washing. Stops "soap eat" of fine fabrics. And it actually cuts washing time one-half.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends danger of "soap eat" to fragile things.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time, too—in either dishpan or washing machine—ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1929 women used over 24,000,000 packages of Climalene—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's home washing.

We wash gold encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages. 171

Ex-Shah of Persia Dies in Paris at 32—a Victim of Night Life

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 27.—A fat little man, well known to the bars and fleshpots of the continent, died in the American hospital at Neuilly this afternoon, a prey to just about all the maladies there are.

He was Ahmed Mirza, once shah of Persia at the age of 16, and lately just another continental spendthrift.

Sick in the American hospital for almost a year with an appalling complication of ailments, the former shah was operated on two days for kidney trouble and died this afternoon from sheer weariness at the age of 32.

Had Eighteen Wives.

His brother, Mohammed Hassen, and his secretary, Saleh Khan, were at his bedside, when the scion of the Kadjar dynasty, which ruled Persia from 1779 until the advent of the former army private to the throne in 1925, breathed his last. Tomorrow Imams will come from the Mohammedan mosque in Paris to prepare the body of the one time "commander of the faithful" for burial.

Ahmed Mirza took 18 wives when he came into power, and showed signs of energy in attempting to unify his country. But the fat little fellow who played the night life of Paris showed none of that.

Paris got in Ahmed Mirza's blood. He used to come to France with checks for $1,000,000 and his affairs became a legend. News of them ruined him at home, but when he was deposed in November, 1925, by the hardy Riza Khan he was too happy here to care much.

The day of his coronation he could not put the glittering crown of the shah on his head; it was too big and too heavy. He held it in his lap.

Famous Jewels Gone.

What has become of the former shah's fabulous collection of jewels none knows, but the jewelers of Paris look wise and say they have been sold piece by piece until they are almost gone.

The hospital staff had great trouble with his servants and with the former shah. Not very sick at first, he would not behave. He was always wanting to give exotic parties in his rooms.

JURY ADJOURNS TODAY; NO TAX INQUIRY ACTION

The February grand jury, which demanded evidence against higher-ups instead of petty clerks, will pass out of existence today and will not vote any indictments in the tax inquiry started by State's Attorney Swanson. The jury, which heard the story of Lawrence Hoffman, University of Illinois student, will be given no additional evidence before adjournment this afternoon.

Hoffman was arrested last week and confessed that he had made changes in some of the tax records. He named Herman J. Goldberg, a real estate agent, who denied any connection with any irregular proceeding. It was then that the jury told the prosecutors to get evidence against higher-ups instead of petty clerks, if such evidence exists.

Robert Wall, an associate of Goldberg, was taken before the grand jury yesterday, but he, too, denied guilt in any of Hoffman's transactions. Three clerks of the board of review were called to the state's attorney's office for questioning. They are Louis Rotheiser, a land valuation clerk, Herman Heineman, chief clerk in charge of files, and Percy J. Schultheis, assistant to James Louer, chief office clerk.

Seize "Lawyer" on Charge of Practicing Sans License

Charles A. Messmore, 1405 Hyde Park boulevard, who says he is an attorney, was arested yesterday by Sergt. Arthur Wentzel of the state's attorney's office on a charge of embezzlement and practicing law without a license. He was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt and said that he was licensed to practice law in Indiana. Dr. Lucy Gilbert, osteopathic physician, 1569 Howard street, caused the arrest of Messmore.

2 Boy Scouts Give Blood in Vain to Save Cousin, 3

The valiant but vain sacrifice made by two Evanston Boy Scouts in an effort to save the life of their 3 year old cousin was revealed yesterday by the death of Stefania Wawrzyniak, 3 years old, 1443 Pitner avenue, Evanston. The child died in the Evanston hospital of broncho-pneumonia, complicated by an infection in her throat, after an illness of nine days. The two cousins, Francis Wawrzyniak, 16 years old, and his brother, Chester, 14, both members of Scout troop, No. 20, of the Ascension school, each gave a pint and a half of his blood in a transfusion operation on Wednesday in an effort to save Stefania.

KILLED AS TRAIN HITS RUM TRUCK; CACHE IS FOUND

Liquor Is Uncovered Near Sicilian's Grave.

Peter Nickolitch, 50 years old, 103 West 13th street, Gary, was killed yesterday when his motor truck, loaded with liquor, was struck by a Michigan Central passenger train near Willow creek, eight miles east of Gary.

Porter county authorities started an investigation after finding the liquor in the wrecked truck and raided Nickolitch's home in the dunes, near where Paul Perconti, Sicilian gang leader, was found slain and buried in a crypt under a barn floor on Monday. The police found a large quantity of whisky buried in an orchard at Nickolitch's home and arrested Mitor Kolask and Mike Spanack, whom they found there.

Three men were injured, one seriously, and a score of passengers on a State street car were shaken up yesterday afternoon when the street car crashed into a truck at State and 15th streets. The motorman, M. J. Hayes, witnesses said, was quarreling with a teamster over the right of way after the teamster had pulled to the side of the street and drove into the truck. William Sloan, 32 years old, 159 West 37th street, suffered internal injuries, and David Baum, 60 years old, 3859 Grenshaw street, and Michael Reszke, 37, 2649 North Artesian avenue, were less seriously hurt. All were riding in the car.

Two deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 132. The victims:

Matthew Worle, 65 years old, 5013 Winnemac avenue. Fatally injured when struck by an automobile at Elston and Cicero avenues. The driver, L. N. Keller, 3643 Grace street, was not held.

Stephen Lukvaskes, 10 years old, 6944 Archer avenue. Died last night in the German Deaconess hospital of a skull fracture incurred Wednesday night when he was run down by a sedan at Archer and Sayre avenues. The driver, William Murphy, of Summit, Ill., was not held.

A coroner's jury held Benjamin Ptak, 23 years old, 4752 South Kedvale avenue, to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter after investigating the death of Mrs. Hazel Evern, 37 years old, 5121 South Homan avenue, on Feb. 16.

Policemen Charles Kraatz and Thomas Burke of the Deering station were injured last night when the police "flivver" which Kraatz was driving collided with a mail truck at 31st street and Union avenue and treatment.

CABARET GIRL'S BROTHER LOOTS HER FLAT; JAILED

A burglar entered Miss Violet Meeker's apartment at 3208 Sheffield avenue Wednesday night while she was at work and stole trinkets valued at $500. Miss Meeker is an entertainer at the Cotton club, a cabaret at 5400 West 22d place, Cicero, operated by Ralph Capone and managed by Michael (Bon Bons) Allegretti.

Miss Meeker complained to Town Hall police and Detective Hoban was assigned to the case. After investigating all day yesterday Hoban went to 19 East Division street last night and there arrested Miss Meeker's 18 year old brother, Wilbur. The missing trinkets, including a miniature gold baseball given to Miss Meeker by Elwood English, a ball player on the Cubs team, were found in the youth's room. Miss Meeker signed a complaint charging her brother with burglary.

Your physician will say

"Yes, give them Bottled Sunshine"

Your physician will tell you of a simple but very effective way to help children keep up to par in weight, vitality and endurance during the years of most rapid growth.

Child specialists find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—given daily, builds up depleted vitality and increases general resistance to infections. It helps the underweight child to put on flesh and grow as he should.

The factors that make cod-liver oil such a valued health-builder are Vitamins A and D. Vitamin A promotes normal growth and nutrition, and increases resistance to infections. Vitamin D is the "sunshine vitamin" which growing children particularly need, since modern ways of living give them so little sunshine.

In prescribing cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify Squibb's. They advise it because it is tested and guaranteed to be very rich in the vitamins that protect, Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil as a health-builder for your child. You can now get Squibb's Mint-flavored Cod-Liver Oil which appeals to older children especially. All good drug stores have it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil.

POLICE WRECK REDS' OFFICE; SEEK LEADERS

hree Raids Net Twelve Prisoners.

I'm a Bum!" by way of chanting a battle song, and since no one who saw them could doubt it that spoiled everything.

Chicago lies in district 8 of the communist party's plan of organization. This district is composed of lower Wisconsin, Lake county, Ind., all of Illinois, and all of Missouri. It is revealed that the communist party has less than 1,000 members in the Chicago metropolitan area, with an estimated population of four and one-half millions. It is disclosed at the same time that there are less than 3,000 communists in the whole 8th district.

Since the 8th is the second largest district in the country, the United States with a population of 120 millions has in its borders some 30,000 to 40,000 probable radicals, if the proportion holds good throughout the country.

All the six leaders of district No. 8 have their headquarters in Chicago. The headquarters are in a building at 2021 West Division street, and most of the Reds live in that general vicinity.

Six Leaders Named.

Following are the leaders:

C. A. Hathaway, general organizer for district 8; Nels Kjar, industrial organizer; S. Milgrom, "agitprop" [agitation propaganda] director; Carl Sklar, local organization secretary; Louis Fisher, in charge of the publication of so-called shop papers, and F. Borich, organizer for section 3 of this district.

Stevan Zlnish, known as "language" secretary for this district, also until recently held forth in Chicago as a seventh in this band. He is now on the high seas on his way to Russia, having been deported.

The Chicago leaders have always had a hard time of it and never so hard a time as recently, it is stated, despite general unemployment. Ever since 1923, when the Reds were kicked out of all contact with the trade unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, they have been unable to rally even a successful gathering, much less a mass meeting. And this despite the constant help and counsel of William Z. Foster, for years the general director of them all.

Foster Brings Back Fund.

Incidentally, it is pointed out, Foster in December last year returned from Russia and he was reported to have cabled to his credit from Berlin $1,250,000, which, it was again reported, was to carry on from Jan. 1 to June 1, 1930.

The reports were to the effect that this money had come from the Soviet Third International and that it has been used to finance the recent attempted demonstrations in New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston, Waterbury, Conn., Chattanooga, Tenn., Chicago, and in other places.

The next demonstration, according to department of justice agents, is to be an international one. It is to be held on March 6 and the Reds in Rome, Berlin, and other European hotbeds are to be raging and ranting while the Reds in all the American cities are doing the same. They are to follow up their campaign to take advantage of unemployment and attempt to foment unrest.

Foster's Record Cited.

The attempt by the Reds to gain a real foothold in Chicago and the United States came soon after the world war. It was started here by Foster, who was a member of a car repair men's union, and Jack Johnstone, who belonged to the painters' union. Foster and Johnstone during the war had organized all the stockyards workers and controlled the old stockyards council, which had become a member of the Chicago Federation of Labor and thus automatically a member of the A. F. of L.

Foster and Johnstone became large figures in the Chicago Federation of Labor. They had a considerable following and were advocating the "One Big Union" of the old Wobblies—I. W. W.—and teaching their adherents to preach about the "militant minority."

"A militant minority can control a sleepy mass," was the teaching of Foster. "Get into the labor unions, keep your aims a secret, work under cover and bore from within!" were the instructions of Johnstone.

"Boring from within" became the watchword of the radicals. It proved an insidious way of winning members to the Red cause. Foster and Johnstone became so strong that in 1923 the late Samuel Gompers, then president of the American Federation of Labor, came to Chicago. He read John Fitzpatrick, president, and Edward Nockles, secretary, the "riot act," told them they would have to cut loose from Foster and his crowd or get out themselves.

When Foster, as a delegate to the last Farmer-Labor party convention, held in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, openly tried to have the convention declare for communism, Fitzpatrick and Nockles turned against him.

Foster kept on working, teaching his "militant minority" and "bore from within" doctrines, and for a time became much feared by the conservative leadership of the A. F. of L. He gained a large foothold in the United Mine Workers, in the fur workers, the needleworkers, and some of the textile workers' unions.

In the meantime Foster also was organizing the Trades Union Educational league, which now lives as the Trades Union Unity league; the International Labor Defense league, and other radical organizations. These were always affiliated with the communist and workers' parties and had names leading the unwary and uninformed to believe they were legitimate labor union organizations.

But with prosperity in the country the influence of Foster slowly waned and the whole radical movement went to pieces. Only a handful of the oft fanatical Reds remained in the various cities to keep the organization going. The bottom dropped out of it all when a vast sum of money was raised for the Sacco-Vanzetti defense and much of it never reached the headquarters where it was supposed to go. In Chicago alone $75,000 was raised and only $25,000 was reported to have reached Boston.

Foster is absolved from any blame in this by all who know him. Even his enemies say that Foster is an honest man. They call him a zealot with a dream. The "movement" never really recovered from the Sacco-Vanzetti blow. Despite the loud outcries of the Reds and their attempts to stage demonstrations it is at its lowest ebb today.

START UNRAVELING RAIL TANGLE; COST WILL BE $4,500,000

The unraveling of one of the world's most complicated tangles of railroad tracks was started yesterday at 16th and Canal streets, where complete separation of grades will eliminate 746 daily train stops and save five minutes in each direction in the time of all passenger trains operating over the network. The work of grade separation will be finished next November.

Canal street will cross over the tracks of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Pennsylvania railroad on a concrete highway, 80 feet wide and 225 feet long, supported by a new steel bridge. In turn, the tracks of all roads entering the Grand Central station and the tracks of the St. Charles Air line will cross Canal street on two new steel viaducts. The work will cost $4,500,000.

Four main line tracks and eleven yard tracks of the Burlington and four through lines and twelve switch tracks of the Pennsylvania will pass under Canal street, under the new arrangement, the Pennsylvania line being located on property acquired from the Burlington under the river straightening agreement with the city. On the elevation leading to the Grand Central station will be the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio, over which the Chicago Great Western, Pere Marquette, and Soo Lines operate as tenants.

The present Burlington passenger station at 16th and Canal streets will be abandoned and a new station will be opened at Halsted street.

NO. SHORE WIFE CONFESSES LOVE RACKET BY MAIL

Because she sent affectionate letters to lonesome men in various cities offering to marry them if they sent carfare Mrs. Billie Nelson, Lake Forest housewife, was questioned yesterday by Postal Inspector V. E. Albertie. The inspector acted after some of the men complained that they had sent money through the mails to Mrs. Nelson, only to find that that was as far as the matter went.

Mrs. Nelson was reported to have admitted her "mail order affections" racket, which, she said, had netted her several hundreds dollars. Her method, she said, was to inclose a picture of herself in the letter, to add that she was a widow, and offer to become the correspondent's wife if money was sent for transportation. A fee of $25 was the smallest she ever received from a prospect, she told Albertie.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free from Fat

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit, also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most Salts, Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c—at any drug store in America—take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals, and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

HANDSOME—sure he was. A man that women liked—at least, at first sight.

But he was a kind of gentleman butterfly: flower to flower.

And now in the very middle of his romantic career he met a girl who held his fancy. He wanted to marry her. But there was some invisible barrier between them.

And she never told him why!

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth. And being a powerful deodorant, it destroys all odors, leaving the breath fresh, sweet, and clean. It puts you on the safe and polite side.

Moreover, in using Listerine to combat halitosis, you are quite sure to avoid sore throat and those more serious illnesses that start with throat infections. Because such infections are caused by germs—and Listerine kills germs. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 yield to it in 15 seconds.

SENATE REJECTS LUMBER DUTY BY 34 TO 39 VOTE

Combination Threatening Bill Believed Broken.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—After a lengthy debate enlivened by charges that old fashioned log rolling methods were being employed, the senate late tonight rejected a proposal to impose a duty on lumber, now on the free list.

The vote on a tariff amendment by Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.] was 34 to 39. It provided for a duty of $2 per 1,000 feet on fir, spruce, hemlock, and spruce lumber.

The senate held its first night session in the final drive to dispose of the long pending tariff bill. The vote on the lumber amendment came after seven hours of debate. The senate, on adjournment at 10 o'clock tonight had been in continuous session for 11 hours.

Combination Crushed.

The adverse action on the Jones amendment seemed to mark the collapse of a combination which threatened not only to impose a duty on lumber but also to place a duty on crude petroleum and petroleum products, now on the free list, and to increase the duty on sugar. The combination also was said to be ready to take in hides, another item now on the free list, and to aid in withstanding attacks on duties on cement and brick which are provided in the bill as it now stands.

Rumors which had been current all day were aired in the debate. Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], who was one of the leaders in the opposition to the duty on lumber, first made the flat charge that sectional trades were being made. He asserted that there would be an accounting on the bill and that senators would be obliged to justify their votes.

Morris Reads Names.

Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], radical leader, warned senators that votes on the lumber amendment would show whether or not the report of trades and log rolling were correct. He read a list of members of the finance committee who had voted unanimously against a duty on lumber and said that there would be demands for reasons for any changes in votes which might take place. He referred to reports of a deal involving "oil, sugar and lumber."

If the lumber amendment had been adopted it would have meant a reversal of sentiment in the senate, as expressed in November, when finance committee amendments were approved, restoring various kinds of lumber and shingles, on which duties had been imposed in the house bill, to the free list. The vote for free shingles at that time was 49 to 29.

How They Voted.

Eight senators who voted against a duty on shingles, voted for a duty on lumber tonight. There were two shifts the other way. Among the eight was Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.], who has been active for a duty on oil. Voting for the Jones amendment were 25 Republicans and 9 Democrats. Against it were 19 Republicans and 20 Democrats.

Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], Robert M. La Follette and John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], L. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], and Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] were among those voting against a duty on lumber. Senator Daniel Steck [Dem., Ia.] was paired against it. Senators James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.] and A. H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] favored it.

TWO ARE VICTIMS OF BANDITS.

Within a brief interval yesterday morning two armed robbers riding in a blue sedan held up James Britt, 2815 Farrell street, and T. J. Gooch, 7606 South May street, in the Gresham police district, obtaining $11 from Britt and a gold watch from Gooch.

FIRST YANK TO DIE FOR FRANCE IN WORLD WAR IS HONORED IN PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The first American citizen who died fighting for France was remembered in a little ceremony today at the monument to American volunteers in the Place des Etats-Unis, not far from the American embassy.

A wreath was placed there by the Association of American Volunteer Combatants in memory of Edward Mandell Stone, who died 15 years ago and was awarded by France the military medal and the croix de guerre. He served in the Foreign Legion and was wounded Feb. 17, 1915, in the trenches near Oraonelle in the Aisne department. Ten days later he died, aged 27.

Stone was living in Paris when war broke out. He volunteered immediately. He was the son of Henry Baldwin Stone, vice president of the Burlington road.

CYANAMID SPENT $168,768 TO GET MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid company, today told the senate lobby committee his company has spent $168,768 in efforts to secure control of the government owned Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer project in Alabama.

Details of the expenditures were not asked by the committee, which seemed more interested in attempting to compel Bell to admit that his company had negotiated an agreement with the Alabama Power company and other power companies for division of the power to be produced at Muscle Shoals if the Cyanamid bid for the project was accepted.

Cross-examination of Bell will be interrupted tomorrow by the appearance of Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Oil Producers' association and reputed chief of a band of oil lobbyists concentrated in Washington during the last week in expectation of senate action tomorrow on the oil schedule in the pending tariff bill. Former Senators J. W. Harreld and T. P. Gore, both of Oklahome, also may be called by the committee, it was intimated tonight.

600,000 WON TO INDO-CHINA FAITH, MEDLEY OF CULTS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 27.—A new religion described as a mixture of Taoism, Confucianism, Buddhism, and Christianity is playing an important part in the present revolutionary agitation in Indo-China.

Under the leadership of Le Van Trung, former adviser to the French government and an officer of the Legion of Honor, "Cao Daism," as the new cult is called, is making a strong appeal to the more intelligent portions of the population, especially natives employed in government services.

From a humble beginning in 1926 with several hundred adherents it has grown to be a flourishing religion counting 600,000 enthusiastic converts and 3,000 priests.

HOLD UP CHAUFFEUR, LOOT HOME.

Two masked gunmen held up Peter A. Perio, a chauffeur of 208 Hill street, early yesterday as he returned to his home, accompanied him into the house and looted the rooms of articles worth $500, including a radio and gold watch. They fled in a blue sedan.

GET RID OF IT!

Constipation causes a condition of "self-poisoning" that makes it easy for germs to lurk in your system and to do their worst.

When Nature needs assistance, dissolve a teaspoonful of the genuine, imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt in a large glass full of water and take this just before retiring for the night. Not like other salts—pleasant to take. At all drug stores.

Miss Ella E. Helgeson of Chicago writes: "My friends thought I would never be able to do any work—but Carlsbad Sprudel Salt fooled them all. I am telling everybody about it!"

MRS. BRANDON'S LOVE SUIT MUST BE TRIED AGAIN

Hopelessly Divided Jury Dismissed by Judge.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The red triangle suit ended in a deadlock this afternoon when a mixed jury of young and old men found itself unable to agree on a verdict after three hours and ten minutes of heated deliberation. Mrs. Frances Marion Brandon, the triangle woman, and George J. Gillespie, her "holy man," are just where they were before the suit for $500,000 for breach of promise began, except that they have let the public in on a lot of intimate details of their respective lives.

Mortimer Hays, attorney for Mrs. Brandon, announced after the jury had been dismissed, that he would ask that the suit be set for retrial during the April term of the Supreme court.

It was almost dark inside the courtroom this afternoon when the jurors marched into the box. Three of them were scowling, a couple wore broad grins, and the others strode to their seats with set faces. Mrs. Brandon was not in the room and Mr. Gillespie, after accepting rather premature congratulations from his legal staff and friends, long since had disappeared for his home. The spectators' benches were filled with curious women, many of them right out of the social register.

No one on the Gillespie side had any statement to make after the trial had ended.

Auto Dealer Seized for Quiz in $100,000 Fraud

Harrison J. Monroe, head of the Auburn-Woodlawn company, an automobile sales agency, was arested yesterday by Detectives William Brady and Joseph Keating of the state's attorney's office. Chief Investigator Pat Roche said that he believed Monroe had kited automobile finance paper to the extent of about $100,000. It was found that he has sold the same paper three or four times in some instances. Monroe, who lives at 5520 Cornell avenue, is reported to have lost money gambling.

Learn of Harold H. Swift Illness by Banquet Absence

The absence of Harold H. Swift from a University of Chicago alumni banquet Wednesday evening, provoked inquiries which led to the discovery yesterday that he has been ill two weeks in Albert Billings Memorial hospital. Mr. Swift, who is president of the university board of trustees, seldom misses a university function. "It's nothing serious—I'm merely here under observation," said Mr. Swift.

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER, famous beauty, stage star, and cosmetician, today at 64 has the complexion, hair, figure and suppleness that a girl of 16 would envy. These results were achieved through methods perfected by her, that have revolutionized the cosmetic world. Used by thousands of others, they prove the absolute truth of Miss Hopper's rallying cry, "Every woman can be beautiful—no woman need ever look old!"

The New Theory of Restoring YOUTH ...to complexions growing old

WHY does the skin on your face fade and wrinkle while that on your body stays soft and fresh? Why do the petals of a rose wilt? In those seemingly unrelated questions is the key to preserving and restoring youth to your cheeks.

Your skin when in full bloom, like the petals of a rose, is 90% water. When its moisture evaporates, it fades and wilts. An old skin is a dried out skin.

While nature has devised no way to stay the shriveling of the rose, she is kinder to your complexion. She gives out through the pores a transparent substance that covers the skin with an indetectable film that prevents excessive evaporation, thus keeping the moisture in the skin.

To Keep Your Skin Young, Always Keep It Moist

All Nature asks of women who would keep their complexions young is that they keep open the tiny facial ducts exuding the film that conserves the moisture. If this is prevented by clogging, excessive evaporation occurs . . . the natural color dulls . . . the skin becomes lifeless . . . wrinkling sets in . . . the complexion grows old.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth will keep these ducts open. A morning and night application patted on the face will sink deep into the ducts. Instantly those accumulations of powder, rouge, dust—accumulations on which water, soap, cold cream have no effect—are dissolved. The pores are opened up so the body can give your skin the protection which nature intended it to have.

To Restore Youth to Your Skin, Restore Its Moisture

While it is not possible to inject into the withered petals of the rose the moisture lost by evaporation, Nature will restore moisture to a skin that has been dried out by excessive evaporation. She will undo the damage done and give the skin back its youth. If because of a long period of neglect or ill health these facial ducts do not give out sufficient of this film, there is that quality in Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth which makes good this natural lack. Evaporation is prevented. Nature has the chance to store up in the skin the moisture needed to make it look young. Thus the seeming miracle of skin rejuvenation is accomplished through the use of scientific laws that determine the youthfulness of your skin.

CITIZENS OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION.

W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, gave his opinion of national prohibition at the house judiciary committee hearings on the new enforcement bills. He is opposed to the Volstead act because it has caused intemperance, disorder, and corruption instead, as its supporters expected, of temperance with better social conduct and better government.

Railroading was an organized opponent of brewers and distillers when they had control of legislative bodies as the prohibitionists have now. Railroad corporations had to fight what was then described as the liquor traffic, meaning the system of saloons and incitement of drinking, the promotion and control of the trade by stupid brewers and unconscionable whisky makers, and also the control, by them, of legislatures and public administration wherever possible and by any means possible.

Such dictation finally excited general public resentment and gave the prohibitionists the opportunity which they carried, unwisely, to an extreme the consequences of which are no longer tolerable. Not many Americans could foresee what these consequences would be. They did not perceive that they were permitting an injury to be done to the whole idea of their government with its division of federal and state authority and its protection of individual rights. They did not know that they were preparing for intemperance in social habit, in political action, and in the making and enforcing of law.

Mr. Atterbury is only one of the old opponents of the old liquor system who finds that under the Volstead act conditions are worse. The Du Pont de Nemours company is another corporation which cannot have intoxicated men in its works, but the officials of that company, formerly on the blacklist of the brewers and distillers, agree with the president of the Pennsylvania railroad. The men who now ask for recognition of the fact that the noble experiment is a failure are men of affairs whose concern is for temperate, orderly, decent life. College presidents such as Butler of Columbia, constitutional lawyers such as Beck of Pennsylvania, police executives such as former Chief Morgan Collins, experienced scientific observers such as Dr. Francis Gerty of the Chicago psychopathic hospital are only representative of the great body of intelligent opinion in the country which cannot ignore the consequences of this great mistake of national prohibition.

In the opinion of THE TRIBUNE the complete cure requires the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the return of the police powers to the states which unwisely confefred them on the federal government for the suppression of the manufacture, sale, and transportation of alcoholic beverages. That also is the view of other opponents of Volsteadism as it is under this amendment and was recommended this week by Dr. Butler of Columbia in a letter to the judiciary committee of the house of representatives. It may be necessary to proceed by expedients, one of which would be the repeal of the Volstead act, but the complete constitutional, administrative, and social remedy is wholly to undo what has been done, to put the federal government back where it belongs in the American system, and again to allow the states to control the use of intoxicating beverages according to the will of their people. That will be law. This is not.

GAS WARFARE AGAIN.

Although British official policy, like that of the United States, has favored the adoption of a convention prohibiting the use of what is loosely termed "poison gas" in warfare, there is in both countries very respectable dissent. The distinguished British authority on chemistry, J. B. S. Haldane, brother of the late Lord Haldane, has written and spoken against the prohibition and asserted that the use of chemical gases is in fact an amelioration of methods of warfare, and Dr. Levinstein, president of the Society of Chemical Industry, has recently delivered an address strongly supporting that view. He holds with Dr. Haldane that chemical gases are more humane as well as more effective than shells.

This view counters the public opinion created during the war by sensational reports of the agonies of gas poisoning, an opinion adopted without reservation by the humanitarian and pacifistic organizations both in Great Britain and the United States and followed by both governments.

Dr. Levinstein also raises the objection that a prohibition of gas warfare will not be obeyed under pressure of military necessity and cannot be effectually enforced. The combatant most inclined to respect it would be at disadvantage in case its foe broke the convention. Both the British and American people are much influenced by humanitarian sentiment and recoil from the extreme logic of force. They are therefore more likely than their probable adversaries to be caught at disadvantage.

But apart from this argument, which offends the humanitarian, Dr. Levinstein pointed out weaknesses in the prohibitory protocol of 1925, to which the British and American governments have given their approval. He calls attention to the poisonous effects of screening smoke, which the protocol does not limit, and which no government is willing to prohibit. He reminds us also that high explosive shells generally produce poisonous fumes and the protocol does not provide against these effects. He asks if tear gas, used in the United States especially in case of riots or raids, comes within the terms of the prohibition.

In short, Dr. Levinstein raises questions not only as to the wisdom of the prohibition generally but also as to the terms of the protocol. If we must submit to the insistence of a humanitarian sentiment which ignores facts, we ought at least, it appears, to reëxamine the terms of the protocol and amend them so that they will cover obvious evasions of its general intention. We suggest that the American Legion investigate this matter in all its aspects, without prejudice and with the aid of experts.

ONE SEAWAY ASSURES TWO.

Another move has been made in the dominion parliament looking toward the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway. A Conservative member from Toronto, Mr. T. L. Church, has introduced a resolution calling upon the Canadian government to negotiate a treaty with the United States for the building of the seaway for navigation and power.

There is as much, or, more accurately, as little, reason to expect results from this resolution as from its many ill fated predecessors. The fact is that Canadian opinion is sharply divided on the issue and is likely to remain so until the opposition is forced to change its views by economic necessity. Eastern Canada and Canadian seaboard interests will not, for the most part, approve the canalization of the St. Lawrence until the need of it is made manifest to them, and no amount of propaganda and agitation is likely to override their veto. The strength of Canadian opposition has been underestimated by advocates of the seaway in both countries.

The one way to win eastern Canada to support the seaway is to complete the Mississippi waterway. When traffic which might have moved down the St. Lawrence moves to the sea on the Mississippi a change of heart in the dominion may be expected to follow. Advocates of the great lakes seaway in this country can do their cause no better service, then, than to encourage, by all means in their power, congressional appropriations for the completion of the lakes-to-gulf waterway and the improvement of the upper Mississippi to a depth of nine feet.

Canadian opposition to the diversion at Chicago is in reality intended to prevent the rise of a competitor. As long as the central states have no outlet to the sea Canada need make no investment in the St. Lawrence. Once the route to the gulf is opened Canada must make terms or suffer a loss.

THE BRIDGE NUISANCE.

Opposition to reasonable bridge closing hours comes mainly from tug owners and sand sucker operators, and the more important representatives of water transport should not give it support. The issue is between the three million people of Chicago, who directly or indirectly are interested in the relief of traffic congestions, and a comparatively small selfish interest. We think the war department has been too much impressed by the latter and takes too narrow a view of its responsibilities respecting navigation. The war department, as the federal agency charged with the regulation of navigation, is not relieved from the duty of protecting the interest of three million citizens of the United States in Chicago. This duty is as clear and direct as that of protecting river navigation. The city does not ask unreasonable terms. It does ask that the loss to its citizens imposed by bridge opening in rush hours be more seriously considered as against the claims of a special interest.

STILL AT THE OLD STAND.

Year after year the changes in suburban railroad schedules in the Chicago area are negligible. We venture the guess that the Illinois Central has added more trains to its list in the last few years than all the other suburban lines have added in a generation. Saplings have grown to sturdy oaks in Riverside, Glen Ellyn and Highland Park, but the "C" and the North Western are doing business at the old stand. Meanwhile the automobile and other rival methods of transportation have walked away with a considerable share of the business.

Chicago has been let down by all but one of its suburban steam lines. They have failed to grasp the opportunity to build up the communities they serve and thereby to build up their own business. Philadelphia and New York, where the directors live, have benefited from a more enlightened policy, as so, too, have the railroads concerned.

Editorial of the Day

REVISE THE GAME LAWS.

[The Prairie Farmer.]

It is time for a drastic change in our game laws. The country is too well settled and too well cultivated to permit indiscriminate hunting on other people's property.

Our present game laws take it for granted that any person has an inherent right to hunt on the land of others unless specifically forbidden to do so. That theory should be exchanged for the principle that no man has a right to hunt on the land of another without special permission.

The common law principle that wild birds and animals belong to the public was good law when most of the land was public domain. It is no longer good law and should be superseded by statutes providing that game is the property of the land owner and cannot be killed by others without his permission.

Hunting as a pastime is going to be available to fewer and fewer persons. This is inevitable because there is less wild land and less game, and because modern weapons make it easier to kill what there is. Hunting in the near future will have to be restricted chiefly to public lands and to land owners who hunt on their own land. What small amount of game may be produced annually on a cultivated middle western farm by every right belongs to the farmer and his boys. There is no reason in justice or equity why any one else should be permitted to hunt or kill it without special permission.

Present game laws are a relic of pioneer days. It is high time to revise them to fit modern conditions.

REVERSE ENGLISH.

A city man out on a winter walk was crossing a large meadow.

"I say, Giles," he shouted to the farmer in an adjoining field, "is that bull over there quite safe?"

"Well," drawled the farmer, "I reckon he's a lot safer than you are just now."—Toronto Globe.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WELL, THEN, WHY SUGGEST THE THING?

Yesterday, as we read with breathless interest (lykell, lykell, lykell) the very latest news of the naval parley in London, we were told that the delegates of the Big Four—that's all the nations represented except France—had issued a solemn ukase to the world declaring that the conference was not dead. Well, who said it was? Hey!

Looking on from this distance we may have thought the London parley was a little sick, or had winter itch, or fallen arches, or a hob-nailed liver, or something, but we never said it was dead. At times we may have thought it was paralyzed from the neck down, or even from the feet up, but we thought the poor thing might pull through. The bulletins from the sick room have seemed to us more or less encouraging. We knew that the peace parley was languishing, but we always tried to believe it whenever the dispatches showed that it was able to sit up and take nourishment.

But the unexpected announcement from the watchers around the sick bed and the doctors and the nurses that the darned thing wasn't dead yet filled us with alarm. It sounded as though the next tidings would be that the last services would be held at St. James palace and thence by carriage to the abbey. And friends were requested not to send flowers and the French would kindly refrain from throwing bricks.

Well, anyhow, we know the thing isn't dead. Yet. The pulse seems to be running low and the doctors are shaking their heads and saying that they guess they'll have to operate. The pulmotor is probably on the way and they seem to have the conference wrapped up in hot blankets, with its feet in a mustard bath. About all the friends and relatives on this side of the Atlantic, or anywhere else—if it has friends and relatives anywhere else—can do is to wait. And tell the coroner to stand by.

WHAT: Forty earthquakes; good rollicking boys, too, within a few hours in California. But, remember, while you can call 'em earthquakes when you're here in the great middle west it is considered extremely boorish and unlettered hindish to call 'em that when you're touring in the w. k. Golden State. No, Laura, you distinctly do not speak of earthquakes in California. If you must refer to the silly things you call them fires.

HE IS testifying before the senate committee. He is writing a letter from San Francisco. He is walking down Wall street in New York. He just left Alabama for Washington. He is on a steamer that has just sailed from Liverpool for America. He is in St. Louis sending a telegram telling all. Who is? Why, the man that wrote the Muscle Shoals paragraph in former President Coolidge's message.

TO MY ANCESTORS.

I see you toiling down the tedious years,
You bearded, bent and gaunt old pioneers,
Sowing and reaping, sowing once again,
In patience, for an unborn race of men.

I see you struggling in the wilderness,
Where failure meant starvation, and success
A cabin in a clearing, rough-hewn, rude,
Garments of homespun and the humblest food.

Tradition scarcely tells me whence you came:
I only know a few of you by name;
I only know you lived and multiplied,
Quite profligate in progeny, and died.

Yet, in my heart, I know that most of you
Were strong and steadfast, and that one or two,
At least, had weaknesses that still may be Traced in the trend of atavistic me.

One, I am sure, was blest with Irish wit
(I'm thankful he transmitted some of it),
That helped him dodge Dame Trouble's swiftest dart,
And meet misfortune with a merry heart.

One was a rather worthless wight, I fear,
Who, when the bluebird whistled spring was near,
Forsook his plow—a shiftless, sluggard one!—
And roamed the woods alone with rod and gun.

And one a gentle dreamer was, I know,
Who, lured by shadows, let the substance go.
'Twas he who dared the raging western sea,—
I'm glad he handed down his dreams to me!

Lagniappe.

THE CANADIAN house of commons wouldn't allow the phrase, "shooting and murdering Canadian citizens," in a resolution condemning U. S. dry enforcement officers, because they were afraid that word murder might hurt our feelings here on this side of the boundary. Oh, goodness, Canada, don't mind us! We say murder as glibly and unconcernedly as we would say soft boiled eggs, or nice day, or gimme a ham sandwich with mustard on it. There is nothing like getting used to a thing.

AND NOW WE'RE TOLD that as a part of our reign of lawlessness the country is being flooded with counterfeit money, and most of it in small bills. But, ah, there's good in everything! If we get stuck with any of it maybe we can pass it off on our bootlegger.

SAYS FRED A. VICTOR, who describes himself as a "militant Methodist," and who has been elected state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League: "I am a militant, but a man or an organization can be militant, and yet decent and fair." Goodness gracious! Keep an eye on Fred. One of these days he'll tell us that two and two may be added together and yet make four!

THE WETS will finish their side of the case before the house judiciary committee next Tuesday. Then come the drys. The wets have brought facts and logic to prove that the 18th amendment should be on its way, but we think the drys will be louder; louder and funnier.

THIS IS IT! Feb. 28, the last day of the short month. All right, poke your head out of the window and listen. If the sun is shining bright you won't hear a darned thing. But if it's a cold, bleak, cloudy day, hark for the sound of an old army musket going off. Then you know that that old lyin' groundhog has got his. R. H. L.

CHILDREN AND CLOTHES.

A LIKING for clothes is a part of the education of Henry Adams and of all the other descendants of the founder of the Adam tribe. The original Adam wore nothing. The garment of the original Eve was a leaf or two and since then the Eves have been at least one leaf ahead of the Adams in this branch of education.

As a rule, boys 9 years of age and under prefer the Adam fashion. Girls graduate from the clothing kindergarten a year or two earlier. There are exceptions to the rule, girls supplying more of them than boys.

At somewhere about 10 to 12 years of age a desire to decorate the body with clothes develops. The education of Henry Adams is on the way. The color urge is primitive. It runs to reds, though any resplendent color will do. The power of convention begins to operate. Children want to outshine other children in dress. Again, girls are found to be leading the way, first in the urge for outstanding display, and later in the development of what is called taste. Somewhere about 12 the urge to conform to style, or at least to the mode which prevails locally, begins to dominate the picture.

Until this time children have been intolerant of tight garments, of stiff collars and shirts, and of roughness of fabric, especially of underwear. They are quite apt to complain of clothes as being too hot. They grow explosive about discomfort due to clothes. They would welcome changes in children's clothing which would make them more comfortable.

With the onset of adolescence fashion and modesty become dominating factors. Both boys and girls want clothes that are in style. They want to dress like fashion models or actors or, at least, as the best children in town or in college dress. They are more modest than they have ever been before or they will ever be afterward.

In their reaction to the dictates of fashion adults are not so easily grouped. One authority, however, supplies us with a personality grouping based on reaction to the dictates of fashion. Some of his groups are:

1. Accept styles passively.
2. Rebellion against all such dictates.
3. Not happy, but do not rebel.
4. Little satisfaction about being dressed up.
5. Wear clothes for protection only.
6. Pleasure from support of body by clothes.
7. Pleasure in thinking about and planning clothes.
8. Self-satisfied type.
9. Sublimated type.
10. Exhibitionist.

AMBIDEXTROUS.

Old F. writes:

I have had some fun with the ambidexterity question. Why not insist upon a youngster's hopping around on one foot? As a youngster myself, in athletics, horses, and what not, broken arms and fingers were more or less ordinary affairs. When things happened to my right I used the left as well as I could. Then, little by little, I got to using the right for the finer things—writing, eating, etc., and the left for heavier work—driving a nail, lifting, pulling, boxing, etc. Now then, if the right is bunged up, I can do those finer things fairly with the left, and if the left be on the blink, then much of the heavy stuff I can do with the right. And in a pinch I can use either or both, a dickens of a mean advantage in boxing or fencing. But, all around, I think the scheme is pretty nifty.

Early in their lives I tried to get the same kink into all eight of my youngsters, and as middle aged people they all swear by it, but haven't the snap to pass it on to their twenty offspring.

REPLY.

People vary constitutionally. Some have such a strong predominance of one hand they get in trouble when they try to become ambidextrous. Others succeed as you have done. Others are in between.

MARGARINE VS. BUTTER.

Mrs. J. C. C. writes: I have been using margarine both in cooking and on my table for the last five years. The other day a friend made the statement that margarine was less nutritious than butter. In cooking school we were always told that the fat in one was just as nutritious as in the other and that they were equally digestible.

REPLY.

You were correctly advised in cooking school.

SEE A PHYSICIAN.

R. C. De V. writes:

1. How can you tell if you have a cancer?

2. I have a lump in my left breast. Can you tell me what would cause it?

REPLY.

1. By watching the growth and appearance of growths, and having them examined.
2. Cancer might, or an injury. Have a physician examine it and decide for you.

ECHOES OF THE CRASH.

Rochelle, Ill., Feb. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Four months ago I paid a broker a sum of money as an initial payment on some stock to be purchased on the installment plan. I have a receipt for the money, but have never received a notice that the stock had been purchased for me, neither have I received a notice of any monthly payments. I wrote to him about the matter and he said that my account had been closed out. This also without any notice to me whatsoever. What can I do to force him to reimburse my initial payment? P. H. H.

If you are buying on margin and the market went down, then it would be proper for the broker to sell you out. Your rights depend on the wording of your contract with the broker.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

THE SPELL OF A SALESMAN.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A book agent came to my home and was so persistent he influenced me to buy a set of health books on monthly payments. Now my husband refuses to make any further payments. We have asked them to call for the book but they threaten to sue for the balance. Is the above considered a household necessity and can they collect? M. M.

It is not a necessity, but under Illinois law it would be a family expense and, as such, would be chargeable against your husband. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BRINGING BRIDE FROM GREECE.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—[Friend of the People.]—Can I go to Greece, marry and bring my bride to America free of the quota? I am an American citizen. E. M. H.

After the marriage takes place the husband should file petition for immigration visa, form 633, on behalf of his wife to have her enter the United States as a non-quota immigrant. After this is properly executed it should be sent to the commissioner general of immigration, Washington, D. C. Forms for this purpose may be obtained either at this office, 1348 Transportation building, or the American consulate in Greece. S. D. SMITH,
District Director of Immigration.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 28, 1865.

ST. LOUIS.—David Henderson, a Negro, was allowed to testify in the Recorder's court against a white man, the first instance of the new order of things on record in this state.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says that Gen. Lee has gone south to conduct the operations to oppose Sherman and has left Joe Johnston in command at Richmond and Petersburg. Reports of Lee's design shortly to abandon Richmond and Petersburg are repeated.

LOUISVILLE.—Gen. Palmer issued an order promising military protection to all deserters from the rebel armies who forthwith register themselves as renouncing further connection with the rebel government.

NEW YORK.—A Washington special says: "Mr. Washburne, member of congress from Illinois, received a letter from Gen. Grant in which he comments on Gen. Sherman in a hopeful vein. 'A few more days of success,' he says, 'will place the rebels in a situation from which they cannot escape.'"

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—W. A. Owsley and Miss Annie L. Fitzhugh, daughter of H. G. Fitzhugh, were married at the Fitzhugh home on Feb. 16 by the Rev. W. G. Craig.

NEW YORK.—The Charlotte, N. C., Democrat has a rumor that a cavalry fight took place between Columbia and Ridgeway in which "the Yankees were driven back." The Richmond Enquirer says the Yankee force east of the Mississippi river does not exceed 125,000 and declares the south is being conquered by one-third of her numbers. It makes an earnest appeal for southerners to come forward and drive out the invaders.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 28, 1900.

LONDON.—Gen. Cronje's unconditional surrender is believed to leave the way clear for Gen. Roberts' advance to Bloemfontein. French's cavalry is already on the way. With the surrender of Cronje, Gen. Roberts captured thirty subcommandants, including the German artillerist, Maj. Albrecht, 4,000 men and six guns of small caliber. The victory cost Gen. Roberts some 1,200 men killed and wounded. What the Boer casualties were is as yet unknown. The British are wondering what became of all the big guns Cronje had at Magerstontein and before Kimberley.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—Not since the death of Senator David Davis has Bloomington paid such homage to distinguished dead as that which marked the funeral of Gen. John McNulta. Surviving members of the 94th Illinois, which Gen. McNulta commanded during the civil war, came from all over the state to the services.

BALTIMORE. — John McGraw signed a contract to manage the Baltimore baseball team for one season for $6,000.

CHICAGO.—Miss Louise Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crawford, 2000 Calumet avenue, and Hayden James Bates of New York were married at Grace Episcopal church by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires. The maid of honor was Miss Hortense Mitchell, and the bridesmaids were Miss Florence Higinbotham, Miss Marguerite Mitchell, Miss Louise Dubarry of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Elsie Wardner of Milwaukee.

NEW YORK. — Frankie Bailey, famed as the most shapely of all the symmetrical young women of the Weber and Field chorus, slashed "Dave" Warfield, the comedian, with a rawhide whip. She said he had made unpleasant remarks about her. She lost her job.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 28, 1920.

DAYTON, O.—Blinded, numb and in a helpless stupor from terrific cold, Maj. R. W. Schroder of Chicago, chief test pilot at McCook field, fell more than six miles in two minutes with his disabled plane after climbing to the appalling height of 36,020 feet, a new world's altitude record. The machine dropped whirling over and over. At about 2,000 feet in the air the gasoline tanks collapsed under the sudden change of air pressure. It is believed this jolted the pilot to his senses sufficiently to bring the plane out of the tailspin and effect a landing. Army surgeons say Maj. Schroder will recover.

LONDON.—The allies have given up the idea of trying to force the United States to agree to their program for the disposal of the Adriatic controversy. Lloyd George and Millerand now agree that President Wilson's program would be the ideal way of settling the question.

SAN FRANCISCO.—William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Jack Kearns, were indicted by the federal grand jury here on a charge that they conspired to have Dempsey evade the selective draft during the war. The conspiracy charge provides for a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary and a $2,000 fine.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

UNIVERSAL CONSCRIPTION.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—I may possibly be scolded by some of my comrades for joining with THE TRIBUNE in looking with disapproval upon that sacred cow of the national executive committee of the American Legion, the universal draft bill, but, remembering I am a citizen before being a legionnaire, I feel I have the right to take public issue with the organization on matters of national moment.

In my judgment the executive committee should wrestle with the problems that are among us today and covering the face of the nation like the darkness of night, chief of which is unemployment among veterans and civilians alike, rather than spend troubled days and sleepless nights over something that never can be abolished, profiteering during wartime. Graft and corruption goes with war as wife beating goes with drunkenness.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, commenting on the subject, said in part, "While we know in every war men and money profiteer until they almost reach a criminal line, we have not yet been convinced that it is possible, through legislation, to compel the money of our country and the material things of our nation to be conscripted in time of war." Cain was a profiteer. "Joshua, the son of Nun, sent two men to spy secretly, saying, 'Go view the land, even Jericho.'" Jacob stealing his brother's birthright was a profiteer and down through the ages men have profiteered in war and in peace. Then on a rainy afternoon the executive committee of the American Legion, seeking an issue, says, "Let us change human nature," and proceeds to try and do so.

I am proud of my membership in the American Legion and to be a part of this great organization, brought into being for the purpose of giving aid and comfort to those broken on the wheel of the war. Were there no Legion, hard, indeed, would be the lot of the war's derelicts, but have in mind the expression of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans' bureau: "Our mission is hospitalization and rehabilitation." Let us help our comrades back to health and secure for them gainful occupation. Let us concern ourselves with the real and not the imaginary. Don't give up the substance for the shadow.

THOMAS K. DAVEY,
Chaplain of Englewood post, No. 61, American Legion.

WHO PAYS THE GAS TAX?

Chicago, Feb. 26.—If the gasoline tax is deducted from the income tax, who pays for the automobile roads besides the federal government and those auto owners who are too poor to have any income tax? Since the heavy auto users do not pay any gas tax why do they have so much to say about how and where it shall be spent by the state?

Why not deduct all expenses from the income tax and then shove the whole works onto Uncle Sam and his poorer citizens? The tax experts must be losing their nerve. M. D.

FISCAL REFORM.

Chicago, Feb. 25. — Why are Chicago taxes not paid by zones, fifty-two zones, each zone paying within a designated week, clearing up the city in a year? One man responsible for the money, total receipts for each week to equal amount taxed for zone or a jail sentence if amounts do not balance. All property to be taxed 10 per cent of the total amount of rental it would bring in yearly if fully rented. Confiscation of property and jail sentence for failure to pay tax in designated week.

FRANK R. MORGAN.

SOLVING THE FARM PROBLEM.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—In today's TRIBUNE Scrutator raised the real farm problem issue: There is too much land under cultivation and too many farmers, in spite of the fact that a constant stream of our population has been going to the city from the country. Following the revolutionary war period the population was distributed about as follows: Rural, 90 per cent; urban, 10 per cent. It is now approximately 75 per cent urban and 25 per cent rural. Economists say that in less than 25 years it will be the reverse of the first set of figures given above.

The increased yield of the farm can be traced to scientific farming, laboratory research and improved machinery. The demand for farm products has not and cannot keep up with the increased production. For ten years a constant surplus has kept prices down and made farming unprofitable. Farm trouble is always a forerunner of urban trouble. Farming is a basic industry. It must be a success else the time will come when we in the cities do not eat. Advice will not cure the trouble, nor will cureall legislation. The surplus must be decreased in a way that will be neither destructive of capital nor detrimental to the consumer.

Unwise legislation has been the cause of a great deal of this trouble. For instance, opening up to settlement lands not needed; reclamation projects politically promoted; vast areas drained that brought into use submarginal lands and injured valuable lands adjoining; permitted deforestation with no practical plan of reforestation. All of these projects were to the disadvantage of the practical farmer. In addition they destroyed vast natural resources—wild life, fur bearing animals, countless fish, and so on. This is anti-conservation.

The solution of the farm problem lies in constructive conservational activities that withdraw submarginal lands from cultivation. Provide game sanctuaries that will bring back our native birds, quail and prairie chickens which are valuable to all, including the farmer and the outdoors man; reverse unwise drainage projects and propagate fish areas that once were of great food producing value; reconstruct home surroundings for fur bearing animals whose fur is in increasing demand. Reforestation, with tax adjustment, will make such work of practical value to the farmer.

W. H. WHIGAM.

COOLIDGE AND HOOVER.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 26.—You reproduce under the heading of the Fo oral of the Day one from the Baltimore Sun, entitled "Angler in Creeks," in which Calvin Coolidge's "let-well-enough-alone, do-nothing" attitude toward the problems of the presidency is extolled as against the "let's-find-out-about-this" and "let's-do-something" attitude of President Hoover.

Action, work, effort strengthen governments, build waterways, solve farm problems, throw light in the dark corners of prohibition enforcement just as they build cities like Chicago, create structures like the Tribune Tower, develop corporations like General Motors and give us the radio, the telephone, the electric light and a thousand and one other conveniences.

Why discredit the energy and courage of President Hoover? Initiative is precious. Why discourage it? How high would the circulation of THE TRIBUNE have gone if you had decided twenty-five years ago to let-well-enough-alone?

I have always admired the aggressiveness and trail blazing tendencies of your paper and the city in which it is published. I honor and respect President Hoover for the same high qualities of mind and heart. C. W. MUNNS.

CHANGED FOR THE WORSE

[Buen Humor, Madrid.]

Policeman: "Didn't you promise that during this year you would be a new man?"

IMPOSTOR WHO FOOLED HARDING IS JAILED AGAIN

Seized for Jumping $2,000 Bond.

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Harry Weinberg, the most audacious impostor who has bobbed up in the news for many years, who fooled and bilked President Harding by passing himself off as a naval lieutenant and, it is said, as a mythical "Princess Wilhelmina," was arrested today on lower Broadway. He was shabby, greatly in need of a shave, and was carrying his few belongings wrapped in a newspaper.

The champion impostor of the age forfeited his bail of $3,000 last April after the appellate division of the Supreme court had upheld his conviction in the Court of Special Sessions in 1926 on the charge of falsely representing himself to be a lawyer.

The agile Mr. Weinberg, man of many faces, ran out from under the $3,000 bail bond which his own father, Morris Weinberg of Brooklyn, had put up in cash, and since that time there has been a warrant out for his arrest. Edward P. Beck, an officer of the New York City parole commission, picked him up.

"Pal of Millionaires."

At the office of the commission Weinberg told his tale of woe. The extraordinary fellow maintained, despite his unshaven face and shabby garments—in spite, too, of the meager lunch done up in a piece of newspaper that he was a man of enormous affairs, the pal of millionaires, and the promoter and organizer of vast business enterprises. He produced from his pocket two checks signed by himself and apparently circulated.

One was for a round million and was drawn to the order of the Lawyers' Title Guaranty and Trust company, and the other was for a mere half a million and was made out to one G. H. Drewer.

Mr. Weinberg is not unused to the interior of jails. He was a boarder for two years in Uncle Sam's celebrated hotel in Atlanta for careless and unlucky persons. He did that stretch by imposing on President Harding and a flock of other important people including Washington.

Bobs Up in Uniform.

He had bobbed up one day all spick and span in gold lace and brass buttons, passed himself off as a lieutenant in the navy and as special aid de camp to her highness the Princess Wilhelmina, and sat on a pink cloud for a few weeks until the impudent imposture was penetrated. The laugh, however, was not altogether on Weinberg.

It is the delusion of grandeur in which a man's mind dwells, habitually, that is a touch of genius—certainly, of talent. While he was serving a penitentiary sentence on Welfare island for forgery he managed to smuggle out letters to dozens of prominent men. He wrote them he was a well known and wealthy physician who had abandoned his practice to devote all of his time to philanthropy and the relief of the poor. He gave his address as 800 East 55th street, which happens to be the correct postal address of the penitentiary. In reply to these missives so imaginatively conceived, Weinberg received a weekend of letters and presents.

MURDER BOASTER, ARRAIGNED, ASKS FOR MANICURIST

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—"Texas Jim" Baker, alleged to have confessed to poisoning nine persons, was arraigned in General Sessions today on an indictment charging him with the murder of Henry S. Gaw, chauffeur, in December, 1928.

"Have you a lawyer?" the judge asked Baker.

"No."

"If you will sign an affidavit that you have no means, I will adjourn the case until Tuesday and assign you a good lawyer," answered the judge.

"Would you mind sending a manicurist over to the Tombs?" asked the prisoner. "My nails are looking rough."

There was no reply and Baker was led away.

Annoyed by "L" Noise, He Shoots at Workmen

Tally Hamilton, colored, 26 years old, 1709 South Dearborn street, who had complained of the noise of south side elevated trains running near his home, was arrested with a sawed off shotgun in his possession yesterday after firing a volley at track workers near the Roosevelt road station.

WHICH DO YOU BUY IN A TOOTH PASTE?

Gritty-like taste, or performance?... The first time you try PEBECO you may not like its sharp tang. But use it a whole week. There's a vital reason why its users so seldom switch,—why so many dentists prefer it for their personal use. In its cooling tang you will find not only sparkling white teeth but the comfort of a completely invigorated mouth. PEBECO retards decay by neutralizing the mouth acids. After a week you'll prefer its taste. Try it.—Adv.

MAJ. G. H. PUTNAM, NOTED IN WORLD OF BOOKS, DIES

Civil War Veteran; Was Trained as Scientist.

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Maj. George Haven Putnam, dean of American publishers and a civil war veteran, died today at his home here. Maj. Putnam, who would have been 86 years old next April 2, had been ill about ten days of pernicious anemia. On Tuesday he lapsed into a coma from which he never recovered.

Although he had undergone an operation only last fall, Maj. Putnam had continued through most of the winter walking to and from work, as had been his custom for many years.

Until a week ago Maj. Putnam had been in regular touch with the office of G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers, which he headed, and had dictated letters to a secretary, but he grew weaker, and early today his death was announced by a nephew, George Palmer Putnam.

Born in London.

Maj. Putnam was born in London while his father, George Palmer Putnam, was living there in the interests of his firm. He attended the Sorbonne and the University of Berlin, and then became a forestry student at Göttingen university, Prussia. The civil war began while he was there and Putnam came home to enlist, at 18, with the 176th New York volunteers.

He was taken prisoner at the battle of Cedar Creek, Va., during Sheridan's drive in the Shenandoah valley, passed the winter in Libby and Danville prisons, and was exchanged the following March. He saw active service in Louisiana, including the Red river expedition of Banks, and in Maryland.

Trained as Scientist.

After resigning from the army, in Sept., 1865, with the rank of major, he served for a year as deputy United States collector of internal revenue in New York under his father.

When the war was over Maj. Putnam abandoned the scientific career for which he had trained and at his father's request went to publishing. In 1868 he married Rebecca Shepard of Boston, who died in 1895, and in 1899 he married Emily James Smith, author and educator, who survives him, as do their son, Palmer Cosslett Putnam, who with his wife is now abroad, and four daughter by his first marriage, Miss Bertha H. Putnam, a professor of Mount Holyoke college; Miss Ethel F. Putnam, who lives in New Hampshire; Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith, and Mrs. Robert Falconer.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Lucky Girl

Elmer Happy Over Return of Mark Love

"Mr. Jefferson" Gives Touch of Radio Comedy

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The appearance of Mark Love, basso, in conjunction with the W-G-N symphony orchestra, 9:30 to 10 o'clock, was a pleasant reminder of former days when this excellent soloist was heard frequently from this station. His program contained large, substantial numbers, and he was in excellent voice.

The only and ever welcome comedy I found on the air was furnished by the character "Mr. Jefferson," on the W-G-N 9:30 to 10 musical program. The musical features on this program are light, airy, and attractive.

An enjoyable concert was given by a choral club under the direction of G. Franklin Richards from WJJD, 7:30 to 8. There was a smile in the novelty number, "Alexander." The way these belles and beaux sang "The Bells of St. Mary's" (Adams) "for you and for me" was homey.

I anticipated something very modern from "Today's Music Masterpieces," W-G-N, 8 to 8:30. "I Am a Dreamer," "The New Step," "Red, White, and Blue Rhythm," and "Can't You Understand?" were a few of the titles. It was an up to date dance program.

DELAY FUNERAL OF CARDINAL TILL BROTHER ARRIVES

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Funeral arrangements for Cardinal Merry del Val, who died yesterday, probably will be changed because the cardinal's brother is not expected here before Saturday.

The funeral had been set for 10:30 a. m., Saturday, but news that Marquis Alfonso Merry del Val would not arrive from London as soon as expected gave indications that the services would not be held until Monday.

Judge Angelini Rotta had planned to open the cardinal's will today but, acting on the pope's advice, will not open it until the brother arrives.

Decked in the robes of a prince of the church, the body of Cardinal Merry del Val lay today in state in the throne room of his apartment at Santa Marta palace.

Hold Last Rites Today for Jas. Dorken, Union Agent

Funeral services for James Dorken, 35 years old, business representative of the Chicago Meat Cutters' union, local 546, who died Tuesday following an operation, will be held this morning in St. Giles' church. Dorken's home was at 905 Marion street, Oak Park. He is survived by his widow, Florence, and two daughters.

FILM STARS WILL AID IN RITES FOR MISS NORMAND

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Mabel Normand, who will be buried here tomorrow, will have the following pallbearers:

Mack Sennett and Sam Goldwyn, producers, who staged most of Miss Normand's great film successes; Ford Sterling, veteran actor, who was her old partner in days of slapstick comedy; Charlie Chaplin, Arthur Goebel, aviator; D. W. Griffith, Douglas Fairbanks, Eugene Pallette, actor; Paul Bern, screen writer; Sid Grauman, theatrical man; Louis B. Mayer, film magnate, and United States Circuit Judge William P. James.

It will be some time before details of Miss Normand's estate are made known, it was said today. The actress is said to have left generous bequests to Julia Brew, her companion for years, and to several servants and indigent friends of former days. Her estate may exceed $500,000.

MRS. ABI L. BROCKWAY, 75 years old, wife of Louis O. Brockway, county recorder of Lake county, died yesterday at her home at 930 Hickory street, Waukegan, after an illness of five weeks. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. tomorrow with burial at Milburn cemetery.

MRS. ROSE P. CLARK, 72 years old, formerly of Evanston, died on Tuesday in Pittsburgh. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. today at the chapel in Rosehill cemetery. Mrs. Clark formerly made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Norman J. Westerhold, 1004 Sheridan road, Evanston.

JAILED FOR STEALING SAFETY DEVICES

Joseph Fregant, 52 years old, 5030 South Racine avenue, was sentenced to 90 days in the Bridewell and fined $25 yesterday by Judge John J. Lupe in the Stockyards court for stealing airbrake safety devices from freight cars in the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad yards.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(AP)—William S. Zumbrunn, attorney, prominent in Washington, D. C., legal circles. He had been ill for several months. Born in Nebraska 53 years ago, Zumbrunn gained recognition for his defense in election contests of Senator Earl Mayfield of Texas and Senator David Steck of Iowa.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Philip Standley Twells of Mexico City, president of the Mexican Petroleum company. He was 55 years old

NEW YORK.—(AP)—John James Amory, 73, president of the Consolidated Shipbuilding corporation. Born at Fond Du Lac, Wis., he followed a varied career as liveryman, miner, and hotel keeper.

Mrs. Patience E. Vose, 92, Pioneer of Evanston, Dies

Mrs. Patience E. Vose, 92 years old, one of the early settlers of Evanston, died yesterday at her home at 820 Hinman avenue, Evanston. She was the widow of William M. R. Vose, pioneer real estate man and banker of Chicago. Mrs. Vose came to Chicago in 1869. In 1872 the family moved to Evanston. Mrs. Vose was the last surviving charter member of the Second Presbyterian church. She is survived by two sons, Frederic P. and Walter F. Vose, and one daughter, Miss Mary R. Vose.

MAN HURT BY MACHINE DIES.

Francis Ryan, 22 years old, 4743 North Albany avenue, died yesterday in the Victory Memorial hospital at Waukegan of injuries suffered on Wednesday when he was crushed by a revolving electric crane at the Public Service company plant in Waukegan.

ROBBED OF CAB AND CASH.

Frank Donavon, 2232 Foster avenue, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $18 and his automobile yesterday by two men who rode in his cab from State and Superior streets to Wells and Kinzie streets.

Mae Tinee Gives Closeup of Motion Picture World

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a trade made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men of the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury done him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone at home. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and then rides off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve and Jud Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save Jim from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes to a local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead, with a knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested but is later released. He is determined to find the murderer in order to clear himself. Ellen Lawson sends word by Pendleton that she would like to see him. Accompanied by Mrs. Glen she goes to Pendleton's room at the Trail's End. Pendleton and Steve Lawson and they all meet in his room.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

A TACTICAL MISTAKE.

"I ain't in any jam," Steve denied sullenly. "Who told you any such a thing?" He looked at his sister resentfully.

"Do you take us for dad gum fools, boy?" Pendleton asked impatiently. "Why did Miss Ellen go to the Longhorn for if she didn't figure you was in jail? She hasn't told us a thing except that Moss is aimin' to railroad you here to the gallows. But we can use our heads. He has served notice on her that both of you are to lie to back up the story he has got fixed up. You are saved. Why? Because he has got something on her and something on you. Well, there ain't any one got anything on her. She's too nice a girl. But you—you're an ornery young waddy an' you've helled around consid'rable, I reckon. Looks to me like he's got you where the wool is short."

"All right. Say for argument he has. Do I look like a fellow who would sell us his pals?"

"It look to me like a trifling, no 'count scalawag whose whole big body isn't worth as much as your sister's little finger," Mrs. Glen said, speaking evidently with strident emphasis. "Don't talk to me about squealing on pals. What kind of pals are they that tell her she's got to marry a scoundrel whether she wants to or not, or else see you get into mighty big trouble? Always thinking of yourself, you are. A selfish pup not worth the powder to blow you up, by my way of it."

"You promised not to tell, Mrs. Glen," wailed Ellen.

"Got to marry who?" demanded Steve.

"Pete Moss, of course."

"What you mean, got to marry him? She hasn't got to marry him if she don't want to, has she?"

"Old Man Moss says she has."

"You said you wouldn't say anything about it," the girl protested.

"I think that's the most sensible thing I've heard yet."

"Why has she got to marry Pete?" Steve burst out excitedly. "She ain't got to do any such thing."

"So you say. Dave Moss tells it different."

"Don't keep Dave Moss-ing me," young Lawson cried. "How can he be a law down to Ellen?"

"I'm tell us how," Mrs. Glen replied. "She won't."

The boy stared at his sister, eyes dilating. In that look which passed when them a question was asked and answered. Steve gave a cry of rage. "I'll not stand for it. Let him do his worst," he said desperately.

"What is his worst?" Jim asked.

Steve looked at him. "That's my business," he said.

"Seems to be Miss Ellen's business, too," Jim drawled.

"Does that make it yours?" young Lawson flung back quickly.

Jim flushed. "She saved my life out at yore homestead. She came back with the truth when Buck Roe tried to hang the Shear killing on me. Now she has taken the trouble to warn me of what Dave Moss is doing. Do you reckon I ought to walk off an' let that old devil ruin her and never liftin' a hand to help her?"

"If you want to know what I think, you're one of these smart alecks who interfere in other folks' affairs. Ellen an' I can look after ourselves."

"You can speak for yoreself, but not for her," Rutledge replied. "I'll go to bat for her. That's how much claim she has got on me. I don't aim to let her be sacrificed for any of yore foolishness."

The two lads confronted each other, the one filled with boyish fury, the other quietly determined. Watching them anxiously, Ellen knew there was no strength in the Texan's cold resolution than in her brother's hot flurry of blood. Her heart was lifted at Jim's strong support of her cause.

"I just finished tellin' you she don't have to do as Dave Moss says," Steve said. "What's eatin' you, fellow?"

"You're told us, but we're not convinced," Jim answered. "Get this straight. Lawson. Mr. Pendleton is with me in this. We don't aim to let her be sacrificed to save you."

"What have you got up yore sleeve? Why do you keep harping on that?"

"Game clean, fellow. Who says I'm in trouble?"

"Any blockhead could see that," Mrs. Glen snapped. "Why else has she to marry Pete Moss tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow," Jim echoed.

"Those are the orders," Mrs. Glen said. "We're to fix up clothes today."

A hot tide of blood swept through Jim Rutledge and moved him to a rash and an even more rash declaration. "It won't be tomorrow or any day," he cried.

"Why won't it?" demanded Steve. "Ellen will marry Pete Moss or any one else for all the say you've got in it."

"I'm tellin' you she won't," the Texan denied.

"Far as Pete goes, he ain't such a bad fellow. She might do a whole lot worse. Anyway, you can't butt in. I never saw such a nerve," Lawson went on.

Ellen's heart beat fast. What did this Texas man mean? She understood the resentment of her brother. It was no concern of Jim Rutledge if she married Pete. What right had he to say flatly she could or could not marry him? But she felt as yet no anger at Jim.

"What has Moss got hung on you, boy?" Pendleton asked impatiently. "We can't do a thing till we know that."

"I'll 'tend to that myself," Steve tossed at him.

"Cattle rustling, horse stealing, or what?"

"Not a one of them."

"He won't lift a hand for his sister," Jim said to the cattleman. "We can move without him."

"Move how?" Steve jeered.

"Make it impossible. Fix it so she can't."

Jim spoke. Her quiet voice denied the racing blood in her veins, but there was a tremulous note that made the denial effective. "Don't you think you better quit quarreling over me an' let me decide it myself?" she asked. "We're not quarreling. I'm telling him," Jim explained.

"Bah——"

"I'll put a spoke in old man Moss' wheel an' marry you myself."

There was a moment of amazed silence. Mrs. Glen broke it.

"I think that's the most sensible thing I've heard yet," she said, and Jim was lit by an expansive smile.

Ellen stared at Jim, a tide of color flowing into her cheeks to the roots of her red hair.

"Bully for you, boy," Pendleton boomed. "The Lone Star state forever. Take back what I said about you no-account young Texans."

Steve let out a bark of angry, sarcastic laughter. "I reckon not. My sister ain't marryin' any man accused of murder. I won't stand for it."

"I'm much obliged to you all for fixin' it up for me," Ellen said, her voice shaking stormily. "First off, I want to thank Mr. Rutledge for takin' me for a poor girl."

"I meant I'd marry you if you'd have me, an' I ain't takin' pity on you," Jim said, embarrassed.

"I wouldn't take advantage of yore kind heart," she said bitterly. "I'm going to marry Pete Moss tomorrow."

"No," Jim protested.

"It's awfully nice of the rest of you to fix it up who I'm to marry without asking me," she went on with stiff, ironic politeness. "It's very thoughtful of you-all, but I won't trouble you any more now it's all settled."

Jim knew nothing about girls, but it was plain to him that he had made a tactical mistake. He had been intent on saving her and had forgotten all about her feelings. His excuse was that he had been absorbed in finding the only way out of her difficulty and it had not occurred to him that she would be outraged at his blunt assurance. They were allies, working together to defeat Dave Moss. Naturally she would coöperate with him.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

My, but this is a charming thing! It holds "the eye like a spell and moves the spirit like music." It is a gem that radiates light from many facets. It should be shown on the screen of a long run theater and kept there until everybody in Chicago has had a chance to see it.

"Seven Days' Leave" is the screen version of Barrie's playlet, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," and the film has cunningly captured, and glowingly portrays the Barrie quaintness, whimsy, pathos and power, which never were more beguiling or more devastating to the emotions than in this narrative of the old London charwoman who finds the great city a great solitude, because she has had no man to send to war. Each of her three sister charwomen has a son at the front, who writes to her and of whom she talks unceasingly. Poor Sarah Ann Dowey, spinster,—though she is known as Mrs. Dowey, having a plump and married look—is just a rank outsider, until one day inspiration comes to her.

She reads in the papers of the exploits of a young Canadian soldier of the "Black Watch," who bears the name of—Kenneth Dowey. So she buys a Black Watch medal—and a flag—addresses to herself some envelopes confiscated from waste baskets, and becomes the proud mother of a lad whom she never has seen. At last she is a member of that inner circle of envied women who have given men to fight for their country.

Now how should Sarah Ann Dowey know that Kenneth the "kiltie," not altogether an admirable character, is coming to London on leave? Why should she dream that out of a city-ful he should find and come straight to her to demand of the "old cheat" what she means by her deception? Well——!

Talk about your "vampires" in the common acceptance of the word which means a woman who gets a man in her power and does what she will with him—Sarah Ann Dowey beats them all. In her longing and her desperation she is undefeatable. Cornered, she conquers. Her "son" raging but helpless surrenders to her wiles, and goes much farther than that. He becomes the man she has wanted him to be—and which he was not.

There is a real medal, bravely won, for Sarah Ann Dowey, by the end of the picture, that leaves her still a charwoman, but a glorified one. She has drunk deep from the cup of life the wine of an experience which will forevermore keep her walking in the high places.

You will never forget George Arliss in "Disraeli." You will never forget Beryl Mercer in "Seven Days' Leave." Gary Cooper pulls at your heart-strings as the sullen, hard boiled, lonely, capitulating Kenneth, and the three Ladies of the Pall, as impersonated by Daisy Belmore, Nora Cecil, and Tempe Piggott are characters to rend you with admiration and merriment. All other rôles are delightfully managed.

The direction is perfect. As for the "atmosphere"—well, I feel that I have been to London, and that I mingled freely with the people of the English metropolis during the days that spelled tears and triumph for Sarah Ann Dowey. Dialogue? Ah, this IS dialogue. Suspense? Your heart's in your mouth a good part of the time. But I'll save further words and just put it this way:

If you don't march into the Chicago theater this week of your own accord, somebody who's interested in your welfare ought to get behind you and shove you in.

See you tomorrow.

Shaw Attacks Movie Censorship; Censures Some U. S. Pictures

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The censorship fight between George Bernard Shaw and the Hon. H. L. Shortt will reach a heated stage tomorrow. Shaw, in a trade paper, will attack censorship and suggest putting movies on the same basis as saloons.

Mr. Shaw recently walked out on the performance of an American picture, "Hot for Paris," and berated the censors for permitting such a vulgar picture while refusing to license such films as the Russian "Storm Over Asia" because soldiers apparently wearing the British uniform are shown in an unfavorable light.

Following that statement by Mr. Shaw forty members of parliament, including Megan Lloyd George and Oliver Baldwin, met informally and adopted resolutions for a change in film censorship.

"Bernard Shaw's statements are usually of a wild nature. I don't think it is our duty to keep him in the limelight." So Censor Shortt disposed of Shaw and then turned to the subject of the informal meeting.

"I have seen many such meetings, but I don't recall that any of them had much results."

"We want not only to get rid of film censorship," says Mr. Shaw's latest, "which lends its authority to this rubbish"—meaning the American film on which Mr. Shaw walked out—"while preventing serious treatments of sex themes, as in the Russian film 'Mother,' but we want to alter the whole basis of the existing conditions under the law which originally was intended to prevent fire in cinemas, but has been transformed into a means of local censorship.

"I understand that films made of noninflammable film might exhibit the most anti-social, revolutionary, or obscene subjects without being subject to the veto of such local bodies as the London county council, which grants and suspends licenses."

Mr. Shaw suggests that the cinemas be granted licenses, renewable each year, which could be suspended for judicial reasons, just as saloon licenses are suspended. Houses showing vulgar films regularly would lose their licenses, just as saloonkeepers convicted of maintaining disorderly places lose theirs.

Mr. Shortt is 61 years old and too deaf to hear much of the talkies' dialogue. The secretary of the board, Brooks Wilkinson, is very near-sighted.

Mr. Shaw has discussed "The Great Gabbo" in no gentle terms, saying the action is halting and censuring the scenes in which chorus girls are shown undressing.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

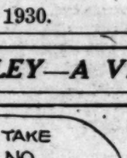
The Answers.

Miss Vivian Miller, 140 South Dearborn street, typist.—I have not. The recent tragedy at Kenosha is enough to prove that any one is wrong in trying to beat a train at a crossing. That should be a lesson for all time for every driver.

Jean Beye, 4244 Kenmore avenue, housewife. — No one should have any sympathy for such a driver. Recklessness at grade crossings is inexcusable. There is no sportsmanship in attempting to race across ahead of a train.

Miss Veronica Palandech, 7619 Phillips avenue, student.—I often drive our car. I safeguard myself, and any other occupants of the car by caution at railroad crossings. The Illinois Central should elevate or depress the tracks in the 70th street district before more lives are lost.



Charles E. Shomo, 14 East Jackson boulevard, salesman.—I have plenty of sympathy for such a driver's family, in case of mishap, but none for him. Auto accidents at railroad crossings mainly are due to carelessness, though railroads have not taken every precaution possible to make such accidents impossible.

Miss Frieda Harris, 3652 Polk street, secretary.—None at all. My family has a car, and father is a careful driver. Nevertheless I always feel safer after we have crossed any railroad tracks because accidents will happen.

Two Governors and Senators Protesting Rhodes Plan Change

Protests broadcast by Chicago Rhodes scholars against the effort being made to select the American students from 6 districts of 8 states each rather than from states individual, gained further support yesterday.

U. S. Senators Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], and Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], sent assurances to Vice President George F. Spaulding of the Northern Trust company, a former Rhodes scholar from Arizona, that they will support any resolutions introduced in the senate condemning the redistricting and will do everything they can to prevent the change. Govs. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana and R. C. Dillon of New Mexico replied in a similar vein.

The controversy arose when the English trustees of the will of Cecil Rhodes backed an enabling act passed by parliament effecting the change from state to district selection. The idea was that the standards might be raised by ignoring state boundaries, and the plan was supposed to be regarded with favor by Americans concerned with the administration of the Rhodes scholarships. The Rhodes plan also sends selected British students to the United States. The idea was that such students should be good physical and social representatives of their home localities as well as having scholastic distinction.

"This proposed new method of selection is a breach of trust," Mr. Spaulding said. "Cecil Rhodes directed specifically in his will that appointments should be made from representatives of each state in the United States. He emphasized this method of distribution by stating that it was his wish that no more than two representatives from any one state should be in residence at Oxford at one time.

"Mr. Rhodes was most particular to emphasize the desirability of selecting representatives and not scholastic prodigies. There is no justification for attempting to thwart the carefully worked out plans of a great man who had a great idea."

Senator Glenn wrote that he was "impressed with the soundness of the position taken by Mr. Spaulding and his associates."

Senator McKellar wrote, "I am certainly opposed to any change and will do anything I can to prevent it."

Gov. Dillon heads one of the smaller states which might, in the minds of the group opposing the change, suffer by a loss of representatives to the larger states in its district. Gov. Dillon was emphatic in his opposition, both in his letter to Mr. Spaulding and in another letter he wrote to the Rhodes trustees. "It is inconceivable," he wrote the latter, "that the last written desire of Cecil Rhodes should be tampered with." Gov. Leslie said he hoped the protest would be sufficiently strong to thwart the change.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE new "Strange Interlude" company at the Blackstone, seen last night in the sixth act of O'Neill's portentous opus, appears to be well qualified to interpret the needs of Nina Leeds for the edification of the curious. The travels of this cast have broadened its touch as well as its experience, and it cannot be accused of subtlety in its treatment of the text. These players bear down on the dialogue, developing the shadows of Freudian psychology into frank black and white. But there is a virtue in this blunt appeal to the mass intelligence; for this cast is easy to hear. "What price nuances" is its motto, and the back row never has to guess at the drift of the lines.

Elisabeth Risdon, the new Nina, is an excellent actress in any rôle, but she doesn't suggest complexes. The Risdon personality is too winsome and normal to harbor a kinked libido. This Nina seems to be convinced that she was guaranteed three men and an illegitimate child by the Nineteenth Amendment, and she is apparently ready to argue for her polyandrous rights before any intelligent woman's club.

The soft epicenity of "dear old Charlie" is submerged by George Gaul's aggressive style. On the other hand, Dr. Darrell is at last plausible as a scientist and virile as a lover in the acting of Frank Conroy.

This is not as good a cast, for the general purposes of the play and intentions of the author, as its predecessor. Its direct attack proves, however, that, in spite of its portentous highbrow reputation, "Strange Interlude" is really a comedy. Under this treatment the laughs that have always lurked behind the bizarre dialogue come out like flowers after a spring rain. Eugene O'Neill's heart will probably break when he discovers that in spite of the seriousness with which he pursued his theme through nine acts he was really an unconscious humorist.

"Strange Interlude" has always reminded me of a furious controversy I once overheard between two wild eyed eccentrics, members of a folklore society. What they were arguing about, I never knew, except that it was some fine point of sex psychology. Finally one of them put over an oratorical knockout.

"I have studied sex," he roared, "under Krafft-Ebing and Havelock Ellis! I know all about it! Yes, I know all about sex from the bee to the elephant—from the earth to the starry heavens!"

That must have been the way O'Neill felt when he wrote "Strange Interlude."

"Elizabeth and Essex," the play by Henry Wagstaffe Gribble which is coming to the Princess March 17, is based upon three old plays dealing with the most sentimental and cruel love affair of the Virgin Queen, each of which carried this title. Their authors and dates were: John Banks, 1682; Henry Brooks, 1761; and Henry Jones, 1770. They were obscure works of the Elizabethan and Georgian periods, exhumed by Mr. Gribble and used as material for a new play with a modern point of view.

The title rôles will be played by Thais Lawton and Hugh Buckler. The other parts have been assigned as follows: Vivienne Osborn as the Countess of Rutland; Verree Teasdale as the Countess of Nottingham; Wilfred Seagram as the Earl of Southampton; Murray Kinnell as Lord Burleigh; Charles Francis as Sir Walter Raleigh; and Lawrence Bolton as Lieutenant of the Tower.

"Bird in Hand," the comedy by John Drinkwater which has given patrons of the Harris theater a happy winter and a strong desire to visit old English inns, will close its engagement there March 8, at the end of its eleventh week. There is no word about a succeeding attraction.

Russell Rodgers, who was ordered by a judge to refrain from drinking until he is 21 years old, does not live at 7933 South Hermitage avenue, as stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday. Police records give his address as 7923 South Campbell avenue.

Barbara Mayer, 22 years old, 3423 Elaine place, and Irene Berent, 19 years old, 1235 North La Salle street, have been cleared by the police of suspicion of having participated in robberies in connection with which they were held after their arrest on Feb. 15. The police released the two girls.

Educators Ask Cabinet Officer to Aid Schools

Cite Hoover Policies to Support Plan.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 27.—(AP)—A federal department of education, with a secretary cabinet member at its head was advocated again by the department of superintendence of the National Educational association at its annual convention today.

That question is among those being studied by Secretary Wilbur through a national advisory committee on education.

The inaugural address of President Hoover and his message to the Seventy-first congress were cited as showing increased federal interest in education as were the White House conference on child health and protection and establishment of a committee on illiteracy.

"Believing as we do in determining educational policies on a factual basis," the resolution states, "and without altering our past position regarding the relationship and service of the federal government to public education, we await the publication of the result of the studies to be carried on by these several committees with the confident hope that from such studies sound conclusions may be reached."

Another resolution adopted set forth that the association considers it the duty of educators to see to it that national ideals and aspirations shall be implanted in the hearts and minds of youth in each generation.

Belief is reaffirmed in a more extensive educational program even if it makes increased cost of education imperative. Radio is recognized as a powerful instrument of far reaching importance.

Earlier in the day's sessions speakers called attention to the part played by the home, the newspapers, and social agencies in furthering the work of the schools.

"There was a time," said Mrs. Isabel L. De Valliere of Trenton, fourth vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, "when the home resented any attempt on the part of the school to inquire into its affairs in relation to the health, behavior and progress of the children.

"Today, in hundreds of communities all over the country, we find the home and the school united in a great democratic organization, known as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, that has developed into a great school for parents earnestly seeking to improve conditions and solve problems regarding their children."

John H. Finley, former educator, now of the New York Times, told how the history of the long past frequently is made to live again in the present by the help of the news of the day. By way of illustration he referred to articles that appeared in the newspapers recently concerning the weakening of the walls of Jericho and the uncovering of utensils of a people in Ur of the Chaldees before the flood.

"I would call the light-bearing journalists scattered over the world the writers and teachers of history in the present tense," Mr. Finley said.

Word from South Pole to Be Read Before Frat

Chicago members of Pi Kappa Alpha, national college fraternity, will celebrate the 62d anniversary of its founding tomorrow evening at the Interfraternity club, 10 North La Salle street.

A feature of the celebration will be the reading of a message from Dr. Laurence M. Gould of the University of Michigan, who is second in command of Rear Admiral Byrd's antarctic expedition. The message was sent by radio from Little America, Antarctica.

MOVIE CLOSE-UP

Maurice Chevalier, the film star, en route from Hollywood to New York to begin work on a new talking picture, "Too Much Luck," paused long enough in Chicago to make a personal appearance at a loop movie theater last night. Chevalier, who recently recovered from an attack of influenza, was accompanied by his wife, the former Yvonne Vallee. Both were celebrities of the Parisian stage when they married three years ago. Now, Mme. Chevalier explained, she is content to bask in the fame accorded her husband.

Chicago Boasts Rare Libraries of Cook Books

Three of Note Place City on Level with Gotham.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A news item now going the rounds concerns the gift to the New York Academy of Medicine by Dr. Margaret Barclay Wilson of 4,000 old cook books, a collection begun during the world war when she was working on the problems of food substitutes. I would say before discussing a particular variety of interest it seems to have aroused, "perhaps," to the affirmation that this is the largest collection of its kind.

Right here in Chicago we have at least three cooking libraries of no mean worth, and I have heard that there is one in Peoria containing much that is precious. Two of our libraries are owned by men. I have the other. Knowing much about the books I do not possess myself, I should say that one of these libraries, though no more than 2,000 large, contains more of the rarest and most expensive bits of cooking literature in the world than any other heard of. I have some rarities myself.

The third of these Chicago cooking libraries numbers over 4,500, counting all items and articles, and has great rarities. Speaking of articles and items, in files, I have many, many thousand myself. So much for Chicago against New York.

Ancient Latin Recipes.

But, further, it is a point of interest that this largest Chicago food library contains so many editions of Apicius—of whom we want to give here and now a biography—the very book of ancient Latin recipes featured in these news items. The reporters have been much moved at the idea that the Romans had pork and apples, and cheese and honey. Indeed, the Latins did have most of the food items we possess today and many besides.

Because I believed that the poet Martial said as much about food as any Roman—he lived about the years 40 to 102 A. D.—I long ago went through 600 pages of an English translation of his works and took therefrom 37 single spaced pages of notes, which contain an unbelievable list of foods and ideas about them. Martial introduced his different books of poems with food pictures—how I want to quote some!—and what he says critically about dinners and the men who gave them is a great deal.

It was perhaps no wonder that a Roman citizen would do most anything to get to where food was so served, and if he was one of the many varieties of mean Romans he would fill his napkin with rarities and smuggle it to his servant. Here we have food psychology 2,000 years old. When men were gathering followers and could not feed everybody they gave a "sportula," or the price of a dinner. The Emperor Domitian abolished such bribery.

Meat and Fish.

The meat of the wild boar, fed on acorns, seems in that ancient day to have set the model for a correct diet for pigs. Hams and bacon, sausages and chitterlings, were from acorn fed porkers. This bit shows the cooking: "Let your slim gridiron be greased with a crescent shaped steak. Let the foaming boar smoke upon the long spit." (I wish I knew what the Latin word was that the Englishman translated "steak," but no time to look it up.)

The capon gets rather ribald attention and we would think it obscene to be so specific about him. A fat goose, with a liver larger than itself otherwise, shows what the Romans knew about something like pate de foie gras. And pigeons, wild, and even the turtle dove were eaten, while the Numidian fowl, pheasant, or whatever were in the highest repute.

The Romans luxuriated or roystered with the oyster. There were prawns, too. The pike was fattened in a special water. The sturgeon and tunny were prized. The mackerel was not prized, but they made a sauce described as exquisite out of a dying mackerel's blood. The Roman cook knew his sauces.

The "frugal bee" gave the confectioner his material while giving the poet something to make beautiful phrases about, whether it was served with cheese or how. The baker's figures of pastry must have been entertaining, and we can but wonder whether "Julius Cerealis," whom Martial addresses, was a real or fictional character. And we wonder what the Latin was that the English translater made "Rhodian biscuits." At any rate, they seem to have been jaw breakers, perhaps water crackers for cheese, and what fruit did the Roman use with it?

The Roman loved his farms and gardens. The latter were presided over by a god we now consider obscene. The olives of the gardens were a cheap food, but much esteemed, as the name "fruit of Pallas" suggests.

Succulent Morsels.

Though the flamingo and dormouse were eaten, so were the vegetables, and what we can learn of lettuce, of the wild and cultivated asparagus, of the bean, the lentil, barley, and wheat is most entertaining. And if they called in a caterer in those days they could get a pert and practical one, who said, "Tell me how many and what price you wish to pay and the dinner is ready." And O, the guests! There were dancing girls from Cadiz to entertain them, and the "dudes" of the day seem to have been from that same Spanish city.

Have you had the misty notion that the ancients did not eat? Read Martial!

To keep a range in prime condition rub a cake of paraffin over it when it is warm, and follow up with a chalk eraser. Use this when the greases pop, or when a spot appears while cooking, and the range will always look like new. Mrs. A. R., Eldred, Ill.

When my canvas furnace gloves become soiled I put them through the washing machine and then dip them in a bit of leftover starch. The stiffness prevents the dust from going through to the inside of the gloves. Mrs. A. L., Rockford, Ill.

When the lining of your coat wears out along the edge it can be easily mended by getting 1 inch wide ribbon of the same shade and sewing it along the entire bottom of the coat. Mrs. S. F., Chicago.

While drying the children's woolen gloves insert a wooden clothespin in each finger. This prevents shrinking and shows where they need mending. Mrs. E. McC., Elgin, Ill.

The spool drawer in my sewing machine was forever "mussy." I cut a board to fit the drawer and in it drove headless nails in orderly rows. Each nail holds a spool, and I assure you my machine drawer has been neat ever since. Mrs. R. F., Fairbury, Ill.

When you have found a desired name and number in the telephone directory, draw a heavy pencil line under it. It will save much time when you want to phone the same person again. Mrs. J. N. B., Chicago.

Bear Guests in Mind When You Plan a Setting

Decorations Create Formal or Friendly Spirit.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Recently I stressed the desirability of cultivating your own individual taste in table decorations as the best guide to setting original and successful tables. I reiterate that idea because it seems to me to be one of the most important lessons to learn in any kind of artistic expression, BUT along with that premise, you should bear in mind two other important considerations, the personnel of any given group that you are entertaining, and the type of occasion for which you are preparing. It is really a form of unselfishness to give due thought to the personalities of your guests and their psychological reactions should be catered to.

There is no point in trotting out your extreme and modern china and glass for Aunt Esmeralda, who may think that all this "moderne stuff" is so much rubbish. She will merely sniff to herself that you are "showing off," and there never is any point to that. There is folly, also, in trying to "impress" your guests either with your possessions or your ideas. You will find far greater satisfaction, I really believe, in making a sincere attempt to put them at their ease than in any other way.

Friendly Spirit in Decorations.

As for suiting the decoration to the occasion, there is a great deal of subtlety to that. If you are having a dinner, for example, for an assorted group of people who are not known to each other, you may aid them to find the common interests they are almost sure to have if you seat them cleverly and design the table decoration so that it is gay, colorful, and friendly.

A stiff and austere decoration won't help things a bit, no matter how lovely it is in a classic sort of way. Planting the most lively members of the party in strategic places helps to start the sociable ball rolling, too.

Small and Intimate Luncheon.

Suppose you are having a small luncheon with a bridge foursome afterwards. The women are all intimate friends and need no stimulus to insure their having a jolly, gossipy, good time. On them you can try out any new ideas for combinations of colors, unusual flowers, or any of your pet fancies. The setting is, of course, informal and intimate, and they may tell you what they think of your table, to give you constructive helps to future attempts.

The spirit of the party is not injured if the trial does not turn out to be what you expected, as it might if you displayed it first for less sympathetic eyes.

Washington Notes

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Resolution to direct the interstate commerce commission to forbid the proposed consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads was introduced today by Senator Dill [Dem., Wash.].

Revised Johnson bill to restrict western hemisphere immigrtion to an annual total of about 76,000 was approved by the house immigration committee.

Park motor bus bill, to place buses engaged in interstate commerce under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission, was reported to the house by its interstate commerce committee.

Arnold bill to extend the time limit for starting and completing construction of a bridge across the Wabash river at Mount Carmel, Ill., by one and three years, respectively, was approved by the house interstate commerce committee.

Similar measure introduced by Representative Denison [Rep., Ill.], dealing with a projected bridge across the Ohio river at Cairo also was approved.

Senate bill authorizing C. N. Jenks and others to construct and operate a toll bridge across the Mississippi river at Savanna, Ill., was passed by the house and sent to the President.

Soy Beans Find Place in Menus of Americans

Oriental Countries Know Their Worth.

BY PAUL POTTER.

...beans, utilized for ages in ori... countries in the preparation of ...erous fresh, fermented, and dried ...d products, are gradually finding ...place on the American table. Long ...ultivated in this country as feed for ...ock only, the initial steps from ...ble to table mark the entrance of ...ese farm product into human con...mptive channels.

"Extensive experiments in North ...erica and Europe indicate the ...se of soy beans as a basis for food ...irements of persons requiring a ...w starch diet," says the federal de...rtment of agriculture. "For many ...rs food companies have had on ...e market forms of soy bean flour ...pared for persons requiring a diet ...f this kind. Investigations have ...wn that soy bean flour as a gruel ...s a most valuable food for infants."

Two Obstacles Apparent.

The expansion taking place since in...uction of this first restrictive ...e of these small, highly pro...ious beans, so rich in oil, is a ...ter of recent months, however. ...ral food manufacturers have now ...un the production of various food...ts, such as soy sauce, soy bean ...r, breakfast foods, and edible oil, ...m soy beans.

Two obstacles seem to stand in the ...y of immediate acceptance of this ...w line of foods. Until prejudice and ...stom, two important factors which ...ust operate against new foods, have ...en overcome, the increasing number ...f soy bean producers in the corn belt ...ave little to hope for from human ...onsumptive demand.

Illinois is by far the largest pro...cer of soy beans, an industry with ...s mushroomlike growth, especially in ...s eastern and central parts of the ...tate. The chief outlet has been ...hrough purchases of milling concerns ...or dairy feeds. In the recent lower...ng of eastern dairy products prices, ...owever, commercial producers of ...ent in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wis...onsin, Michigan, Ohio, and a few ...ther states have met a temporary ...hock.

Fish accounts for their appeal to ...ongress for a tariff protection against ...possible importations from China, ...whose Manchurian beans can easily ...ome to Illinois mills by water routes, ...including the Mississippi.

Crop Worth 70 Millions.

The 1929 value of the nation's soy ...ean crop, which has grown within ...the working days of W. J. Morse, ...federal forage crop specialist, who pio...neered its adaptation to the corn belt, ...is put at $70,000,000. Aside from its ...commercial uses, vast acreage is de...voted to local live stock feeding and ...improvement of soil conditions be...cause of its nitrogen fixation proper...ties.

...Soy bean oil is becoming an impor...tant item in the manufacture of soap, ...paints, linoleum, rubber substitutes, ...and glycerin. While the oil is used ...in China largely for human con...sumption, it is also employed in the ...manufacture of soap, varnish, printing ...ink, paints, candles, waterproof goods, ...and for lighting or lubrication.

Canada Farmers Open War on High Cost of Burial

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 27.—Saskatchewan farmers are out to find why it costs so much for burial. In convention at Saskatoon, their organization will request an examination into the high cost of caskets, particulars of manufacture, and will suggest a remedy to reduce the cost. A resolution will ask that caskets be supplied through the local lodges, wholesale purchase being made to reduce the cost.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Creamed Smoked Salmon.

Smoked salmon is used as an hors d'oeuvres just as it comes from the slicing machine, but we do not recommend it. It is a great advantage, it seems to me, to have a slicing machine for smoked salmon, because this makes it into as perfectly even slices as bacon similarly cut up in rashers. Before the machine was used on it, if we purchased it in slices they were likely to be quite uneven. Now we purchase a packet of these even slices of unusual attractiveness because of the evenness of the cutting and be cause the fish shows through the glassy paper.

In reference to the hors d'oeuvres, one French cook book says: "Smoked salmon may be cut into slices as thin as paper and served as a side dish without more preparation." This same books says to cut smoked salmon into thin slices, warm it up slowly in a little olive oil and serve it with a maitre d'hotel sauce, and again: 'Wash slices of smoked salmon in cold water, then pour boiling water over them and let stand for twenty minutes, drain them, wipe them dry and rub them with flour, broil and serve with a sauce as you would fresh salmon."

In trying a few tricks with smoked salmon, I treated it partly according to these directions, but did not use the flour, nor did I broil it. I washed it as a precaution, poured the boiling water on it to take some of the salty snap out of it, it being much like smoked herring, or particularly like bloater paste in that characteristic. Then I put it into a hot buttered pan and turned it so as to heat both sides well, and found that the nice pieces made an excellent appetizer.

The broken parts I stirred till the fish was almost shredded and then put the shreds into a truly cream sauce, that is, one made entirely of cream, with two level tablespoons of flour per cup for thickening. Some mushrooms were added but to no great advantage, and a little chopped parsley stirred in at the last.

One of the alluring statements that was made in an article on Parisian cooking was that smoked salmon resembled rose leaves. We might take advantage of this idea in setting up a smoked salmon hors d'oeuvre.

Old Sawmill to Be Added to Henry Ford's Museum

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 27.—(AP)—An ancient sawmill, idle for many years, will be transplanted to Michigan soil by Henry Ford. Dismantling work started today and preparations are being made for shipping the mill to the Ford museum. The manufacturer's attention was attracted to the sawmill by the smokestack, which he saw rising high above the trees on the Altamaha river at Darien, a short distance from Brunswick.

Baby Girl, 3, and Boy, 7, Are Married in India

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Daily Mail, in a dispatch from Calcutta today, said that a bride of three years and a groom of seven had been married at Chinsura, nearby, to escape impending operation of the anti-child marriage act. The mother carried her baby girl to the ceremony, the dispatch said. The rush to evade the act continues unabated, most of the couples being aged between 9 and 12 years.

KUBIN ESTATE SET AT MILLION IN INVENTORY

File Holdings of Binkley and Guthmann.

The inventory of the estate of Otto Kubin, president of the Atlas Brewing company, was filed yesterday before Leon Edelman, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It lists assets estimated at $1,000,000. Inventories of two other estates, that of Leroy G. Binkley and of Isaac Guthmann, were filed with Mitchell C. Robin of the Probate court.

The chief item of the Kubin estate is 850 shares of stock in the brewing company valued at approximately $600,000. The remainder of the estate is made up of securities and real estate. Mr. Kubin died May 3, 1929, at Colorado Springs, Colo. He had been in the real estate business in Chicago for 50 years. In 1891 he founded the Atlas Brewing company in partnership with Charles J. Vopica, who later became United States minister to Balkan countries.

Names Widow, 5 Children.

His will ' the bulk of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Vlasta Jones Kubin and five children, Mrs. Carrie Southard, Miss Adelaide, Otto Jr., Charles and Robert J. Kubin. The inventory was filed by Attorney Walter Truc.

Mr. Binkley was president of the Binkley Coal company. He died last Nov. 29 in his home at Glencoe. The largest item in his estate is 1,776 shares of the coal company's stock. His will leaves the estate to his widow, Mrs. Helen Binkley and three children.

List Estate of Merchant.

Mr. Guthmann was a retired merchant of La Salle, Ill. He had lived in Chicago for five years before his death last July 26. The estate is left to his widow, Mrs. Carrie Guthmann of the Chicago Beach hotel and two sons, Lawrence and Elias Guthmann.

The inventory lists $300,000 in bonds, $100,000 in cash, and the balance in stocks and real estate. Before his retirement Mr. Guthmann was president of the Guthmann Clothing company, established in several Illinois cities.

Chimney Sweep Recovers After Rescue from Stack

Recovered from the effects of coal gas and the cramping he received while trapped in a 150 foot smokestack yesterday morning William Thorne, 26 years old, 6053 Kenwood avenue, a chimney sweep, reported for duty again last night at the Reliable Chimney Cleaners, 7135 South Lincoln street. Thorne was rescued by firemen, who worked two hours to extricate him from the stack where coal gas and cramped arms had ended his progress. He had gone to clear an obstruction in the stack of the Poinsettia apartment hotel, 5528 Hyde Park boulevard.

PIERSON IS NEW STATE DIRECTOR OF AGRICULTURE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Appointment of Stuart K. Pierson, farmer and banker of Carrollton, to succeed Clarence F. Buck of Monmouth as director of the state department of agriculture was announced here today.

Director Buck presented his resignation prior to Gov. Emmerson's departure, in order that he might devote his time to his campign for state treasurer.

Pierson's appointment is effective March 1. The new director is 57 years old and has spent nearly all of his life in Greene county, where his large farm holdings include 500 acres, which he farms in coöperation and partnership with tenants.

Two Chicago Estates Win Internal Revenue Refunds

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Refunds of overassessments of income and estate taxes of two large Chicago estates were announced today by the internal revenue bureau. An overassessment of income tax amounting to $73,199.04 on earnings of the estate of Norman W. Harris, deceased, was held to have been made in connection with a deduction for inheritance taxes paid to the state of Illinois. An overassessment through an administrative error of estate tax amounting to $117,911 was announced in connection with the estate of William Nelson McClintock.

3 BANKS CLOSE IN 24 HRS. IN AN INDIANA COUNTY

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Three banks in St. Joseph county have closed their doors within the last twenty-four hours and a receivership for another has been asked by the state banking commissioner.

Wednesday afternoon the State Bank of Tyner, which is capitalized at $25,000, closed in an effort to protect its deposits after a run had started.

News of the Tyner closing spread quickly and within an hour after the Farmers State bank of Walkerton had opened for business today a run forced its closing.

Late this afternoon directors closed the Farmers State bank at Lapaz and called in Thomas Barr, state inspector.

The state banking commission today filed a petition in the St. Joseph county Circuit court asking a receivership for the Lakeville State bank, which closed its doors earlier in the week because of frozen assets.

perfect baking and perfect health have something in common!

PERFECT baking needs the Two-to-One leavening action of Rumford, the all-phosphate Baking Powder. Perfect health demands for the blood a proper amount of calcium such as that which Rumford supplies in abundance.

There are other good sources of food calcium; milk is the richest. But among baking powders, this valuable bone-building calcium is available only in pure, all-phosphate powder like Rumford.

And only in a pure, all-phosphate powder do you get the double advantage which combines the health-building effect of calcium phosphate with the superior results of Two-to-One leavening—two-thirds of the leavening taking place in the mixing and one-third in the oven.

Give your family these superior advantages by using

REDUCE WITH GRAPEFRUIT!

Include Seald-Sweet Grapefruit in your reducing diet. Its juice guards against acidity, it supplies needed bulk, it gives you healthful minerals and salts with a minimum of fat-producing calories.

There certainly IS a difference in Grapefruit!

AS soon as you look at Seald-Sweets, you'll know by their smooth, plump shapes that you've never before made so choice a grapefruit purchase.

As soon as you cut them, you'll see how thin the skin is—here's extra room for juice! You'll notice how the juice just trickles out—they're simply packed with it!

But until you taste their luscious juice, you can't possibly understand what grapefruit enjoyment really means. For Seald-Sweets are sweetest and richest in flavor . . . the finest grapefruit that Florida grows!

From now on serve your family Seald-Sweets every day, and you'll soon see what a big difference their juicy goodness makes with appetites . . . and what a difference their rich store of minerals, vitamins and antacids makes with health!

AND ORANGES, TOO

To ask for Seald-Sweets is the very same thing as asking for the prime pick of Florida's crop . . . the oranges that give you ¼ more juice—unequalled for richness and excellence of flavor.

So whether it's grapefruit or oranges you want, be sure to look for Seald-Sweets. That's the sure way to get just what you want . . . juice-plumped, tree-ripened fruit!

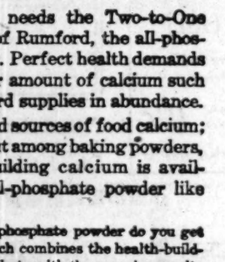
Miss Farmer's SCHOOL OF COOKERY

proves new G. Washington's coffee is an economy



Miss Alice Bradley, Principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery, Boston, Mass., and Cooking Editor of a famous woman's magazine.

How G. Washington's is prepared for your table

Made from the finest coffee beans, roasted, ground and percolated in glass containers; the moisture is then removed, leaving only coffee part of the coffee bean. All you need do is add hot water to have a perfect cup of coffee, uniform and fresh.

Regular tests made by the school staff definitely established the unvarying flavor and freshness of G. Washington's.

"We recently concluded a test of several coffees to determine the actual cost per cup to the average housewife. Four different brands were used, and two cups of each kind were made daily... Our results showed that G. Washington's Coffee was uniformly good throughout the two weeks of the test, while the other coffees differed from day to day. And further, it was proven that G. Washington's, especially considering its quality and service to the housewife, is not expensive or out of line in price. G. Washington's Coffee costs you less than old-style coffee, considering time and labor saved the housewife."
{Signed} ALICE BRADLEY, Principal

THE longer you use G. Washington's, the more you appreciate how economical it is. The small can makes just as many cups as a large can of ground coffee beans. It is as easy to make a good single cup as to make six, without any waste... It is good coffee, pure coffee, nothing but coffee—made from only the finest coffee grown. The can you buy contains "the coffee part of the coffee bean" with the grounds and water removed. To serve, simply add a level teaspoonful to hot water. There are no pots or percolators to scour, no bothersome strainers or grounds: literally, it is the coffee that makes itself... G. Washington's is uniformly fresh, because it is made and packed immediately after roasting, to preserve the original freshness and fine flavor... Send 10 cents for a sample can; G. Washington Coffee Refining Company, 1305 Hanover Avenue, Morris Plains, New Jersey.

Society Parties Precede Dance by Miss Graham

BY THALIA

Many members of the Arts club are taking advantage of the program to be given there this evening to have supper and to see the dance recital of Martha Graham of the Dance Repertory theater.

Miss Graham has been one of the sensations of the season in New York City this winter and her work has been commented upon in glowing terms. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, president of the club, is having the supper group at her table, a party of 8. Her guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Miss Alice Keller, Frederic Bartlett, the Walter S. Brewsters, and Arthur Heun. The Hubert Burnhams have reserved a table, and Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick has invited 7 guests to accompany her.

Others planning to attend include Miss Agnes Foreman, Mrs. Louis Brown, Carol Aus, Mrs. Otis Glidden, Miss Marian Gheen, Mrs. Erich Gerberg, and Mrs. Sol Goldberg.

Mrs. Russell Lord is having a luncheon party at the Arts club on Saturday for 20, and Mrs. George Kelly is taking 9 young people to lunch, and afterwards to a matinée, also on Saturday.

Mrs. Sangston Hettler and members of the Junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital are to conduct a spring hat sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop next Wednesday. Besides the hats and the regular rummage stock, there is a new doll house for sale, decorated and furnished by Marguerite Foster, one of the debutantes, for part of her quota of Junior league charity work hours.

The first of the entertainments to be given for Thornton Wilder during his stay in Chicago for a series of lectures at the University of Chicago will be a distinguished guest luncheon the Drama league is to give at the Stevens hotel next Wednesday, March 5.

Mr. Wilder is to speak on "The Enthusiasms and Disappointments of Play Going." Others who are to sit at the speaker's table will include Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. Ernst Freund, Horace Bridges, Llewellyn Jones, and Whitford Kane.

The Print and Drawing club of the Art Institute has issued invitations for a program at 3:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, March 6, in the print rooms of the institute. Miss Lillian Miller of Corea will demonstrate the art of making a wood block print, after which tea is to be served.

John Wentworth and Lawrence Calhoun left last night for Florida. They will join Mrs. Wentworth, who has been visiting in Sarasota, Fla., and the three of them will have a vacation of several weeks doing whatever they decide will be pleasantest. They may go to Nassau for awhile, and will most likely do some fishing, but they are leaving their plans to formulate themselves after they arrive in the south.

Mrs. Marjorie Letts has returned from a month's stay in Nassau in the Bahamas.

Mrs. Harry Kimbark of Evanston has had visiting her Miss Molly Adams of Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Jacob Baur is back from her stay in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Edmonds, whose marriage took place on Feb. 1 in Louisville, Ky., have returned from a honeymoon in Palm Beach and Havana. They are residing for the present with Mr. Edmonds' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard O. Edmonds of Kenilworth. After March 15 they will occupy their own apartment at 820 Judson avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Edmonds is the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Fenley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carr Fenley of Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. of Lake Forest have returned from a fortnight's motor trip through Aiken, S. C., and Middelburg, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Plamondon of the Belden-Stratford hotel who have been in Florida, with Palm Beach as their headquarters for short trips, are returning to Chicago on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Humphreys of 219 Lake Shore drive are at the Edgewater Gulf hotel at Edgewater Park, Miss., for a week.

Rome Holds Carnival for Lent; Begins on Wednesday Next Week

ROME, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The feast of "Giovedi Grasse," literally "fat Thursday," first date in the Roman pre-Lenten carnival season, was celebrated today by old and young, the latter having a bit the better of it.

Practically all the schools closed, to remain so until after Ash Wednesday, and the children were out in force early in the day. Garbed in fancy costumes of every imaginable hue, tooting horns and banging on small drums and tambourines, they went about the streets in small groups, most of them unaccompanied.

Tonight saw a succession of dinner and dance parties, most of the adult attendants being in costume.

Additional gayety was lent to the popular rejoicings by the fact that today was pay day for the Roman municipal employés. There will be another great day Tuesday, "Martedi Grasse," better known in America as Mardi Gras. Then Rome and its neighbor, the Vatican city state, will finally settle down to observance of Lent.

Hugh Walpole Lecturing Here Today About Novels

Hugh Walpole, English novelist, will deliver a lecture this morning at 11 o'clock at the Blackstone hotel. His subject is "The Art of Immorality of the Novel." He will appear here under the auspices of the Cordon club.

Mr. Walpole, in discussing the morality of the novel, will analyze the causes that have given rise to the recent production of novels by writers of the younger generation in which abnormal sex topics are conspicuous. Some of these have been suppressed in England and in some cities of America.

'Oak Park Follies' Tonight; Church Play on Sunday

Edward Carroll is to play the leading rôle in the annual "Oak Park Follies," to be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Oak Park club. Gene Wentz and David Thomas are directors of this year's production, the cast of which includes one hundred and forty young men and women of that suburb. Mr. Carroll is the son of W. Scott Carroll of 424 Washington boulevard, Oak Park.

Emile Zoir, Having Learned to Paint, Adds Own Genius

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

It probably will not be given to every one to see the superb paintings by Emile Zoir which were placed on view for the first time last night under the same lighting effects as I chanced upon them. They are being shown at the Swedish Club of Chicago, 1258 North La Salle street, and the gallery has been especially arranged to show them to the best advantage. But the best advantage, to my mind, is the unexpected manner in which they were allowed to dawn upon me.

First, the gallery was in a thin darkness. One imagined paintings on either hand; one saw only the magnificent "Crucifixion," in its three panels, at the far end of the room. That was lit. Then lights went on; then off. A dim arrangement of lighting first; then clearer, then dark again, and at last the electrician pressed the right buttons and the canvases stood out in their full color and purpose. But those unplanned and unanticipated glimpses between darknesses had done their work well. They had laid an imaginative path which bridged at once the space between modernism as we see it and as it is practiced in Sweden.

Emile Zoir is known in every country in Europe; his fame is great; his reputation unassailable, and the honors which have been heaped upon him are many. He was one of the first men in the creating of the art to which today has given the name of modern. In Florence thirty years ago he and a group of other artists brought a new element to the profession of painting. As he explains it, in Sweden one first learns and studies until one knows, until one has a solid foundation of academic drawing and technique in painting and then one throws aside what one has learned, invites one's soul into conference, and paints, not photographically, but in the best way known to one's self, one's thoughts and emotions and visions. Without a solid foundation of knowledge Zoir's paintings would be impossible. As it is, they are magnificent.

The "Creation" is a spiritual interpretation of the book of Genesis. The "Crucifixion" is sad and tragic and immeasurably great. The people walk bowed in sorrow; never did painter portray more vividly the weight of agony under which a populace moved. In lighter vein the other canvases pass in review. The paintings of ships are particularly fine, and the paintings of people, the nude in "The Awakening," to emphasize one, are superbly presented. Color, line, movement, rhythm, and intelligent consecutiveness of thought run through them all. Back of the painting lies vision; behind that is imagination; the whole sprung up from knowledge. To Emile Zoir must go a sincere recognition as one of the master creators of today.

The exhibition is to remain on view to March 10.

Treble Clef Quartet Sings; DeLamarter Conducts 'Pop' Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Chicago Treble Clef quartet, composed of Gladys Houlden, Florine Schlamp, Janes Symons, and Sigrid Angstrom, with Grace Symons at the piano, introduced themselves at Kimball hall last night in a program of songs written for four women's voices. Some were written in that form, some were arrangements of solo melodies, all contained the moving lines that ran from high first soprano to low second contralto. The form of expression is not unlimited—for that matter, neither is the male quartet—but within its range it permits pleasant harmonic combinations, and, at its best deft contrapuntal interweavings. The members of the organization would seem to have put in considerable diligent study and rehearsal with the idea of making their combination as effective as possible, and though at times at the mercy of their music generally made a success of their undertakings.

Eric DeLamarter conducted the popular concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night, and when Orchestra hall was visited he and the orchestra were going strong and making a hit with the audience. The succulent if none too meaty sixth symphony by Glazounow was liked so well that an encore was demanded and Liapunow's "Music Box" was played. Lisst's second Hungarian Rhapsody followed, with great spirit on the part of the orchestra and some extra specially brilliant obbligati by Mr. Lindeman at the clarinet and Mr. Vito at the harp. Some of the other music played was Mr. DeLamarter's own "Betrothal" Suite and Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slave."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Not His Handkerchief.

My most embarrassing moment occurred last summer when I was invited to a dinner party. On the way over my car got a flat tire. After repairing it I absentmindedly placed the greased rag, on which I had wiped my hands, in my pocket. The room being warm and stuffy, I grabbed the rag out of my pocket, thinking it was a handkerchief, and wiped my face. The guests snickered at me, and, until I looked in the mirror, I did not know that my face was covered with grease. Imagine my embarrassment! J. B.

Out of Place.

Last Saturday night I was invited to a card party and was asked to bring a deck of cards with me, which I did.

When the card game was over I put the cards, loose, in my pocket. The next day I went to church.

Forgetting all about the cards in my pocket, I pulled out a handkerchief. Out came the cards, one after another, scattering over the floor.

Talk about being embarrassed. I never had such a feeling before. J. S.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Featherweight woolen in Spanish red tones was used for this interesting dress. The dress simulates a bolero through a diagonal, scalloped outline, with the scallops repeated in the skirt above the plaited inset at the left side. This is just the sort of dress that is smart for the school or college girl, or for a youthful type of woman for general utility wear. A narrow belt is worn at the normal waistline.

The pattern, 3268, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material.

DON'T be a Dodo!

WHY spend hours doing something that has now become as old-fashioned as hoop skirts? The young housewife of today knows that with a Whirldry her washing is done efficiently and unobtrusively while she is busy about other household affairs. The clothes are washed, rinsed, and whirled dry, and her apartment is cleaned...all in the time it used to take to do the wash alone. And all the drudgery is gone too...for scrubbing, rinsing, and wringing are done for you in this compact little machine.

Moreover, your financial budget will include the Whirldry without a murmur ...since it is now only $49.50. Don't waste a moment...you need it now!

"Jack-Knife Cookery" Is All Round Book and Guide for Boys

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Some days ago a cook book for little girls was reviewed in this column. "Jackknife Cookery" is a cook book for boys—but more than a cook book. It is a combination of adventure and cooking, written in a lively style and full of informal, amusing sketches. It is not for very young boys. I should say it would have the greatest interest for boys from the age at which they may join the Scouts on up—and I'm sure the "ups" will find it fascinating, as I am doing.

In fact, the author, James Wilder, who was a director of the national department of sea scouting, has been for many years identified with the Boy Scouts. The idea is to show what can be done in cookery with only a jackknife. But the book is so much more than that, that one hesitates to call it my its name—"Jackknife Cookery."

It takes the reader all over the world, nearly, and treats him to the dishes of many nations and of the people of many occupations. Lots of things you've wondered about it clears up for you. Do you know what bubble and squeak is? And lobscouse? And "dead men"? And rope or jerky?

Tucked in in such a way that you could hardly help remembering are bits of information about first aid and real practical camping—how to keep warm and dry, what to do and not to do. Indeed, as the author says, if you're going to sleep or cook or live outdoors, "why not know how?" In his Yarns Nos. 1, 2, etc., he tells in a way to fix it in your mind what to do and not to do in emergencies of one sort or another.

The book seems to me a delightful combination of cook, guide, and story book for those who love real, rough outdoor life.

Woman Sheds 30 Excess Pounds, but Takes Eight Months

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A correspondent reports a reducing experience which left her at 35, thirty pounds than than the bould a woman that age should rejoice in. Wisely directed, the thirty pound weight decrease was done slowly. To be exact, it covered a period of eight months. The woman ate three meals a day. It took practically two weeks, she reports, before she could accustom herself to the three light meals she now takes.

But gradually she dropped this item and that from her usual meal program until she found she could live quite happily without pie, pastry, cream dressings, and sweet desserts; also without great quantities of bread and butter at every meal.

She took her ordinary meat and vegetable portions at dinner, learning as she went along to distinguish between starchy vegetables, such as potatoes and rice, and the more fattening items of the vegetable kingdom like peas and shelled beans and corn. She ate of the latter sometimes, but only in half portions. The only exercise she was ordered to take was three brisk miles a day, without fail.

Well, thirty pounds off is something to rejoice over when you are only 35 years of age and you havesa husband who belongs to the tribe who couldn't put on a pound if he ate six meals a day. But what the woman was most delighted about was the improvement in her skin and hair, the complexion particularly.

During her overweight stage her skin simply oozed oil, as she tells it. That embarrassment is now lifted. And the condition of her hair is so noticeably improved that she is inspired now to dress it more becomingly than it has been worn in years.

The effect reducing has on the skin is no new discovery, of course. But much overweight persons might take a cue from our correspondent's experience and reduce the surplus oil in skin and hair by reducing their gross intake of fat and excessively rich foodstuffs. It is bound to regulate the surplus oil flow.

Also the substitution of more leafy vegetables and fruit in the diet for starches and sweets will help regulate the intestinal tract, usually in sore need of regulation where excess weight is provoked by excessive consumption of fats, sugars, and starches.

Taffeta Capes are Worn on the Riviera

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—I've just come back from the Riviera, where winter is shut out on the north side of the Alps so that southern fashions can sport amongst the palm trees. Day and evening clothes there are already advanced into the spring time and one of the prettiest of these newest and springiest fashions is the taffeta evening capes that the gay young daughters of chic wrap themselves in when they go dancing along the azure coast.

These taffeta evening capes are simple and informal, but they have the it of Paris chic in every line and fold. The old-time flowing cape, hanging loose from the shoulders, is only seen on policemen and Italian army officers. The smart cape worn by fashionable women is another story. Loose hanging would be a disgrace for this kind of wrap. It is gathered in snugly mal waist line, as shown in our sketch, so that the silhouette is a bit hour-glassish and most fetching.

You will notice by observing the sketch that the taffeta evening cape that wraps up the southern evening gown is quite long. A short while back it would have been more than full length, as it reaches well below the knees, but in this year of gracefulness the dress goes on careering down to the heels below.

Martial et Armand have made this cape of black taffeta and the color is a favorite, because it is so attractive over pink, pale gray, and white evening frocks that one sees everywhere along the Riviera. The way in which the back of this cape is cut is a tribute to the cleverness of Madame Vallet, who designs the clothes of Martial et Armand, and it makes the back lines taper in at the waist line in the smartest manner. Around the bottom of this cape are frilly pleated ruffles of taffeta and around the neck is an ermine collar that is shawl in front and pointed in the back.

Doris Tells This Wife to Rebel, and Facts Warrant It

BY DORIS BLAKE.

If any one is interested in knowing why our army of married women workers are engaged in occupations outside of the home, they may find one excellent reason in E. V. R.'s portrayal of the home conditions under which she works.

The wonder is not that married folk choose the weekly pay envelope, but that more do not go after it. In a recent survey of the married woman worker it was shown that the two outstanding reasons for her occupation in industry are to increase the family budget for better living conditions, better educational advantages for children, better clothes, and so on; the other reason—because men fall down absolutely as providers, many of them contributing nothing or so little as to be worse than nothing for the wife's comfort and happiness.

Here's a man with a good salary who doles out to his wife the large sum of fifty cents a day per person for food, out of which she is to buy soap, starch and other essentials. In return for this the wife is treated to a rich brand of cursing and swearing because she does not walk a mile to save two cents on butter. Her clothes the woman gets from friends and relatives, even to shoes. Amusements? The man never heard of a woman wanting such a thing.

Her recreation she gets from books loaned her, for the woman is bound she will read and improve herself although darning, mending, cooking, scrubbing and washing allow not much time for it. The few pennies the woman ever manages for herself she earns by carrying milk bottles back, and other measures as mean and niggardly. Accounting for pennies is bad enough, but when you have to listen, in addition, to how "his mother had ten children and managed," it's more than human can stand.

Instead of giving away to fits of melancholy almost suicidal in nature as Mrs. E. V. R. confesses, would it not be better to strike out and try to line up with an employer who would show some concrete form of appreciation for hard and conscientious work? Anyway, a strike of some kind should be called.

Over Half Million Raised for Growth of the Boy Scouts

The active support of the Boy Scout campaign for funds to guarantee a four year scouting expansion program in Chicago is as much of a civic duty as support of the effort now being made to "rescue" the city and county from their financial plight.

That was the statement of Silas H. Strawn, executive chairman of the Chicago Boy Scout council campaign committee, who addressed the third weekly meeting of committee chairmen at the Union League club yesterday. The chairman reported contributions totaling $81,000 pledged during the last week, bringing the present total to $567,000.

A fund of $1,250,000 is sought to increase the number of Scouts to 30,000 by 1933, to provide scouting in selected city areas of juvenile delinquency, increase camping facilities, develop educational work, and expand sea scouting.

Judge Francis B. Allegretti after more than two years as judge of the Boys' court, who was another speaker, declared that "the boy of today is not really bad at heart. He is simply in need of such a steadying influence as scouting offers to take him away from his bad companions and harmful environment."

Yankee Experts Find Nearly 30 Coffins in Old Egyptian Tomb

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The University of Pennsylvania museum announced today it has received a cablegram that one of the largest collections of coffins ever found in one tomb in Egypt has been unearthed by the university's expedition at Meydum.

The coffins, all of which contain mummies, range from 2,200 years to nearly 4,000 years in age, it was stated.

"Nearly thirty coffins and mummies found in the new tomb," the cablegram from Alan Rowe, field director of the expedition, stated. "One coffin contains a mummy, the head of which is covered with net and over which are a golden flying scarab and a gilded mask. Another coffin dates from the twelfth dynasty, about 2000 B. C., and is covered with texts.

"The tomb seems to be really a caché of coffins and mummies which had been collected together and stored there. From the bottom of a deep pit eight chambers radiate in various directions. About five of these chambers are piled ceiling high with broken and unbroken coffins. The caché has apparently never been robbed.

"This is the biggest find of coffins I ever have seen in Egypt and is of the greatest importance. It is, of course, yet too early to say just what they contain."

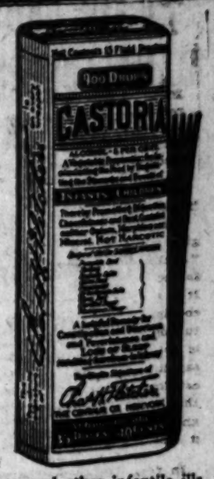
When Babies FRET



There are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve. Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

SEA FOE CRUSHES CANAL DEFENSES IN MIMIC BATTLE

"Black Fleet" Occupies Panama Bay.

BY GERALD MARTIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Feb. 27.—Shortly after last midnight the "black fleet," representing a Pacific enemy attacking the Panama canal, steamed into Panama bay notwithstanding heavy firing from 16 inch guns hidden among the hills overlooking the entrance to the canal.

Despite powerful all night attacks by France field army planes, as well as bombing hydroplanes from Cocosolos, it became apparent that the defending army, consisting of 7,000 coast defense infantry supported by field artillery, stationed for the last three days on both sides of the canal beaches, as well as patrolling likely landing places, was completely outclassed by the attacking naval force.

The permanent naval force of the canal is ridiculously small to defend it against surprise attacks. The fifteenth naval district is actually a skeleton force without a battleship or cruiser, having only a few obsolete submarines and airplanes. While army experts praise the Panama canal department of the army, they freely admit that a surprise attack would mean the destruction of the canal.

Maj. Gen. Mallin Craig, who is in command of the department, said that at 2 p. m. yesterday planes had picked up the enemy fleet 70 miles southwest of Cape Malo, about 250 miles from Balboa. The "enemy" was making about 12 knots and the airplane carrier Saratoga had been intercepted by naval bombing planes. It was believed that the Saratoga had been "destroyed" following nine direct bomb hits.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon defense flyers sent a radio message reporting that the "enemy" consisted of six battleships, one large and one small airplane carrier, five destroyers, three submarines and nine train vessels. They were then located 30 miles northeast of their former position, steaming at an easy 12 knot clip toward the entrance of the canal. Defender planes intercepted messages from the Saratoga's commander to Admiral L. M. Nulton intimating that it was being vigorously bombed.

Searchlights played while the defenders' guns from shore batteries as well as naval and army planes bombed the attackers, who responded, but the umpires refused to make a statement pending a conference. The defending planes were handicapped owing to the lack of landing fields on the Pacific side of the canal. Brooks field, now in course of construction, is at present the only field on the Atlantic side.

In last year's maneuvers the locks were "blown up" by enemy spies, but several similar attempts this year by the spies were foiled in time.

Relatives Fight Argentine Cabaret Contracts.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Parents, brothers, sisters, and sweethearts of 12 girls bound for Buenos Aires to fill "cabaret" engagements precipitated a riot early today at the railroad depot here from which trains for Hamburg depart. The riot broke out after they had received a last minute warning that the engagement was a white slavery trick.

With the departure of the train only 30 minutes away the sweetheart of one of the girls suddenly called on all the other sweethearts, fathers, uncles, and brothers to follow him, and plunged headlong into a band of special guards who had been sent down by the booking agency in anticipation of just such an emergency. In no time the station platform was a seething struggle of fists and feet, until a police squad, rushed up in riot cars, pacified the battlers.

The relatives then made a vigorous protest and succeeded in dissuading three of the girls from taking the trip. The police also held back one girls of 17 on account of her age. The other eight sailed from Hamburg tonight for Buenos Aires on the French steamer Enable after the Hamburg police had attempted to find a way of preventing their departure. But they were helpless before the technical correctness of the passports.

The rage of the parents was inspired partly by recent sensational German and French best sellers luridly portraying the American "white slave traffic" feeding on European and especially German young womanhood.

The German papers tonight are highly wrought up over the matter. They assert the Argentine consulate in Berlin did its utmost to prevent the departure of the girls, even appealing to steamship companies not to give them passage.

One paper asserts that the investigation showed that the contracts call for only a normal wage and very little dancing. It adds that Frau Schmeling, the booking agent, is not worried whether the girls she engages have much dancing skill, but on the other hand she absolutely insisted that they all be blonde. The paper further states that this is because Argentinians are dark gentlemen and prefer blonde entertainment, which increases Berlin's suspicions.

MAN, GIRL SHOT IN THEIR "LOVE NEST" RETREAT

Benton Harbor, Mich., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Arthur Horr, 23, of Grand Rapids, and Opal Brant Benson of Benton Harbor, Mich., pretty auburn haired blonde, both lie, badly wounded in the South Haven city hospital, after a double shooting in an alleged "love nest" in Phoenix street, South Haven, in the early hours this morning.

The couple had been living there, in an apartment house.

According to the story told officers, Horr accidentally shot himself.

As South Haven police arrived to take Horr to the hospital the girl ran sobbing upstairs, crying, "If he goes, I go, too."

The two were found wounded on the bed. The woman apparently had attempted suicide by shooting herself above the heart. Physicians say both have an excellent chance to recover.

Girl's Suit for $75,000 for Loss of Feet Started

The trial of a $75,000 damage suit brought against the Chicago City Railways company and Leo Checchi by Miss Mabel Frankewicz, 21 years old, 1320 South Avers avenue, was begun yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Harry C. Stuttle's court. Miss Frankewicz suffered the amputation of both feet, one above the ankle and the other at the heel, as the result of injuries received Dec. 21, 1927.

SHARKEY WINS; SCOTT QUITS IN THIRD ROUND

CROWN EIGHT GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPIONS TONIGHT

Big Boys' Punches Thrill 6,000.

Plenty of Seats

MOST of the $3 tickets for the finals of the Golden Gloves tournament to be held in the Coliseum tonight have been sold. But there are still thousands of good tickets for purchase. Box offices at the Coliseum will be opened at 1 o'clock. Fans living outside Chicago may reserve tickets by wiring the Coliseum box office.

BY DON MAXWELL.

Golden Glove champions, the sixteen finest amateur boxers in the central states, will be chosen tonight. The scene of the coronation of the eight title holders and the runners-up will be at the Coliseum. Thirty-two bouts comprise the card. The show starts at 7 o'clock.

Down in Miami last night two professionals who are supposed to know about boxing found it impossible to go three rounds without alleged fouling. Here in Chicago 208 boys, who aren't professionals and who don't claim to know much about the science of the ring, have finished almost 800 rounds without one foul being called. The Golden Glove tournament tickets sell for $1 to $3. At Miami the fans paid $27.50 top. Incidentally, there are still tickets left for tonight's great windup show.

Thrills with No Complaints.

Still thinking comparatively of the Miami and Coliseum performances, we'll hazard that the six thousand who watched the quarter finals of the Coliseum meet saw more action in any one of a dozen battles than the fans saw all evening amid the royal palms.

For instance, there was the bout between Buzz Green, the Davenport butcher boy, and Grant Fortney, the husky taxi driver of the South Shore A. C., Chicago. Mr. Fortney has been press-agented like Sharkey, and he didn't get a cent for fighting. Withal he gave the fans a thrill, stopping the Buzz in the second round.

And there was the bout between Adam Smith, the Rockford big boy, and Joe Fett. Adam's fame is strictly local, but he gave the onlookers a lot of fun when he kayoed Mr. Fett, also in the second round.

Jimmy Loses His Luck.

Nor was all the interest of the night confined to the bouts in the heavyweight class. There was a lot of drama packed away in the fight which Jimmy Lamberson, the little bootblack and post laureatte of South Bend, lost to Johnny Badner of the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

The navy suffered worse in the first round than in a disarmament conference. Jimmy was playing with punches as though they were sonnets. His rhythm was great. Then bad luck bobbed up. A yellow telegram crumpled and worn from repeated perusal, came fluttering to the canvas of the ring. Jimmy had been wearing it tucked away in his belt.

The telegram was signed "Peaches" and in it Jimmy was assured of a kiss for every knockdown he scored. That telegram was a lady's favor dear to the heart fo Sir Jimmy. When it fell to the canvas Jimmy became discouraged. Sailor Bednar, his sturdy arms decorated with tattoed ladies, was decadent for seal upon no telegram. As Jimmy faltered Johnny perked up. Sailor Boy Johnny won the decision.

Decides to Carry On.

There were numerous fights last night worth detailed description. One of them was the rattling battle between Johnny Emmerick of East St. Louis and Dick Mastro of Chicago's west side.

No professional flyweights ever fought a gamer, flashier bout than did these midgets. Mastro was seconded by his brother, Earl, and when the battle began he was applauded by at least half the crowd. Thousands had seen him in action Tuesday night. They knew him for a great little battler. Emmerick had as many partisans. The draw had brought together two fast, clever boxers.

The fight justified the crowd's expectations.

Fans Boo Extra Round.

Emmerick had a shade in the first round. Mastro came back strong and although the crowd thought that Emmerick won the third round, the judges didn't, and called the battle a draw. The fans booed lustily and showed enthusiastically when Emmerick began pummeling the west side lad with vengeance.

The final verdict went to the East St. Louis contender and the crowd's emotions were restored to normal temperature.

Chicago Fighters Hold 17-14 Edge in Quarter Finals

Out of town fighters, however, still lead Chicago for the three nights of battling, having carried away victories, either by decisions or knockouts, in 82 of the 151 bouts.

Seven of the Chicago wins last night were by knockouts. Foreign entries registered five K. O.'s and nine decision triumphs.

BANUET DEFEATS BATHEY IN U. S. HANDBALL MEET

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Alfred Banuet of San Francisco late today removed another obstacle in his path for his second National A. A. U. handball championship when he defeated Joe Bathey of Detroit, 21-11, 21-12, in a quarter final match.

Other quarter final singles results: George Nelson, Baltimore, defeated Sam Berko, Cleveland, 21-10, 21-17.

Joe Powers of Los Angeles won on a forfeit from Sam Atcheson, Memphis (Tenn.) star. Atcheson said it was necessary for him to return to his home immediately.

Banuet tomorrow night will meet Powers in one semi-final match and Nelson will play Holbemann in the other.

HAWKS, RANGERS TIE, 1 TO 1; STILL SHARE 2D PLACE

Ingram Scores Chicago's Only Tally.

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks held the New York Rangers to a 1 to 1 overtime tie at Madison Square garden tonight, and, as a result the two teams still share second place in the American group of the National Hockey league.

Save for a short time in the first period when Chicago took the lead on a goal by Frank Ingram, the Blackhawks were content to allow the locals to carry the play.

New York tied the score in the second period on a goal by Butch Keeling after Sparky Vail had brought the puck through the Chicago reserve line. Vail, met by strong interference in the person of Taffy Abel and forced to a position diagonally behind the Chicago net relayed the disc to Keeling who made good in 4 minutes and 38 seconds.

CANADIENS WIN, 6-2.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—(AP)—With Roy Worters, barrowed from the New York Americans to tend goal, Les Canadiens of Montreal defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6 to 2, tonight to regain second place in the international group of the National Hockey league. The victory gave the Flying Frenchmen a one point margin over Ottawa.

COUGARS, SENATORS TIE.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Detroit's Cougars and the Ottawa Senators played two periods of listless hockey heretonight, and then started a lively game, emerging from an overtime period tussle with the score tied, 3 to 3.

Rochester's Rally Beats Bruins, 23-22

Led by Benny Rabin and Chazmadia, the Rochester Centrals came from far behind to defeat the Chicago Bruins in the waning moments of a hard fought game at Chicago Stadium last night.

Nat Holman continued his spectacular pace of the previous evening and the Bruins amassed a big lead in the opening five minutes of the second half. Then four successive baskets by Rabin, followed by Chazmadia's only two of the game, overcame the Bruins' nine point lead and put the league leaders out in front. Nat Holman broke loose for his fourth basket to bring the Bruins within one point of the Centrals, but Rochester held control of the ball thereafter, and the Bruins' savage fighting availed them nothing.

Inability to convert their free throws counted heavily against the Bruins, who made only four out of eight attempts from the free throw line.

Tilden and Coen Win Net Tourney at Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden and his protégé, Junior Coen of Kansas City, won the Butler tennis trophy in the doubles competition here today, defeating the Italian Davis cup pair, Baron de Morpurgo and P. Gaslini, in a stiff five set battle. The scores were 5-7, 8-10, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1. Tilden also progressed in the singles play, defeating Charles H. Kingsley of England in the quarter finals, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

TUNNEY SAYS PHIL SCOTT QUIT

Miami, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Two big broad shouldered men looked at the skirmish of the tropics last night with expert eyes. One would not have climbed into the ring to box for any amount of money, although he could have beaten any of the ten men in it. The other refused an offer of $15,000 to take part in the second show when he had been a principal in the first one year ago.

The first was Gene Tunney and the second Young Stribling.

"Scott quit," said Tunney.

"Scott's a bum," said Stribling.

The former heavyweight champion, polite as always, said that the card as a whole was "very interesting." Tunney was attired in dinner clothes, but took no chances on retarding his convalescence from a recent operation by catching cold and wore a wide brimmed Panama hat.

POUNDS OUT ANOTHER VICTORY

Jack Sharkey, who dimmed the heavyweight title aspirations of Phil Scott at Miami last night. Heavy blows to the body floored the Briton in the third round. Sharkey was unable to land effectively in the first two sessions.

Sharkey's Blow Landed in Foul Territory, Wake Says

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—Jack Sharkey's blow in the third round which Phil Scott and his followers claimed was foul, took place on the side of the ring within m[illegible]ory. It was a left from far ba[illegible] so that the pit of Scott's st[illegible]ch was its objective. That is not where it landed.

Scott came in to meet Sharkey's advance and the Boston Irishman's glove landed low. The big Englishman was wearing [illegible] high, as is [illegible]rogue, but apparent to [illegible] side of [illegible] that the [illegible] landed [illegible] about the point of the hipbone.

From that point on versions differ. Whether Scott was injured by the blow enough to affect [illegible] efforts, whether he should [illegible] awarded the bout by Referee [illegible]nolia right at that point I [illegible] attempt to say.

Scott Says He's Fouled.

As soon as [illegible] was landed Scott writhed [illegible] his is an old trick of his, [illegible] roared an angry protest [illegible]arkey was in tears, almost [illegible] mad man, apparently thinking he was being deprived of the decision on a foul. [illegible]Scott really was hurt he made an [illegible] judgment there. When the official physician jumped to Scott's corner he asked Scott if he was fouled. Scott said he was. Then the physician asked: "If you were fouled will you be able to continue with a minute's rest?" Scott replied: "I don't know, but I will try."

So the Englishman resumed fighting, but at the next exchange, with Sharkey in a frenzy, received a blow in the pit of the stomach and said, "I can't continue." Referee Magnolia then ruled he must continue or lose on a technical knockout. As Sharkey came to his corner, plainly audible was his muttered, "I hardly hit him that time."

Garden Loses $50,000

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The first authentic information on paid attendance and receipts of the Sharkey-Scott bout indicate a loss to Madison Square Garden corporation estimated at $50,000. Official figures will not be available until tomorrow when a check-up is concluded. It was learned tonight that only 18,600 people paid to see the spectacle, the gross receipts amounting to $190,000, while the net receipts were $161,000. The Garden required a gate of $225,000 to clear expenses.

that. If Scott's previous reputation were not along the line of claiming fouls, this discussion might rank with that of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight and the famous long count of Tunney and Dempsey on Chicago's lake front.

Later examination, according to the Scott camp, showed a marked red spot off the front of the hip bone as if the blow had landed and slipped forward to affect the sciatic nerve, which could have rendered Scott's later efforts nil.

Avoids Jack's Rushes.

While up to the time of the alleged foul Scott had shown little to indicate he could win, the aggressive and confident Sharkey had not accomplished much in the way of punishment, because the Briton, lacking an attack, was avoiding Sharkey's rushes, mainly wild and ineffective.

My opinion is that the blow was low enough to be called a foul. I think it did affect Scott. Whether it affected his courage or whether it affected his fighting I will leave to those more versed in these matters of foul than we claim to be.

It was a disappointing ending to a really good card, a card which satisfied the spectators, of whom a much greater number than expected turned

Physician's Comment

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Dr. Morton K. Hertz of New York, a ringside observer, examined Phil Scott in the dressing room tonight after his losing battle with Jack Sharkey and described the Englishman's injury as traumatic sciatica, induced by a blow on the right leg that disrupted action of the sciatic nerve.

Dr. Hertz was called to Scott's dressing room an hour after the fight by Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager. He flexed Scott's right leg during the examination and Scott cried aloud in pain. Later he wept from what the physician said was nervous shock.

Afterward Dr. Hertz pricked Scott's right leg with pins, but the fighter, lying still on a bench in the dressing room, said he was unable to feel the sensation.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—Fainting Phillip Scott of England performed four of his swoons within three rounds of his prize fight with Jack Sharkey this evening and finally lost the fight in round three after a ludicrous mixup in which the managers and bottleholders for both men and several members of the Miami police force milled about the ring in great excitement.

Scott went down three times in this round, claiming to have been fouled each time. In fact, his third collapse was due to a solid right hand smash on his left hip which may have numbed the nerves and muscles of his leg, but Lou Magnolia, the New York referee who handled the fight, refused to entertain Phil's claim as he lay back in his corner and warned him that if he refused to resume the fight Sharkey would be awarded the bout by a technical knockout.

Scott Limps Back.

So, after a delay of about seven minutes, the handlers of both men cleared the ring and the round was resumed with Scott limping out to meet an angry charge of the Leering Lithuanian from Boston, Mass. As they met near Scott's corner Sharkey crashed through Phil's clever defense and pumped both hands to the body. Phillip slid into a neutral corner and there Sharkey fired a blasting left hand into the pit of the body. Fainting Phillip's countenance turned a deeper shade of green and he stretched his arms along the ropes with his back in the corner, sagging and squirming as if badly hurt and deeply wronged.

Sharkey whirled to his own corner and turned about to see what was going on. When he discovered that Phillip was claiming foul again he raged across the ring, brandishing his new red gloves which had been scarcely soiled as yet, and screaming extremely coarse remarks in a very audible tone but in such hysterical wrath that they were, fortunately, unintelligible to the many persons of delicate sensibilities sitting about the ring.

Magnolia drove Sharkey away and the high strung young Boston sportsman leaped and howled in his corner with tears streaming down his bronze cheeks very much like a spoiled brat, still shouting such evil language as must have depressed the soul of Gene Tunney, occurring in the ring so soon after his efforts to elevate the craft.

Johnston Jumps Into Ring.

The upshot of it all was that Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, bounced into the ring, which would have been grounds for the disqualification of his man, and Magnolia declared Scott the loser on the ground that he refused to continue the fight; the confusion was blurry with arguments and contentions long after the fighters had quit the arena and the customers had settled down to take much of their money's worth as still remained to be had from the affair between Tommy Loughran and Pierre Charles.

Mr. Johnston was whirling around the press rows like a shyster trying to fix a jury, shrilling very technical points of pugilistic law and citing precedents as old as the profession itself. Magnolia took a stand that there had been no foul punch at any time—although I must state that I saw Sharkey hit Scott low just before the long intermission—and said he allowed the intermission only to permit the house physician to examine Scott and disprove his claim of foul in that particular instance.

"If he had refused to resume the fight I would have given the decision to Sharkey," Magnolia said. "I was on the alert to see fouls all the way because of Scott's record. He had won so many fights by claiming fouls that I looked closely at every punch and saw no low blows struck at any time."

Final Punch Clearly Legal.

Of course, if Magnolia had no doubt about the punch just preceding the long halt, he should have started a count over Phillip and continued until he came to fight or was counted out. By consenting to the interruption, the arguments and the examination while Sharkey indulged in a feminine display of hysterics in his corner, Magnolia weakened his own case as to this incident. However, he was the top authority and there was no doubt that the final punch in the body which made Philip retire while standing in a slumped position against the ropes, was a legal blow. Neither was there any doubt that it hurt Philip, possibly inducing that paralysis which laid Jim Corbett low and wriggling when Bob Fitzsimmons stabbed him in his center plexus.

The fight was a complete washout artistically, and also, I believe, financially, and those customers who declined to invest in credentials good at the gate may now congratulate themselves on their acumen. They seem to have been numerous, too, for there were many empties in the rearward rows of the stadium which is supposed to hold 50,000. The Garden firm offered no estimates of the crowd but the ringside guess was about 18,000.

Scott went to the floor four times in all, not counting the final resignation which he offered from a semi-perpendicular posture.

Phil Loath to Rise.

He hit the canvas first in the second round. Sharkey, unable to land his right swings or left hooks owing to Phil's calm and very clever blocking, leaped up on Philip in his [Sharkey's] corner, just a couple of feet out from the angle of the ropes. The force of Jack's charge bore Scott to the floor. He may have taken some slight tap but the fall was not a knockdown. However, Philip, always languid, seemed loath to resume his feet and he sat there blinking and rubbing his right eye as though the cloud of resin dust which arose as he crashed, had left a few grains in this orb.

There was no claim of foul there, and Phil ended the round somewhat shaken by the jar perhaps, but otherwise in good shape.

Sharkey stumbled over him accidentally as he went down and the trample may have pained him slightly, too.

Beginning of the End.

Anyway, Philip answered the bell for round three, strong, alert, and still by far the more promising fighter of the two, because he had been handling Sharkey's attack with ease and poise and hadn't begun to attack as yet on his own account.

The round was half a minute old when Sharkey whipped in a left to the body. Philip went to the floor, his features overspread with an expression as sad as crepe, apparently minded to claim a foul right there. But after a count of two he struggled up and the boxing was resumed. Again Sharkey's left caught him somewhere near the belt but this time Philip's back was toward me and I could not see just how high or low the point of impact was.

But when Philip sank down again a few seconds later his fourth sitting of the fight and his third in this round, the punch that set him parallel to the horizon was a smash on the hip, which probably hurt him some.

The uproar began at this instant and it was still going on long after Tommy Loughran had won the decision over Pierre Charles and gone below to dress. Incidentally Charles made himself very obnoxious to Loughran and the score was close.

Maloney Beats Bouquillon.

In the best event of the evening, Johnny Risko beat up and showed up the huge Argentino, Vic Campolo, in seven of their ten rounds after being all but out himself in the first round. He was robbed of his earnings by a bad draw decision from Kid McPartland, referee.

Jimmy Maloney of Boston outslugged Moise Bouquillon of France, the fellow who went ten rounds with Primo Carnera, and with fine chivalry, refused to deliver the punch that would have knocked Bouquillon dead in the ninth or tenth when Moise was almost helpless.

Big Boys Thrill 6,000 with K. O. Blows.

Two colored boys, Charles Patrick, from the Lawndale gymnasium, and William Edwards of Fort Wayne, displayed an unusual amount of determination—or the will to win—as the slogan writers would say. They socked each other with vim, each of them bouncing haymakers off the other's jaw. There was no racial friendship. Neither boxer thought of easing up. If their blows in the final round lacked steam it was because they were tired. Edwards got the decision.

Billy Blunks learned to punch with either hand in the school gymnasium at East Moline, Ill. He liked to box and because he did he kept in good condition. That stood him in good stead last night when he met Joie Kish, a steel worker, from Gary. For while Joie started out like a wild cat, Billy finished stronger and the decision went to East Moline.

Beaten Fighter Cheered.

It isn't often that two fighters come together matched almost perfectly. But it happened last night when Joseph Roman, entered from the Steel Workers' club of Joliet and trained in Sammy Mandell's gymnasium, tangled with Oswald Salomone of Ottawa, Ill. It took good judging to pick Roman over Salomone. Maybe it was the burden of that front moniker that brought Oswald down.

It doesn't take a victory to win the crowd's favor. Take the case of Ed Rooney, seconded by his father. Ed stood up to the taller, more powerful Benny Goldblatt, and absorbed punishment like a hero. Finally the referee stopped the uneven contest. The fans cheered the beaten Irishman as though he had won.

There must be something in a name. You'd expect a guy called Pat Rooney to be a fighter. Moreover he was attired in green trunks. Pat licked Ernest Willett, pupil of Kopp's boxing school.

Gary Boy Beaten.

Two of the hardest punches in the 135 pound class came together when Chauncey Crain, colored, a resident of the south side, whipped Joseph Rehling, a disciple of Joe Heniff's gym. Both fellows socked with the force of pile drivers. Chauncey held his right hand back by his ear, and when he let it go it traveled forward with express train speed. Joe was knocked down for the count of nine in the third round and was still groggy when the battle ended with Chauncey in command.

Anthony Zale of Gary started out last night in the semi-finals of the welter class as though he were going to run Ralph Carnegie, colored, right back to Benton Harbor, Mich. But Ralph was only foolin'.

He got serious in the second round and before the third was more than a minute old, Pal Hammer, last year Golden Glove winner, had tossed in a towel conceding Zale's downfall.

At the Ringside

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The ring was newly dressed with a red canvas, which gave it a sort of festive tinge, as well as being a bit easier on the eyes than the glaring white.

The first fight of the night went the full distance, Joe Espanoza of Chicago Heights beat Ray Mullins of Gary in a speedy three rounds. Mullins had an edge in the boxing, but Espanoza, a beautifully built little Mexican, backed a wallop that shook Mullins to his toes.

Frank Bennis of La Porte, Ind., knocked dizzy in the first round Tuesday night and then came back to knock out his opponent, was a victim of inexperience in his bout with Ernest Tonielli. Both are sluggers and Tonelli landed hard enough to knock Bennis down and daze him. He went down, started to get up and then dropped again to take a longer count, automatically disqualifying himself.

Thomas Dicenso swung so hard at Earl Watson, Negro from Coulon's gym, in the first round he not only missed him by three feet and threw himself to the canvas but rolled into Watson's knees and tripped Earl down on top of him. Dicenso was swinging viciously but wildly and Watson was smothering his swings and driving terrific right hooks to Dicenso's jaw. So hard did the Negro hit that Dicenso couldn't come up for the second round and defaulted.

The first bout in the 175 pound class was the speediest of the night. Jack Kranz of Gary knocked out Andy Smith of the Lawndale gymnasium in less than a minute. There was only one knockdown; it was plenty.

The second and third in the class also went by knockouts. Rowe Zehms knocked out Dick Monty in the third round and Joe Mendoza put John Kovatch out in the first round.

The fourth bout in the class was the only one to go the full distance of three rounds. Frank Stobek took everything Buck Everett, runner-up last year, could throw, and didn't even go down once.

Arne Asp, the tall Swedish lad who wanted to be a track star and changed his mind on seeing a set of boxing gloves at the Swedish A. A. in Rockford, won again in the lightweight division. Asp was rated the least of the highly touted Rockford team before the tournament, but he and Adam Smith, the porky heavyweight are the only two of the eight to reach the semi-finals.

John Sokil had too much experience and skill for Arne Anderson in the last bout of the night and won in three rounds.

NORTHWESTERN, CHICAGO FIVES PLAY TOMORROW

The second engagement in the basketball civil war involving Chicago and Northwestern will be staged tomorrow night at Patten gymnasium. The Purple defeated the Maroons in the first game, 37 to 17, but the Maroons, at that time, were weaker than they are now and were handicapped by the loss of Harry Ashley, defense star.

Coach Norgren had hoped that Sidney Yates, his star shooter, who has been lost since the opening game of the season because of a fractured wrist, would be ready for this battle. The splints are off Yates' wrist, but an X-ray showed that the bone has not knitted. Paul Stephenson, hero of the Wisconsin game, will start at forward.

Michigan Beats Wisconsin in Hockey Battle, 5 to 1

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Michigan's hockey team took the conference lead tonight by defeating the Wisconsin sextet, 5 to 1, in a hard fought battle. Both teams dented the net in the first period, the Cardinal score coming on a fluke when a Michigan player accidentally kicked the puck. Hart came back to score for Michigan on a follow of his own shot that Frisch had blocked.

Langen scored a lucky goal to start the second period rout and Bryant's long shot also evaded the Wisconsin goalie, after Nygord had taken a pass from Curtis in front of the net for the third Wolverine score of the fray.

Cullen Asks West Parks to Recondition Courses

The west park board was asked yesterday to provide for complete reconditioning of the golf course in Garfield and Columbus parks. In a resolution presented by Commissioner James J. Cullen the further suggestion was made that children be permitted to play the public golf courses of the park system free on certain mornings during the school vacation.

Larrabee 'Y' Cagers Beat Englewood for Title, 25-21

Larrabee Y. M. C. A. defeated Englewood, 25 to 21, last night on the former's floor and won the city Y. M. C. A. title. Englewood, victor of the title last year, never held the lead throughout the game. The score at half time was 16 to 11 in favor of Larrabee.

AMATEUR SHOW OFF.

Matchmaker Willie Ruff of the South Shore Athletic club has postponed his weekly show of eight amateur bouts tonight. It was called off to avoid conflict with The Tribune tournament.

MEXICAN SERIES BETWEEN GIANTS, SOX HANGS FIRE

Picnics May Be Arranged for Scribes.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 27.—Treasurer Lou Comiskey and Secretary Grabiner of the Chicago White Sox and Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants went into conference at high noon today and struck a withering blow at all the tequila guzzlers attached to the two training camps.

When Mr. McGraw arrived here two days ago the first thing he said was that he thought, seeing as how the proposed Mexico City trip died a-borning, it would be dandy to play two games in northern Mexico—one at Laredo and the other at Monterey. Informally, the Sox nabobs fell in with the plan. But the conference revealed that the Mexican ball diamonds aren't so good, and the subject of rough diamonds has become a touchy point with the Sox.

Willing to Arrange Picnic.

There was no malice in the vets, however, as witness the fact that the afore-mentioned officials decided that if the vast army of authors present in San Antonio had set their hearts on some Mexican reporting that the two clubs would arrange and finance a picnic into Mexico that the boys might revel in barbecued cabrito, hot tamales, frijoles, torellas, aguacate, huacamale, enchaladas, etc., with, mayhap, a dash of lecha de mantacilla, a swig or two of aguardiente or a schooner of cerveza.

In other words the magnates want to put out some stewed goat, pancakes, beans and salad, with buttermilk and other beverages for those who have grown thirsty during the prohibition era in the states. As for us, we don't care much for stewed goat, much as we appreciate the kindness of the magnates. At that we may go along, simply as a matter of research.

The conference was not a total loss to baseball, however, for the officials arranged for selected Sox and Giants to play each other in San Antonio on March 8 and 9, while the regulars are performing in Houston.

Smith, Moore Arrive.

There were two arrivals in camp today. Infielder Ernie Smith drove in from Little Rock and Big Jim Moore rode in on a train, just in time to learn that the Sox had been knocked out of their drill for the first time this season. An early morning rain was the cause.

Both Ernie and Jim have been around in the better minors for several years but earned trials in the big show by good records in 1929.

Smith played in 156 games at shortstop for Birmingham last year and led the Southern Association in putouts with 392, which was 37 more than the number with which Bill Cissell led American league shortstops. He made 500 assists, 41 more than Cissell acquired to lead the American league. He batted .309 and made 39 doubles, 14 triples and 10 homers. He drove in 92 runs.

Jim Batted .364.

Moore played in 130 games with Dallas, in the outfield. He batted .364 and made 36 doubles, 9 triples and 8 homers. He batted in 100 runs.

It is expected that most of the second squad will be here by Sunday morning. Absentees due to report at Monday morning's practice are: Capt. Bill Kamm, the Great Shires, John William Clancy, Bill Hunnefield, Jean Kerr, J. Smead Jolley, John Watwood, Dave Harris and Alex Metzler.

A marriage license was issued today to Irvine Jeffries, short stop candidate, and Miss Rosamond Bartels.

YANKS RELEASE PITTENGER.

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The New York Yankees today released Infielder Clarke Pittenger outright to the Jersey City club of the International league. Pittenger came to the Yankees in the deal that sent Leo Durocher to Cincinnati.

GOODMAN WINS 2 CUE MATCHES IN CLEVELAND MEET

Cleveland, O., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Fred Goodman of Detroit and Barry Collins of Minneapolis were winners in the afternoon games and R. S. Hubbell of Cleveland and Goodman won the evening games today at the western amateur three cushion billiard tournament here.

The afternoon scores were: Goodman, 50; Ellis Johnson, Des Plaines, Ill., 23; Collins, 50, and Luke Murphy of Cleveland, 48, while the evening scores were: Hubbell, 50; Lester Boyle of Cleveland, 31; Goodman, 50, and Collins, 37.

The winner of the tournament will participate in a national tournament at French Lick Springs, Ind., March 17.

Cub Pitchers Greet Second Squad at Avalon Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 27.—Everything but the famed weather of California is in order to receive the Cub regulars into training camp tomorrow. Today the battery men were hampered in their toil by heavy showers, but the island press agents, which include everybody, promised the clouds will vanish overnight and permit Boss McCarthy to send his full complement of champions and rookies through their first heavy labors tomorrow afternoon.

JOHN SCHULTE.

When the infielders and outfielders unload themselves tomorrow they'll read the formal notice which advises appearance at the training field at 1:30 p. m. The hour for going to work probably will interfere with the plans of those of the newcomers who desire to devote much time to luncheon but McCarthy is not vitally interested in such performances. In fact he is not a believer in anything more than a sandwich and bottle of milk at the noon hour and intends to harass the heavy eaters not only tomorrow but until he gets all his employes down to a working weight.

Welcome Second Squad.

The drill today, lasting only from 11 to 11:30 because of the rain, was limited to throwing, followed by a couple sprints around the edges of the field. For the experts, the casual onlookers and even the participants, shows such drills are slightly lacking in interest, so there will be no regret tomorrow when Wilson, Hornsby, Grimm, Cuyler, Stephenson, et al, slip into uniforms and begin another climb toward world series gold. For his first day of training Wilson may want to practice catching fly balls in the sun. Hack desires to prove that it can be done.

Just how McCarthy will operate on his regulars in their initial appearance tomorrow depends on how they look to him. If he doesn't spot any excess weight he will give them the usual tossing and batting practice as well as informal practice on defense. If any of them are bulgy at the waist line he will add a few items to the program.

Schulte Still in Hospital.

Weight, however, has not been a problem in the past to the men who are going to be the regulars again this season. Hornsby, Bell, English, Grimm, Stephenson and Cuyler never get out of shape. Wilson usually is a half ton too hefty, but it is reported that this spring is going to be different for him because of the training he did when he thought he was going to get $15,000 for letting Art Shires slap him, or visa versa.

Today's limited workout was conducted without John Schulte. The bulky catcher was still at the hospital where he was taken yesterday after his eyebrow had been split open by a collision with Pitcher Lautenbacher. He will be out tomorrow, eating as well as ever, but won't be in uniform for a day or two. Pitcher Warneke who suffered a similar injury a few days ago was on the field this morning but not doing much because of poor eyesight. His optics still are so puffed as to make sight difficult.

Hartnett's Arm is O. K.

Schulte's recovery wasn't aided any by the arrival of the newspapers this noon. The sport sheets carried bold face type about the catcher the Los Angeles club is going to get from the Cubs. The catcher mentioned was Schulte, William Wrigley, who owns both the Cubs and Angels, is supposed to have given out the information. It may be true but it so happens that McCarthy has only three catchers on his staff and he won't be unloading Schulte or any other back stop until he finds a suitable substitute.

So long as Hartnett's arm appears to have accomplished a comeback and the faithful services of Zack Taylor are available, Schulte would stand only a little chance of getting into the championship games more than once a month but a bull pen catcher always is needed and that's Schulte. Speaking of Hartnett's arm, it might be advisable to mention right here that he didn't use it today, but he has felt no ill effects from his free and easy tossing of the two days previous, so it looks as if he is actually himself again.

DE LA SALLE AND LEO PREP CAGERS SPLIT TWIN BILL

De La Salle and Leo of the south section divided a Catholic league double header on the former's floor last night, the De La Salle heavies winning, 26 to 16, and the Leo lights, 19 to 16. The Krause brothers again led the national champions' attack, Phil scoring five baskets, while Ed contributed four baskets and as many free throws. Ryan and Podesta featured for the losers. Capt. Welchern, Hayes, and Young starred in the Leo lights' victory. Baicus' two baskets and eight free throws stood out for De La Salle.

CARR AND HIS MAN[illegible]ER TO DEAL IN OIL PROPERTIES

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The combination of Primo Carnera, Italian boxer, and Leon See, his French manager, has branched into Oklahoma oil.

He saw opportunities to augment the income from Carnera's crushing of challengers while here last week. Articles of incorporation for Leon See, Inc., with See listed as president and Carnera as vice president, were on file today with the secretary of state. The new company will deal in oil properties.

WOLVERINES AND WILDCATS MEET IN TANK TONIGHT

Northwestern and Michigan, boasting the strongest swimming teams in the conference, will settle the question of supremacy in a dual meet at Patten pool tonight.

The Purple upset Michigan, 37 to 32, at Ann Arbor last year and since both teams have virtually the same men back, the margin of victory is expected to be close again.

Coach Tom Robinson will base most of his hopes for a win on the performances of his aces, Al Schwartz, free style; Dick Hinch, back stroke, and Don Petersen, and Bob Howlett, breast stroke. These boys have been cracking records throughout the season and will be called upon for their best performances tonight.

Austin Track Teams Beat Marshall in Dual Meet

Austin overwhelmed Marshall in a track meet at the former's gym yesterday, the seniors winning, 77 to 10, and the juniors, 52 to 17. Austin seniors took first place in every event except the high jump, which was won by Flosberg of Marshall. Goodman led the winners with 91.4 points. Gilbert of Marshall juniors scored 16 of his team's 17 points.

Walter Levine Elected W. and J. Grid Captain

NORTHWESTERN WINS ON TRACK; PURDUE SECOND

Minnesota Finishes Last; Orval Martin Stars.

Northwestern track and field athletes easily won the triangular meet with Purdue and Minnesota at Patten gymnasium last night. The purple, winning five out of ten firsts, totaled 53½ points, while the Boilermakers scored 33¾ and the Gophers, 20¾.

Tom Warne, the Wildcats' pole vault ace, won his specialty by clearing 13 feet 6 inches. He narrowly missed 14 feet on three efforts.

Orval Martin, Boilermaker star, was high point man, running to victory in the half mile and one mile events. He covered the 880 in 1:56.6, equalling the Big Ten record held by Rienke of Michigan.

The 40 yard dash resulted in a great finish, all four finalists coming down the lane as one. Zack Ford, the Purple sprinter, however, finished inches ahead of Johnny Hass of Minnesota. Summaries:

FORTY YARD DASH—Won by Ford, Northwestern; Hass, Minnesota, second; Odom, Purdue, third; Leming, Northwestern, fourth. Time, :04.5.

FORTY YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Noreus, Purdue; Dixon, Northwestern, second; Vandellen, Northwestern, third. Time, :05.6.

ONE MILE RUN—Won by Martin, Purdue; Strain, Minnesota, second; Wolf, Northwestern, third; Chasey, Purdue, fourth. Time, 4:29.9.

440 YARD RUN—Won by Wiesoger, Minnesota; Doyle, Purdue, second; Dixon, Northwestern, third; McAuliffe, Northwestern, fourth. Time, :53.5.

SHOT PUT—Won by Yunerich, Purdue; Pritchard, Northwestern, second; Lange, Purdue, third; Clausen, Minnesota, fourth. Distance 43 feet 8¼ inches.

POLE VAULT—Won by Warne, Northwestern; Klarr, Northwestern, second; Vandellen, Northwestern, Lundberg, Northwestern, and Brockmeyer, Minnesota, tied for third. Height, 13 feet 6 inches.

FORTY YARD LOW HURDLES—Won by Leming, Northwestern; Klarr, Northwestern, second; Noreus, Purdue, third. Time, 0:4.9.

TWO MILE RUN—Won by Petersen, Northwestern; Richardson, Minnesota, second; Elsbury, Purdue, third; Kojola, Minnesota, fourth. Time, 10:14.5.

HALF MILE RUN—Won by Martin, Purdue; Wiesger, Minnesota, second; Farrell, Northwestern, third; Doyle, Purdue, fourth. Time, 1:56.6 [equals Western conference record, held by Reinke of Michigan].

HIGH JUMP—Hoffman, Northwestern, and Mandelbaum, Northwestern, tied for first; Levin, Northwestern, Green, Northwestern, Segal, Minnesota, and Lange, Purdue, tied for third. Height, 5 feet 8 inches.

MAROONS VS. HOOSIERS

Chicago's track team will get its final competitive work in preparation for next week's Big Ten championships by meeting Indiana tonight at Bloomington. The Hoosier meet was put forward a day by agreement between the two schools.

Indiana defeated Ohio State in its only dual meet of the season, and Coach Hayes has sufficient strength to give the Maroons a fight. Coach Ned Merriam is taking only a small squad to Bloomington, and will use some of his men in two events.

Dale Letts, who won both the 880 and mile in the Michigan dual meet, will try to take both of these races again tonight, but Clapham of the Hoosiers will be a real threat in the longer run. Capt. Norman Root and Allan East, the two sprint stars of Chicago, will have a duel for first place over the 60 yard distance, and Harold Hayden, who returned to form against Michigan, is expected to run the high hurdles in his fastest time of the year.

BASKING FLORIDA HERONS PRODUCE LIVE SNOWPILE

Great White Birds Know Their Sun Parlors.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rainey Slough, Fla., Feb. 27.—The great white herons know a good thing when they see it. When some one builds a sun parlor for them they quickly take it over. We saw an example of this sensible trait among the herons as we explored this big slough near Fish Eating Creek the other day.

We approached Rainey Slough from the south over a rough sandy road. In all directions as far as we could see the flat, deserted prairies, broken only by cabbage palm hammocks, stretched away to the horizon. Southeast of the road we looked across the flat land to Glassy island, a curious topographical feature that is a combination of a hammock and a mirage.

Looks Like Snow Pile.

It is simply a long grove of trees set down in the center of the prairie, an island of vegetation in a vast expanse of loneliness. From a distance it appeared a bunch of short celery plants stuck in the ground, their leafy tops dancing in the heat waves while the short stalks somehow or other were lost in mid air. The whole picture was glassy in the mirage, so Glassy Island it is.

Turning from this interesting feature and looking ahead down the rough little used sand road one saw Rainey Slough, miles of ponds, marsh, green vegetation, and birds. Surveying this refuge for many species of water birds we saw a white bank in the middle of the road. It looked as if some one had piled fresh snow on the turnpike.

Prefer Structure to Slough.

Using binoculars it didn't take long to determine that the snowbank was alive. A large flock of big white herons had come out of the wet marsh and settled down on the bridge for a few quiet hours of conversation and sunbathing. The birds literally covered the unpainted wooden structure, apparently preferring this handy structure to a loafing place in the slough.

When our car drew near the birds launched into the air, picked up a couple of big blue herons, fishing near the bridge, and, then, slowly winged their way toward Glassy Island.

M'LARNIN RULES 7 TO 5 FAVORITE OVER MANDELL

A rush of McLarnin money during the last two days has sent the odds soaring in favor of the Vancouver fighter as he went through final paces yesterday for his ten round bout with Champion Sammy Mandell at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. McLarnin now rules a 7 to 5 favorite to beat the lightweight king.

Mandell also has tapered off in his preparations, completing his last boxing workout a day or two ago. Today, he plans to confine his efforts to limbering up exercises. McLarnin's program of training will be about the same. Both fighters, it is said, are in splendid shape for tomorrow's fight.

Mandell's handlers yesterday said that the champion will enter the ring weighing about 139 pounds. McLarnin is expected to weigh 142 pounds at fighting time.

Jack Thompson and Fred Fitzgerald, semi-windup principals, also have completed intensive training for their ten round battle. Today and tomorrow will be devoted to light workouts.

SONJA HENIE TO GIVE EXHIBITION ON ICE TONIGHT

Sonja Henie, four times fancy skating champion of the world, will appear in an exhibition tonight at the Chicago stadium. The event is sponsored by the Norwegian American A. A.

Miss Henie, who is seventeen years old, has been a leading figure on the ice ponds of Europe for four years. She is on a tour of the country, and has appeared recently in New York, Boston, New Haven, Philadelphia, and Ottawa.

Among those in the Henie party is Wilhelm Henie, Sonja's father, who won the amateur bicycling championship of the world at Antwerp in 1894.

DEMPSEY TO GET PHYSICAL EXAM; FOR COMEBACK?

Jack Dempsey will enter the Mayo brothers' hospital at Rochester, Minn., today for a complete physical checkup.

Boxing fans regarded Dempsey's action as the first step in his journey back to ring activity. If Dempsey finds he has no hidden ailments he may decide to reënter the ring.

The former heavyweight champion has been conducting boxing shows in Chicago since last October in the hope of establishing himself as a successful promoter for the outdoor season. He is reported to have dropped $60,000 in staging shows at the Coliseum, but figures to retrieve his losses during the summer.

MICHIGAN RUNS OFF WITH THREE CORNERED MEET

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 27.—(Special.)—Michigan ran off with the triangular track meet tonight in Yost fieldhouse, Michigan Normal finished a poor second, and Michigan State never was in the running. Michigan amassed 63¼ points, more than her two state rivals combined. The teachers tallied 38½ points, while State garnered 17.

Kenny Defeats Monks in Billiard Match, 50 to 32

Len Kenney triumphed over Reily Monks, 50 to 32, in a Chicago all-star billiard tournament game last night at the Kleckhefer recreation rooms. They played 53 innings, and Kenney had a high run of nine, while Monks garnered five.

Pennant Lass Sets Record in Hialeah Win

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.— (AP) —The tenth Hialeah park record fell today as A. W. Wentzel's Pennant Lass sped over five and one-half furlongs in 1:04 4-5. The mark, the seventh new record in three days, was two-fifths of a second faster than the best previous time made by Volante.

Pitted against a band of speedy three year olds and up in the Madison Square Garden stadium purse, the daughter of Pennant got away from the post slow, but at the first furlong pole was moving up fast. When Jockey Thurber gave the word, the little chestnut mite answered with a burst of speed that carried her past the judges' stand a length and a half in front of Supreme Sweet. The latter beat Mud two lengths for the place.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES CONTINUE TO GAIN GROUND

Bendix Issue Advances on News of Combine.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks continued to advance on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Profit taking ate into the gains of a few issues, but the list as a whole was higher at the close.

Following announcement of its affiliation with Westinghouse Air Brake company in a new brake concern, Bendix Aviation was actively traded in at higher levels and closed with a net gain of more than 2 points. It is reported that further expansion intended to better in the aviation field is in store for Bendix. Other issues in the motor group were firm. Bows was up a fraction and Auburn climbed 4.

In Good Demand.

Issues identified with the Burnham Trading interests were in good demand. Brown Fence A and B improved 3¾ and 2¼, respectively, while Winton Engine spurted more than 2 to finish at 51¼. Grigsby touched 18 during the day, but settled back before the close and finished with a small loss. Burnham Trading on sales exceeding 7,000 shares jumped 2¾ points.

Among the specialties, Marshall Field displayed some weakness, selling down to 50, the subscription price of the issue, but rallying and closing at 50⅝, down a fraction for the day.

Realising cut into the gain Kalamazoo Stove made on the previous day. Opening a fraction lower, the stock slipped to 66 and closed slightly above that figure, with a net loss of 1¼.

News of further expansion sent United Gas up 2 points to close to 32. Other utility stocks showed little change for the day. Sales in Middle West approximated 33,000 shares, but the stock closed unchanged at 33.

Utility and Industrial, though not heavily traded in, showed an improvement of a fraction, anticipating a favorable report to be made shortly.

Makes Annual Report.

Little activity in Gardner Denver preceded the release of the annual report of the company made last night. The firm enjoyed a larger profit in 1929 than in the previous year. Net income last year amounted to $1,490,111, equal to $7.08 a share on the average number of common shares outstanding during the year.

Net profit in 1928 totaled $1,054,391, which was equal to $4.75 a share on the common stock then outstanding. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $4,410,857, as compared with $4,390,396 at the end of 1928, and current liabilities of $623,920, as against $423,280.

U.S. AND ENGLISH BANKS KEEPING CREDIT STEADY

Brokers' Loans Drop Five Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Hopes of stock market speculators for another period of extremely easy money rates were dashed again yesterday. Despite many rumors that the New York Federal Reserve bank and the Bank of England would reduce their discount rates, the New York bank made no change in its 4 per cent rediscount rate and the English institution maintained its 4½ per cent rate.

It would appear that the American and British authorities either have reached an agreement that interest rates and credit are on a satisfactory basis for the present or else are maintaining neutrality on the international gold situation. At all events, the last week has shown no imports of gold from Europe and also no exports or change in the amount of gold earmarked for foreign account.

This country received gold imports totaling $6,394,000 but they came from Latin America and chiefly from Brazil, while an additional $2,260,000 was received from that country yesterday and did not figure in the weekly report, which was compiled as of Wednesday. With the present small differential between the New York and English bank rates there is little incentive to ship gold in either direction on the basis of interest earnings.

Loans Alter Trend.

Similarly, the irregular course of stock market prices last week brought little change in the speculative credit situation. The federal reserve board's weekly report on brokers' loans, issued yesterday, showed a decline of $5,000,000 as of Wednesday. This decrease followed five successive weeks of increase. The total now stands at $3,489,000,000, which is $2,018,000,000 below a year ago.

Corporations and other lenders turned an additional $11,000,000 into the call money market, although they still are lending $1,168,000,000 less than a year ago. The New York banks reduced their own loans by $9,000,000, bringing their total $137,000,000 under a year ago. Interior banks also drew down $7,000,000 and are furnishing $713,000,000 less than a year ago.

Further slackening in the demand for commercial credit is shown in the weekly reserve system statements, issued last night. It is notable that the city banks of both New York and Chicago now are borrowing only $1,000,000 apiece from the reserve banks.

For the whole system, the borrowing of the member banks declined $34,162,000, bringing the total down to $342,731,000. The reserve banks increased their holdings of bankers' acceptances and government securities by $18,249,000 and $2,140,000, respectively. Deposits increased $17,059,000 but note circulation declined $19,067,000. Gold and total reserves expanded $12,113,000 and $9,655,000, respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 78.8 per cent, compared with 78.5 per cent a week ago.

Recede 30 Millions.

In the New York district member bank borrowings receded $30,373,000, bringing the total down to $58,404,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $8,521,000. Deposits expanded $21,727,000. Reserves increased $43,778,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 78.2 per cent, compared with 75.1 per cent last week. In the Chicago district member bank borrowings declined $5,582,000 to a total of $48,496,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $1,364,000. Deposits expanded $4,645,000. Reserves increased $11,288,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 82.1 per cent, compared with 80.9 per cent a week ago.

The Utility and Industrial corporation, the investment trust organized by the Byllesby interest early last year, came through last year without depreciation of its holdings. The aggregate market value of its holdings on Dec. 31, 1929, was $32,712,693, which was in excess of their original cost to the corporation, it is stated in the first annual report, issued last night. Total assets of $35,653,784 are shown.

Holdings Appreciate.

Since the first of the year it is evident that the company's holdings have appreciated considerably. More than 90 per cent of its holdings are public utility securities, with common stocks representing more than $23,000,000. Net income for the period from Feb. 9 to Dec. 31, 1929, was $1,527,400, equivident after preferred dividends to 63 cents a share on 1,000,919 common shares outstanding.

The balance of $637,815 applicable to the common stock was set up as surplus. The report says that income was derived almost entirely from interest and dividends on investments and included only a comparatively negligible amount of special income from underwritings, extra dividends, and other sources.

Hupp Motor Shows 1929 Net Profits of $3,468,946

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Hupp Motor company reported today that its 1929 profits amounted to $3,468,946, equal to $2.35 a share on 1,475,373 shares of common stock, compared with $3,790,222, or $2.12 a share on 1,883,480 shares in 1928.

Terms Employment Chief Economic Problem in U. S.

BY SCRUTATOR.

All other economic problems that are faced by the United States must necessarily be of less importance than employment.

There can be no denying that modern conditions, and more especially the growth in the use of machinery, have made employment for a great mass of the people more uncertain than it would have been under simpler systems of life and work. It is hardly too much to say that continued improvement in technical means has resulted in the exaction of unemployment, to a degree, as a penalty.

A rather disturbing trend in the last ten years has been a definite downward trend of employment in what are often called the basic industries. Estimates place the number of farm workers as 1,200,000 less; of those engaged in factory production at 1,000,000 fewer; in railroad work, 300,000 less than in 1920. Mining also suffered a loss in employment.

Take Up Slack.

The slack has in part been taken up by other forms of work. It is estimated that the decade saw an additional 300,000 in building, 750,000 more in selling and servicing automobiles, and 500,000 as new hotel workers. The index of the New York Trust company asserts that in spite of the increases in certain lines there is still a missing 800,000 who have not found jobs after they were displaced.

There is a maze of conflicting evidence on why there should be such a gap, with the country going ahead with large projects. It is unlikely that it is due entirely to the substitution of capital in the form of machinery for human muscle power.

The petroleum, the automotive, the radio, the cement and pottery industries have marked their course in the last ten years by considerable improvements in technique and at the same time have absorbed more labor than they did previously. It was, in fact, these same improvements that enabled the industries named to keep down costs and selling prices and to keep their products moving into consumption.

Sees Dividing Line.

The dividing line between them and mining, railroading and farming is that they still were able to make good profits at the prices. It is a truism that capital will go into anything that promises a profit. Because there was not a sufficient margin for profit in the basic industries at the going wage levels these industries have had to turn rather sharply to machinery themselves. It was cheaper to buy machinery than to hire labor.

The point in the situation is that it has been found cheaper in the period under discussion to shift more work to machines. More labor would be hired if the price demanded and expected was favorable compared with machinery costs. There would be labor for more men if labor were paid less. Because neither capital nor labor desires reductions, the problem is now to increase consumption to make work for more men and women at the going scales.

M'GARRAH BECOMES AMER. DIRECTOR OF INTERNATIONAL BANK

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Gates W. McGarrah today resigned the chairmanship of the board of the New York Federal Reserve bank to accept an appointment as American director of the Bank of International Settlements. He will sail for Paris Saturday.

Mr. McGarrah said the directors of the new bank would probably meet immediately after their arrival at Basle, Switzerland, where the institution is to be located. "What will happen at that point I do not know," he said.

For some time, however, it has been definitely understood here that Mr. McGarrah is to be chosen head of the international bank. He pointed out that the bank could perform no great accomplishments at this time and that aside from its reparations duties most of its work for some time to come would consist of studies of various problems.

In 1924 Mr. McGarrah was made the American member of the general council for the Reichsbank under the Dawes plan, and still holds that office, although he now is expected to resign. He was elected to the reserve bank office in 1927, leaving the chairmanship of the Chase National bank's executive committee to take the position. He is 67 years old.

J. Herbert Case, who succeeds him as chairman, has been deputy governor of the bank since 1917.

FEDERAL CIRCUIT COURT DECIDES OLD PATENT SUIT

A twenty-five year old patent suit ended in United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday when the court awarded Niels A. Christensen $260,750 damages against the National Brake and Electric company. Christensen had sued the concern for alleged infringement of a patent used in the making of air brakes.

In making its decision the court of appeals added $148,789 to the amount awarded in the federal district court at Milwaukee more than a year ago. Both plaintiff and defendant had appealed the decision of the Wisconsin court.

The decision, returned by Judges Page, Evans and Alschuler, stated that the action was based principally on the fact that interest for a ten year period, from 1906 to 1916, when the patent was being infringed, should have been added.

JAN. INCOMES OF RAILROADS SHOW MORE DECLINES

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Another series of railroad net operating income statements for January, showing decreases from the amounts for the same month last year, were made public today. The Bangor and Aroostook, however, was an exception, reporting an increase. Included among the roads reporting were the following:

*Net operating deficit.

The first forty-four railroads to report January earnings had a net operating income of $36,584,000, compared with $47,763,000 in January, 1929, a decrease of 23.4 per cent. Their December net amounted to $45,588,000.

Continental Oil Reports Net Income of $9,029,660

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 27.—The Continental Oil company reports a consolidated net income of $9,029,660 for the year 1929, after charge offs for depreciation, depletion, intangible drilling costs, and leases canceled. That was equivalent to $1.90 a share on 4,743,103 no par shares of capital stock which will be outstanding when all Continental Oil Company of Maine shares have been exchanged. The result compares with a consolidated net loss from operations of the Marland Oil company alone in the year ended Dec. 31, 1928.

South Shore Ry. Reports 1929 Net of $419,290

Net income of the Chicago South Shore and South Bend railroad for 1929 amounted to $419,290, compared with $583 for 1928. The annual report of President Britton I. Budd said yesterday operating revenue for 1929 was $3,691,578 against $3,060,539 in 1928, an increase of 20.62 per cent. The stockholders at the annual meeting today in Michigan City, Ind., voted to increase the authorized preferred stock of the company to 70,000 shares from 60,000.

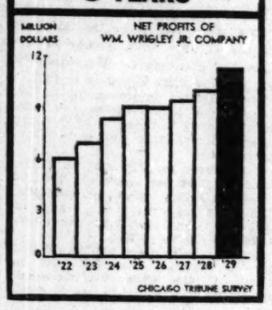
WRIGLEY COMPANY HAS NEARLY DOUBLED ITS PROFITS IN 8 YEARS



B. F. Goodrich Co. Earns $7,446,310 During 1929

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The annual report of the B. F. Goodrich company shows 1929 net income of $7,446,310, equivalent to $4.53 per common share on 1,053,638 shares outstanding at the end of the year, as increased from $3,513,023 in 1928, which was equal to $1.50 a share on 745,910 shares. Total sales for the year were $164,494,957, against $148,805,178 in 1928. Sales and profits of the Hood Rubber company of Watertown, Mass., were included today from Aug. 30, 1929, to date of acquisition.

Randolph Cites Chicago's Destiny as Finance Center

Chicago is destined to have some day a financial market equal in importance to its other business activities, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said last night in an address at the annual dinner of the Chicago Curb exchange at the Stevens hotel.

The occasion marked the completion of the first full year of operation of the Chicago Curb exchange. The dinner was attended by about 500 of the city's business and financial leaders.

Most of the city's business is done on credit and one of the greatest aids to credit interchange is the securities market, Col. Randolph said.

Leading Trade Center.

"Chicago is the greatest wholesale market in the world," he declared. "It has the greatest grain market. It has the greatest live stock market. It is the greatest railroad center. It is a waterway center of importance. From the standpoint of commerce and industry, it is the greatest trade center in the world. We have a right to look forward expecting Chicago to become a financial center equal in importance to these other business activities.

"The Chicago Curb exchange is performing an important public service, for its listings furnish a certificate of bona fide stock issues, and are the best insurance against blue sky issues. The curb's campaign to increase the number of listed bonds will promote a greater marketability and open determination of price for investment issues now largely traded in on an over the counter basis."

Col. Randolph predicted that the curb will enjoy a similar growth to that of the Chicago Stock exchange which did four times as much trading in 1928 as in 1927 and twice as much in 1929 as in 1928.

Hobbs Optimistic.

Franklin Hobbs, director of research of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, addressing the gathering, described himself as a "bull" on 1930.

"The year gives promise," he stated, "of a manufacturing output and merchandising turnover equal to, or better than, the average of the last five years; a freight movement above that average; a volume of employment only slightly below the average, and an actual gain in the total of agricultural income over that average. Building operations, if any reasonable percentage of the present program is carried out, will top all records in 1930."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 27.—A full year's dividend at the rate of $1.25 quarterly was declared today on the preferred stock of Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship company. This action restores the 5 per cent annual rate which prevailed prior to 1921. The shares previously had paid 4 per cent.

Illinois Pipe Line company declared a dividend of $4.50 a share on the capital stock as an adjustment payment for the period Dec. 15, 1929, to March 15, 1930, when the exchange of the stock for preferred shares of Ohio Oil company becomes effective.

New York, Feb. 27.—More than a score of active stocks climbed to new high price levels for the year in today's trading on the stock exchange. Numerous specialties scored substantial gains, the amusement and utility groups were in high favor, and the merchandise and motor issues extended their gains moderately.

The rails generally found the January earnings reports still too discouraging for headway, and the coppers turned dull after recent strength of short covering. Minus signs were well scattered in the closing tables. Profit taking in the last hour paraded down

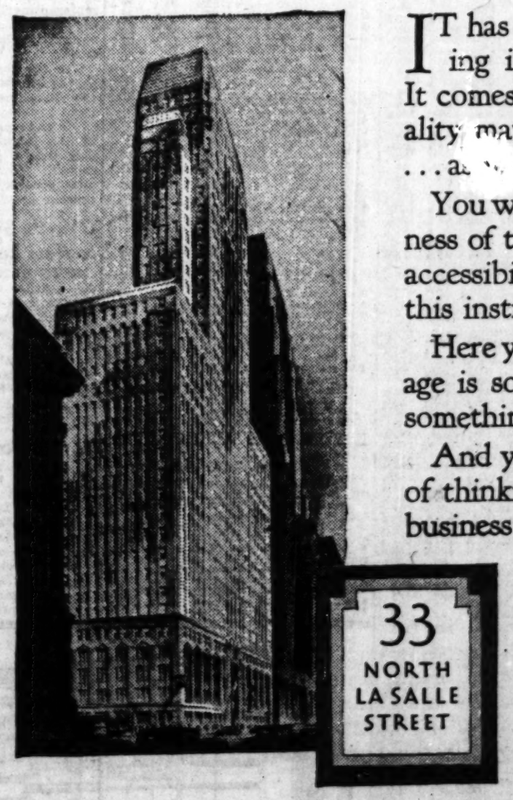
PERSONALITY in a Banking Institution



33 NORTH LA SALLE STREET

IT has been said many times that this banking institution has a distinct personality. It comes of our life-long belief that personality may find its way into the life of a bank . . . as it does into the life of an individual.

You will note this characteristic in the eagerness of the officers to meet you—in their easy accessibility. There are no closed doors within this institution.

Here you are made to feel that your patronage is something we value—your friendship something we respect.

And you feel at home. Which to our way of thinking is the real secret of any pleasant business relationship.

We have shown a constant growth for over 68 years. Our facilities parallel those of the world's greatest banks. But growth, however rapid, can never alter the fundamental principles that have made growth possible.

RUSH FOR WHEAT FUTURES COMES WITH MAY BUYING

Believe Gov't Determined to Bolster Market.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

There was a wild rush of buying of wheat futures early yesterday as the result of several brokers taking the May delivery in large quantities which the pit element attributed to the stabilization corporation. The leading future jumped 3¼c over the finish of the previous day to a high of $1.14, or 11¼c over the inside price on Tuesday.

In some quarters it was estimated that 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bu had been taken. Others felt that professionals had taken advantage of the situation and by using the same brokers as the corporation did on Tuesday deliberately created the impression of government buying.

Realizing by longs and selling against offers checked the bulge, but the finish was within a fraction of the top with net gains of 2⅜@3¾c with March, $1.09¼, and May, $1.13⅜@1.13½. Winnipeg was 2⅞c higher, and Buenos Aires 1½c higher, while Liverpool finished at an advance of 1½@1¾d.

Viewpoint of Trade.

As the trade sees it, the government is determined to support the wheat market regardless of conditions, the same as the protective committee did during the stock market crash last October.

About the only result of the farm board buying of futures so far, aside from advancing prices sharply, has been to put American hard winter wheat further out of line for export at the seaboard, even though the No. 2 grade there is obtainable around 1c under Chicago May. Buenos Aires March finished 6c under the same delivery in Chicago.

Around 1,500,000 bu of Canadian wheat was estimated to have been sold for export during the day, the bulk of it from the Pacific coast.

A decrease in the open interest in wheat of nearly 9,000,000 bu on Wednesday was taken as indicating that hedges against cash grain had been removed. The open interest in May is 135,816,000 bu, and in all deliveries 185,840,000 bu, while recently it was up to over 200,000,000 bu.

More Trade in Corn.

A belief that the average speculator would do well to trade in corn rather than wheat, due to farm board activities in the latter, is being expressed by commission houses. The market came in for more general attention during the day, closing 1@1⅜c higher, with March 82⅝@82¾c, and May, 87@87½c. Shipping sales aggregated 136,000 bu, with the spot basis ½@¾c higher.

Oats were reported as offered at 34c per bu c i f the United Kingdom, or nearly 10c under Chicago May. Futures closed ⅝@¾c higher, with March, 41⅝@41¾c, and May, 43¾c.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Spot butter and egg markets were somewhat unsettled, the final day of deliveries on February contracts having some influence. Liv@hens advanced 1c with other poultry unchanged. Receipts by freight 4 cars. Potatoes sold slowly but prices were little changed. Receipts 95 cars with 318 cars on team track.

SHEEP—Fed western lambs yesterday	$ 9.00@10.50
One month ago	11.65@12.50
One year ago	16.00@16.75

Top yesterday, $10.50; average, $10.25.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 2,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep.

Hogs recovered more of the recent losses yesterday, some classes of medium and heavy butchers selling at new high levels for the season, while cattle and lambs ruled weak to lower again. The $11.00 quotation in the lamb market had to be discarded for the first time of the season, when the sharp price cut brought the top down to $10.50, which is exactly $1.00 below top hogs and $4.25 below top cattle. A year ago top lambs were selling $6.20 above top hogs and $3.10 above cattle.

Better Hogs Sell Freely.

Better grades of hogs sold freely at 10@25c higher prices, with medium and weighty butchers showing the most strength, because many of these kinds were held off the market. Both the extreme top and general average prices advanced 20c, at $11.50 and $11.05, respectively, the latter being 5c above last Saturday, the previous high day of the season.

Few choice grades were available after first rounds, while others lost some of the early gain when local interests refused to follow at the upturn. Estimates placed the holdover at 10,000. Five western markets expect 58,000 today, against 43,200 the previous Friday.

Cattle Market Featureless.

Yesterday's slow and unsatisfactory market for cattle was almost devoid of features. Weakness was noted soon after the opening and with the exception of a few top kinds, tendency ruled lower again, some medium grades showing as much as 15@25c loss. Supplies continue remarkably small, the four day total at seven leading centers at 128,000 showing a decrease of 9 per cent compared with a week ago.

Prime 1,638 lb beef steers sold at $14.75, the day's peak price, while a range of $14.00@14.60 obtained 200 averaging in load lots from 1,372 lbs to 1,491 lbs. Butcher stock was dull at the recent decline, although one shipment of baby beef heifers averaging 617 lbs, brought $13.75. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were scarce and quiet.

Lambs Tumble Again.

The lamb market took another sharp dip yesterday, with top kinds showing the most loss, while some sales of medium and weighty stock at $9.00@9.50 were almost in line with the previous session. Prime 102 lb averages reached $9.50, while bulk of 80 to 90 lb averages changed hands at $10.00@10.25, with a fairly large number at $10.50. The season's largest number of aged ewes was dumped yesterday and forced prices down 15@25c, with good grade around $5.50. Yearlings ruled weak to lower. Feeding lambs broke 25c in sympathy with the decline in fat stock.

COTTON CLOSE NEAR TOP

Late buying in all futures in all markets, attributed to New Orleans, turned quiet, narrow market into a strong advancing one, with the close around the best prices of the day, with net gains of 16@24 points in Chicago and 14@25 points in other markets, New Orlean being the strongest.

Lowest Rate in Chicago on Household Loans
$100 to $300

By reason of the large volume and by limiting our service to the larger loans from $100 to $300, "Household" has been able to reduce its interest rate to almost one-third less than the charges permitted by law.

Here Is the Cost
On 20 Months' Payment Plan:

$ 5 Average monthly cost $1.32
$ 10 Average monthly cost $2.63
$300 Average monthly cost $3.94
Other amounts same rate.

WE DO NOT NOTIFY your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives or tradespeople.

NO ENDORSERS NEEDED. If you are unable to call at our office, phone, write and we will send a representative to your home.

I will greatly sacrifice this exceptional 18 apartment building at a great reduction. It contains all outside 4 room apartments, with bedroom and in-a-door beds, which gives it 5 room efficiency. It is modern in every respect and represents an investment in a high class and indisputably, progressive neighborhood. Its proximity to shopping centers and transportation greatly enchances its normal value. It must be seen to be appreciated. See owner at 8242 Rhodes.
